Pay Cut Voted At Studebaker

Workers Decide To Accept Slash, Keep Plant Going

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 12 (AP)—Studebaker workers decided today, by an overwhelming vote of better than eight to one, to take a pay cut rather than face a possible shutdown of the 102-year-old firm's huge plant.

The final, official count showed that members of the CIO United Automobile Workers Local voted 5,371 to 626 in favor of accepting the wage reduction, estimated to average 14 per cent of the payroll.

Today's vote, by secret ballot, reversed last week's election when the workers rejected the pay cut proposal. The vote then, by show of hands, was termed "very close."

Two days later the company gave notice that it would end its contract with the union in 60 days and indicated the plant would close down.

Union Officials Satisfied

The pay cut plan was worked out by union officials in long negotiations with the company.

It even received a cautious endorsement from William Ogden, former vice president of the local who led the opposition when it was previously rejected.

Union officials who watched the opening of the voting machines on which the members balloted expressed extreme satisfaction with the result.

A group seated in the bleachers shouted impatiently: "Let's get this giveaway show started."

An official of the Studebaker local opened the meeting with an explanation of negotiations that led to it.

Pay Rates Above Pattern

He said Studebaker officials told the union three months ago it could not remain in business unless production costs were cut.

Part of these costs, he said, were attributed by the firm to its wage scales. Company officials have said the pay rates are more than 30 cents an hour above the pattern for the automotive industry.

The union official said meetings then were held with Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO-UAW and other national officers. Out of these came the recommendations to accept reductions in hourly pay.

The Studebaker Corp. observed its centennial in 1952. After 50 years of making wagons, buggies and carriages, it sold its first horseless carriage—an electric runabout—four days before its 50th anniversary.

Firestone Strike Set

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12 (AP)—The CIO United Rubber Workers Union called a strike of its 25,500 members in eight plants of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. at midnight tonight.

A union spokesman said the strike was called because "after eight weeks of talks the company failed to agree with union negotiators on anything even approaching favorable provisions for a new contract." The old contract expires at midnight.

The spokesman said Firestone "has been particularly slow in recognizing the necessity of improving seniority clauses in the contract, payment of compensation to workers who lose pay because of temporary delays in production; and certain safety measures sought by the union."

Adenauer Faces Showdown Fight Over John Case

BONN, Germany, Aug. 12 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats bowed tonight to a demand by their political foes for a special session of Parliament to investigate the Otto John case.

The move came only a few hours after the 78-year old Chancellor announced he is breaking off his summer vacation to prepare for a showdown fight with the opposition Socialists over the John affair. He will return Monday from a hotel in the Black Forest.

The Socialists demanded a special session to fix the blame in Adenauer's government for what they called the West German security chief's "treason to democracy."

Session "Necessary"

Tonight, the Christian Democrats announced they "consider it necessary" that Parliament convene early in September to consider John's desertion. A former British agent, he went over to the Communists in East Berlin July 20.

He capped this with a news conference yesterday at which he declared Nazism is reviving in West Germany under the eyes of a Chancellor too old to realize it.

Adenauer's interior minister, Gerhard Schroeder, who had posted a reward of $119,000 for information on the case and appealed to the West Allies to help "free" John, joined in a chorus of denunciation of the dapper turncoat today. But until John met the world press, Schroeder had professed to believe he was a kidnap victim.

Abduction Theory Played Up

Many American and British officials, including some in top secret intelligence work, also had played up the abduction theory.

For Adenauer, next week could bring the greatest challenge to his leadership since he formed West Germany's first government in 1949. He first will meet on Monday or Tuesday with executives of the four parties in his coalition to chart the government's strategy on the special parliamentary session.

Committee Backs Atomic Saboteur Reward Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee today unanimously approved an administration bill providing for rewards up to $500,000 for the detection of attempts to smuggle atomic weapons or materials into this country.

It remains now for the two adjournment-bound houses to determine whether there is time to take up the bill this session.

The measure, aimed primarily at potential saboteurs, provides rewards for information leading to the seizure of atomic materials illegally brought to this country, illegally made here or for blocking attempts to bring them in.

Ike Declares U.S. Economy Is On Upgrade

Eisenhower Says Recent Business Decline Has Halted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower, in an unusual summer report on the economic health of the nation, said today that "the over-all performance of the American economy during this administration has been better than during any earlier time."

"The paramount fact about the economy at midyear is that the recent decline in economic activity has come to a halt," he said.

Eisenhower's report was rosy except for noting that some industries, groups and communities had been hurt by the decline which began last summer. It was an obvious reply to Democratic critics in this election year who have been saying the Republicans are leading the country into depression.

Kennedy Disagrees

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) whose state has a high rate of unemployment, didn't agree. He said:

"Over-all statistics, no matter how favorably interpreted, do not reveal the difficulties which certain sections of the country have suffered from the decline of economic activity."

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), whose car-making constituency has also been hit by unemployment, said he thought, "The President's estimate is true."

"Of course," Ferguson added, "There still are sore spots, but they are limited in size. This report is evidence to me that even these spots are on the upturn and in the near future will disappear."

Sen. Payne (R-Me) said: "I concur wholeheartedly in the assessment and statement of the situation made by the President."

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) remarked, "Let the real facts speak for themselves."

Aides Furnished Material

The White House said the material in the report came from presidential economic and financial advisers throughout the government. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the main contributors were the Commerce, Labor and Treasury departments and the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Noting that unemployment "is now greater than during the time of the Korean War," the President said that in recent months it has not been any larger than during comparable months in 1949 and 1950.

His figures showed that 5.1 per cent of the civilian labor force was unemployed last month, as com-

McCarthy 'Jury' Near Agreement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today the senatorial "jury" is near "unanimous agreement on the major issues" in the stormy Army-McCarthy hearings.

Mundt, who presided at the 36 days of televised, public hearings on the "pressure" charges swapped by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top Army officials, said a closed door meeting of the senators who heard the case showed an area of agreement "much more than I had dared to hope."

Mundt said he called in the six other members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee which conducted the inquiry and each member in turn announced the main points he wants included in a report of findings and recommendations.

"There were no important cleavages of opinion," Mundt told reporters after recessing the meeting.

Nine Million Offered For Follansbee Steel

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12 (AP) — A group headed by Frederick W. Richmond of New York has offered approximately nine million dollars for the assets of Follansbee Steel Corp., M. A. Follansbee, president of the firm, said today.

At the same time, Follansbee said a merger agreement with the Murchison interests of Dallas, Tex., has been approved by the board of directors.

Under the merger plan, Follansbee Steel should take control of Consumers Co., of Chicago, and the Frontier Chemical Co., of Wichita, Kan. and Denver City, Tex. The merger is contingent upon stockholder approval, as is the sale to the Richmond interests.

Godfrey-La Rosa Fuss No. 1 Story, Song Subjects Show

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—So you thought the hottest news story of the last 12 months was the Army-McCarthy fuss. Well, the Library of Congress came up today with a bigger public appeal item: Arthur Godfrey's firing of Julius La Rosa.

Admittedly, the library's opinion sampling is a bit unscientific, but there are those who insist nothing could be more accurate.

It's all based on unpublished songs. And, the figures put out by the library show there are an amazing number of these. In the fiscal year that ended last June 30 no less than 40,935 unpublished songs were copyrighted.

The chief subject: Humility.

Running well behind in second place: Points of order.

Officials in the library's copyright office said song titles are the very best tipoff to what the American public thinks is significant.

"Whenever something of real importance occurs in the world," one library aide said, "it is reflected in the titles of unpublished musical compositions received for copyright."

He couldn't give an accurate account of the exact number of titles on humility, but he said the theme ran through scores of compositions.

Humility, you'll recall, figured strongly in the Godfrey-La Rosa fuss. The television impresario gave the young singer the ax for hiring an outside agent. Besides, Godfrey said, La Rosa hadn't been showing enough humility.

The point of order, of course, was the McCarthy trade mark in the 36 days of televised hearings into the senator's dispute with the Army.

Studebaker Workers Vote To Take Pay Cut

This a general view beneath the grandstand at the South Bend, Ind., high school stadium as the Studebaker workers voted yesterday on the question of whether or not to take a cut in their paychecks. By an overwhelming vote of more than eight to one, the employes voted to take a cut rather than face a possible shutdown of the 102-year-old firm's huge plant.

Mundt, Jenkins Urge Tightening Of Probe Rules

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Two veterans of the McCarthy-Army hearings, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) and Ray H. Jenkins, came out today in favor of tighter rules of conduct for congressional investigations.

Mundt, who headed the Senate Investigations subcommittee during its probe of the row between Army officials and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), added a warning, however, that rules alone won't guarantee an orderly hearing.

"Recalcitrant or rebellious witnesses," Mundt told the Senate Rules Committee, "can sometimes make a shambles of any hearing regardless of the rules of procedure, and impetuous or quick - tempered chairmen can sometimes destroy the dignity and decorum."

"Filibustering" Opposed

Jenkins, the 6-foot-4 Knoxville, Tenn., lawyer who served as the subcommittee's special counsel in the McCarthy-Army fracas, said it would be a good thing if committees were required to cite in their reports any "filibustering, delaying, stalling" or other conduct unbecoming a witness or principal.

Jenkins hastened to add he personally wasn't suggesting anybody involved in the Army-McCarthy hearings was guilty of these things, but he told Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of the Rules Committee:

"You might think so or another segment of the public might think so."

Old Home Atmosphere

Jenkins and Mundt testified in something of an old home atmosphere in the caucus room where the McCarthy-Army hearings were held. Jenkins, who recently turned down the GOP senatorial nomination in Tennessee, said he felt downright nostalgic. Mundt said he was happy to be on the witness side of the table for once.

The Rules Committee is considering proposals to set up a code of conduct for all Senate investigations.

British Embassy Denies Malenkov Toasted Elizabeth

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP)—Was the health of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II being drunk last night when Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov joined in the first champagne toast at the British Embassy's dinner party for visiting Laborite Clement Attlee?

An embassy spokesman said there was no such toast and the preponderance of British opinion available today was that no audible toast to the Queen was made.

But most of the Britons present considered the first toast as being automatically "to the Queen" they said today. No reporters were admitted to the dinner.

Injunction Heads Off Atomic Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Aug. 12 (AP)—CIO atomic production workers followed the directions of a federal court order today and reported for duty as usual at strike-threatened plants here and in Paducah, Ky.

Some 3,500 workers here and nearly 1,000 more at Paducah had planned to strike today for higher wages. But they were barred from such action last night by a temporary injunction issued at nearby Knoxville by Judge Robert L. Taylor.

A hearing has been set for next Wednesday to determine whether the injunction, obtained under the Taft-Hartley Act, shall be made permanent. A union leader said he expects the hearing will be "a mere technicality."

The atomic workers are engaged in the production of a vital ingredient for atomic and hydrogen bombs. The nation's entire output is made here and at Paducah.

McCarthy And Balky Witness Clash At Defense Plant Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug 12 (AP)—Four more balky witnesses, all of them General Electric employes, refused today to answer questions about possible Communist connections and one of them defiantly told Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis):

"I think your time has come. The American people are ready to get rid of you."

That outburst came from Louis Passikoff, who lives in Scotia, N.Y. and works in Schenectady. He was identified by Joseph D. Mazzei of Pittsburgh, a former FBI undercover worker, as a man who was "sent by the Communist party of New York to come down to Pittsburgh as a trouble shooter in 1948."

Passikoff called Mazzei "a despicable stool pigeon . . . like Judas."

McCarthy told Mazzei not to be disturbed to hear "this Communist damn you."

Mazzei assured the senator, chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, that he was not disturbed.

Today's hearing was a stormy one, even by standards of the subcommittee which has had some uproarious ones.

Passikoff told McCarthy to his face that the senator had no right to question him "while you, senator, face very serious charges." The witness was referring to the censure resolution pending against McCarthy in the Senate.

Passikoff also accused McCarthy of conspiring with General Electric, his employer.

McCarthy said at one point that the firm has a policy of discharging "all Fifth Amendment Communists". He added that Communists have a right to work, but not in defense plants.

Passikoff said that while at General Electric "to my knowledge I never worked on any government work or any secret work."

The question of who had typed a statement Passikoff read was brought up and he said his wife had. McCarthy asked her to stand up in the audience and she did so, protesting the while that the senator was trying to "smear" her.

He ordered a policeman to make her be quiet, but she subsided on her own. Also, McCarthy ordered police to take Passikoff out, but he went quietly.

Story He'll Soon Get $25,000 Tax Bill 'Libel,' M'Carthy Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Washington Evening Star reported today that the Internal Revenue Service will soon present Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) with a claim for about $25,000 in income taxes and interest.

McCarthy called the newspaper story "a complete and vicious libel."

"There is absolutely no truth to it," the Wisconsin senator said. "There has been no intimation of any kind by any one that I owe additional taxes."

The Star said the claim resulted from an 18-months investigation and that revenue agents would place their evidence before McCarthy and ask him to explain data they do not understand.

Involves Contributions

It added that at least part of the money involved represented contributions "ranging from thousands of dollars down to pennies."

Asked to comment on the report, the Internal Revenue Service declined.

"The tax agents do not contend that Sen. McCarthy acted with fraudulent intent," the Star said.

"Instead, they assert the Wisconsin legislator erroneously classified as nontaxable some of the money he received and on which he should have paid taxes."

The case was described as covering the tax years of 1946-1952, inclusive.

Paid Additional Taxes

McCarthy told reporters that late in 1952 he had personally requested the Revenue Service to make a "full field investigation" of his tax returns, and that as a result of that investigation he had paid some additional income taxes.

He said he couldn't remember how much, but that the issue involved was whether certain interest payments should be reported in the year the payments were made or the year they became due.

The Star reported the McCarthy case was of the type which is not made public if the taxpayer pays up.

"A taxpayer in these circumstances can clear himself by simply paying back taxes plus 6 per cent interest," the newspaper said.

"If the taxpayer pays up, the Revenue Service does not make the case public. Thus Sen. McCarthy's federal tax returns again could escape public scrutiny — unless some congressional committee were to subpoena them.

Attlee Defines West, Russian Freedom

Western diplomats said Attlee told them he instructed the Soviet leaders in the differing definitions of freedom at a British Embassy dinner last night. In the East, Attlee told the Russians, the word means freedom from having to make a choice; in the West it means freedom to make a choice.

Locusts Invade Eritrea

ROME, Aug. 12 (AP)—A wave of locusts five miles wide and three miles deep has invaded Eritrea, former Italian colony in East Africa, the news agency Ansa said today.

In Asmara, the capital of the country, streets are piled deep with the flying grasshoppers, Ansa said.

Natives aren't entirely displeased, however. They consider locusts, lightly toasted, as delicacies.

FBI Chieftain And Brownell Oppose Move

Legislation, Adopted 85 To 0, Makes Reds Subject To Jail, Fine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Senate broke away from the administration's anti-Red program tonight and passed, 35-0, a bill outlawing the Communist party.

It approved and sent to the House legislation making persons who wilfully join or remain members of the Communist party and commit any act designed to carry out Communist party purposes subject to penalties of up to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Both Atty. Gen. Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover have opposed outlawing the Communist party at this time. Brownell argued it would undermine present internal security laws. Hoover said it would serve to drive the Reds underground.

Demos Offer Measure

The measure also would make it illegal for any Communist party member to hold office in a labor union.

It was put forward by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) and 18 other Democratic senators as a substitute for an administration-backed measure of Sen. Butler (R-Md) aimed at denying government sanction to Communist-dominated labor unions.

Butler's bill, in a modified form, was hooked on to Humphrey's substitute as an amendment before the legislation was passed.

About a dozen anti-Communist bills have been recommended to Congress by Brownell, with President Eisenhower's backing, but legislation to outlaw the Communist party was not among them.

On the contrary, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) told the Senate today that Brownell had used stalling tactics to bottle up in committee a bill she had introduced to outlaw the Communist party.

Confused Situation

In a confused parliamentary situation, numerous language changes were made in the bill originally offered by Butler before and after it was written into the Humphrey measure as an amendment.

Similarly, Humphrey accepted several last-minute changes in his own bill just before final passage.

One change, proposed by Sen. Cooper (R-Ky), was to the section of Humphrey's bill under which any one who became or remained a member of the Communist party would be subject to fine and imprisonment.

To this, Cooper added "and commit any act designed to carry into effect the purposes of such Communist party or organization."

Cashier Held In Bank Theft At Fairmont

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 12 (AP) — The FBI arrested John W. Meredith, 50, of Fairmont today, in connection with a reported shortage of $511,000 in the accounts of the First National Bank in Fairmont, of which Meredith was cashier.

Special Agent in Charge Fred Hallford of the FBI's Pittsburg office said the shortage was reported to the FBI today by federal bank examiners and that Meredith's arrest followed.

Meredith was named in four counts which specified the misuse of $25,550.20 of the bank's funds. He appeared before U. S. Commissioner L. T. Eddy here and was released under $20,000 bond after waiving to the grand jury. Eddy said the bond was posted by Meredith's friends.

Hallford declined to comment on the case other than to say that "the investigation is continuing."

The agent said the arrest was made on the authority of U. S. District Atty. Howard Caplan of Clarksburg.

Meredith joined the First National as a teller 21 years ago, and has served as cashier for the past seven years.

In a letter released today to its depositors, the First National announced the immediate dismissal of Meredith as cashier, and assured the depositors that the bank had ample insurance to cover any loss.

Edward G. Robinson Jr., Held For Robbery Trial

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Aug. 12 (AP)—Edward G. Robinson Jr., son of the actor, today was held for trial after two taxicab drivers identified him as the man who robbed them.

Bail for Robinson, 21, was continued at $10,000. He must appear for arraignment Aug. 30 in Santa Monica Superior Court.

Second Suspect Held In Big Bank Robbery

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—A second suspect was arrested by the FBI today in the $190,319 Long Island bank robbery of last August, believed the nation's biggest cash bank holdup.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Paul Windels Jr. said the new suspect, Ronald Everett Martin, 22, of Queens, N. Y., owned two Cadillacs, a Buick, two airplanes and a motorcycle.

Windels said a third person is being sought.

Big Screech At Baltimore Proves Flop; Starlings Stay

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—A section of North Baltimore still was pestered by a block of starlings today after a big screech did more to scare local residents than chase the birds.

A 24-inch loud speaker on a Bureau of Parks truck moved up and down the streets, screeching the sound of an agonized starling in distress.

The birds flew from tree to tree in agitated confusion. But within 20 minutes their confounded chirping and fluttering of wings could be heard again.

"Maybe we got the mating call instead of the distress signal," observed Herbert Meyer, an associate of a Philadelphia company recently organized to get rid of the feathered pests.

But, James P. Foley, a representative of the company which makes the equipment disagreed. "What we need," he said, "Is two trucks with 30-watt amplifiers and two 30-inch horns. This equipment distorts the sound.

"These birds are no fools," he added. "They know what is a distressed call and what isn't."

A similar test was attempted with partial success at the Philadelphia City Hall last winter and at the Archives Building in Washington.

The whole thing started more than a year ago after research by Dr. Hubert Frings and Joseph Jumber of the department of zoology and entomology at Pennsylvania State University.

Martin T. Meyer, president of the Philadelphia firm which gives birds the bird, said Frings and Jumber captured a starling, "beat it up a little" and recorded its cries of protest.

The recorded screeches sound like thousands of fingernails being drawn across a blackboard.

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP)—Was the health of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II being drunk last night when Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov joined in the first champagne toast at the British Embassy's dinner party for visiting Laborite Clement Attlee?

An embassy spokesman said there was no such toast and the preponderance of British opinion available today was that no audible toast to the Queen was made.

But most of the Britons present considered the first toast as being automatically "to the Queen" they said today. No reporters were admitted to the dinner.

Injunction Heads Off Atomic Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Aug. 12 (AP)—CIO atomic production workers followed the directions of a federal court order today and reported for duty as usual at strike-threatened plants here and in Paducah, Ky.

Some 3,500 workers here and nearly 1,000 more at Paducah had planned to strike today for higher wages. But they were barred from such action last night by a temporary injunction issued at nearby Knoxville by Judge Robert L. Taylor.

A hearing has been set for next Wednesday to determine whether the injunction, obtained under the Taft-Hartley Act, shall be made permanent. A union leader said he expects the hearing will be "a mere technicality."

The atomic workers are engaged in the production of a vital ingredient for atomic and hydrogen bombs. The nation's entire output is made here and at Paducah.

Story He'll Soon Get $25,000 Tax Bill 'Libel,' M'Carthy Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Washington Evening Star reported today that the Internal Revenue Service will soon present Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) with a claim for about $25,000 in income taxes and interest.

McCarthy called the newspaper story "a complete and vicious libel."

"There is absolutely no truth to it," the Wisconsin senator said. "There has been no intimation of any kind by any one that I owe additional taxes."

The Star said the claim resulted from an 18-months investigation and that revenue agents would place their evidence before McCarthy and ask him to explain data they do not understand.

Involves Contributions

It added that at least part of the money involved represented contributions "ranging from thousands of dollars down to pennies."

Asked to comment on the report, the Internal Revenue Service declined.

"The tax agents do not contend that Sen. McCarthy acted with fraudulent intent," the Star said.

"Instead, they assert the Wisconsin legislator erroneously classified as nontaxable some of the money he received and on which he should have paid taxes."

The case was described as covering the tax years of 1946-1952, inclusive.

Paid Additional Taxes

McCarthy told reporters that late in 1952 he had personally requested the Revenue Service to make a "full field investigation" of his tax returns, and that as a result of that investigation he had paid some additional income taxes.

He said he couldn't remember how much, but that the issue involved was whether certain interest payments should be reported in the year the payments were made or the year they became due.

The Star reported the McCarthy case was of the type which is not made public if the taxpayer pays up.

"A taxpayer in these circumstances can clear himself by simply paying back taxes plus 6 per cent interest," the newspaper said.

"If the taxpayer pays up, the Revenue Service does not make the case public. Thus Sen. McCarthy's federal tax returns again could escape public scrutiny — unless some congressional committee were to subpoena them.

Attlee Defines West, Russian Freedom

Western diplomats said Attlee told them he instructed the Soviet leaders in the differing definitions of freedom at a British Embassy dinner last night. In the East, Attlee told the Russians, the word means freedom from having to make a choice; in the West it means freedom to make a choice.

Locusts Invade Eritrea

ROME, Aug. 12 (AP)—A wave of locusts five miles wide and three miles deep has invaded Eritrea, former Italian colony in East Africa, the news agency Ansa said today.

In Asmara, the capital of the country, streets are piled deep with the flying grasshoppers, Ansa said.

Natives aren't entirely displeased, however. They consider locusts, lightly toasted, as delicacies.

Cashier Held In Bank Theft At Fairmont

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 12 (AP) — The FBI arrested John W. Meredith, 50, of Fairmont today, in connection with a reported shortage of $511,000 in the accounts of the First National Bank in Fairmont, of which Meredith was cashier.

Special Agent in Charge Fred Hallford of the FBI's Pittsburg office said the shortage was reported to the FBI today by federal bank examiners and that Meredith's arrest followed.

Meredith was named in four counts which specified the misuse of $25,550.20 of the bank's funds. He appeared before U. S. Commissioner L. T. Eddy here and was released under $20,000 bond after waiving to the grand jury. Eddy said the bond was posted by Meredith's friends.

Hallford declined to comment on the case other than to say that "the investigation is continuing."

The agent said the arrest was made on the authority of U. S. District Atty. Howard Caplan of Clarksburg.

Meredith joined the First National as a teller 21 years ago, and has served as cashier for the past seven years.

In a letter released today to its depositors, the First National announced the immediate dismissal of Meredith as cashier, and assured the depositors that the bank had ample insurance to cover any loss.

Bail for Robinson, 21, was continued at $10,000. He must appear for arraignment Aug. 30 in Santa Monica Superior Court.

FBI Chieftain And Brownell Oppose Move

Legislation, Adopted 85 To 0, Makes Reds Subject To Jail, Fine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Senate broke away from the administration's anti-Red program tonight and passed, 35-0, a bill outlawing the Communist party.

It approved and sent to the House legislation making persons who wilfully join or remain members of the Communist party and commit any act designed to carry out Communist party purposes subject to penalties of up to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Both Atty. Gen. Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover have opposed outlawing the Communist party at this time. Brownell argued it would undermine present internal security laws. Hoover said it would serve to drive the Reds underground.

Demos Offer Measure

The measure also would make it illegal for any Communist party member to hold office in a labor union.

It was put forward by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) and 18 other Democratic senators as a substitute for an administration-backed measure of Sen. Butler (R-Md) aimed at denying government sanction to Communist-dominated labor unions.

Butler's bill, in a modified form, was hooked on to Humphrey's substitute as an amendment before the legislation was passed.

About a dozen anti-Communist bills have been recommended to Congress by Brownell, with President Eisenhower's backing, but legislation to outlaw the Communist party was not among them.

On the contrary, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) told the Senate today that Brownell had used stalling tactics to bottle up in committee a bill she had introduced to outlaw the Communist party.

Confused Situation

In a confused parliamentary situation, numerous language changes were made in the bill originally offered by Butler before and after it was written into the Humphrey measure as an amendment.

Similarly, Humphrey accepted several last-minute changes in his own bill just before final passage.

One change, proposed by Sen. Cooper (R-Ky), was to the section of Humphrey's bill under which any one who became or remained a member of the Communist party would be subject to fine and imprisonment.

To this, Cooper added "and commit any act designed to carry into effect the purposes of such Communist party or organization."

Second Suspect Held In Big Bank Robbery

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—A second suspect was arrested by the FBI today in the $190,319 Long Island bank robbery of last August, believed the nation's biggest cash bank holdup.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Paul Windels Jr. said the new suspect, Ronald Everett Martin, 22, of Queens, N. Y., owned two Cadillacs, a Buick, two airplanes and a motorcycle.

Windels said a third person is being sought.

Committee Backs Atomic Saboteur Reward Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee today unanimously approved an administration bill providing for rewards up to $500,000 for the detection of attempts to smuggle atomic weapons or materials into this country.

It remains now for the two adjournment-bound houses to determine whether there is time to take up the bill this session.

The measure, aimed primarily at potential saboteurs, provides rewards for information leading to the seizure of atomic materials illegally brought to this country, illegally made here or for blocking attempts to bring them in.

McCarthy 'Jury' Near Agreement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today the senatorial "jury" is near "unanimous agreement on the major issues" in the stormy Army-McCarthy hearings.

Mundt, who presided at the 36 days of televised, public hearings on the "pressure" charges swapped by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and top Army officials, said a closed door meeting of the senators who heard the case showed an area of agreement "much more than I had dared to hope."

Mundt said he called in the six other members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee which conducted the inquiry and each member in turn announced the main points he wants included in a report of findings and recommendations.

"There were no important cleavages of opinion," Mundt told reporters after recessing the meeting.

Nine Million Offered For Follansbee Steel

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12 (AP) — A group headed by Frederick W. Richmond of New York has offered approximately nine million dollars for the assets of Follansbee Steel Corp., M. A. Follansbee, president of the firm, said today.

At the same time, Follansbee said a merger agreement with the Murchison interests of Dallas, Tex., has been approved by the board of directors.

Under the merger plan, Follansbee Steel should take control of Consumers Co., of Chicago, and the Frontier Chemical Co., of Wichita, Kan. and Denver City, Tex. The merger is contingent upon stockholder approval, as is the sale to the Richmond interests.

McCarthy And Balky Witness Clash At Defense Plant Probe

WASHINGTON, Aug 12 (AP)—Four more balky witnesses, all of them General Electric employes, refused today to answer questions about possible Communist connections and one of them defiantly told Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis):

"I think your time has come. The American people are ready to get rid of you."

That outburst came from Louis Passikoff, who lives in Scotia, N.Y. and works in Schenectady. He was identified by Joseph D. Mazzei of Pittsburgh, a former FBI undercover worker, as a man who was "sent by the Communist party of New York to come down to Pittsburgh as a trouble shooter in 1948."

Passikoff called Mazzei "a despicable stool pigeon . . . like Judas."

McCarthy told Mazzei not to be disturbed to hear "this Communist damn you."

Mazzei assured the senator, chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, that he was not disturbed.

Today's hearing was a stormy one, even by standards of the subcommittee which has had some uproarious ones.

Passikoff told McCarthy to his face that the senator had no right to question him "while you, senator, face very serious charges." The witness was referring to the censure resolution pending against McCarthy in the Senate.

Passikoff also accused McCarthy of conspiring with General Electric, his employer.

McCarthy said at one point that the firm has a policy of discharging "all Fifth Amendment Communists". He added that Communists have a right to work, but not in defense plants.

Passikoff said that while at General Electric "to my knowledge I never worked on any government work or any secret work."

The question of who had typed a statement Passikoff read was brought up and he said his wife had. McCarthy asked her to stand up in the audience and she did so, protesting the while that the senator was trying to "smear" her.

He ordered a policeman to make her be quiet, but she subsided on her own. Also, McCarthy ordered police to take Passikoff out, but he went quietly.

Godfrey-La Rosa Fuss No. 1 Story, Song Subjects Show

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—So you thought the hottest news story of the last 12 months was the Army-McCarthy fuss. Well, the Library of Congress came up today with a bigger public appeal item: Arthur Godfrey's firing of Julius La Rosa.

Admittedly, the library's opinion sampling is a bit unscientific, but there are those who insist nothing could be more accurate.

It's all based on unpublished songs. And, the figures put out by the library show there are an amazing number of these. In the fiscal year that ended last June 30 no less than 40,935 unpublished songs were copyrighted.

The chief subject: Humility.

Running well behind in second place: Points of order.

Officials in the library's copyright office said song titles are the very best tipoff to what the American public thinks is significant.

"Whenever something of real importance occurs in the world," one library aide said, "it is reflected in the titles of unpublished musical compositions received for copyright."

He couldn't give an accurate account of the exact number of titles on humility, but he said the theme ran through scores of compositions.

Humility, you'll recall, figured strongly in the Godfrey-La Rosa fuss. The television impresario gave the young singer the ax for hiring an outside agent. Besides, Godfrey said, La Rosa hadn't been showing enough humility.

The point of order, of course, was the McCarthy trade mark in the 36 days of televised hearings into the senator's dispute with the Army.

Big Screech At Baltimore Proves Flop; Starlings Stay

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—A section of North Baltimore still was pestered by a block of starlings today after a big screech did more to scare local residents than chase the birds.

A 24-inch loud speaker on a Bureau of Parks truck moved up and down the streets, screeching the sound of an agonized starling in distress.

The birds flew from tree to tree in agitated confusion. But within 20 minutes their confounded chirping and fluttering of wings could be heard again.

"Maybe we got the mating call instead of the distress signal," observed Herbert Meyer, an associate of a Philadelphia company recently organized to get rid of the feathered pests.

But, James P. Foley, a representative of the company which makes the equipment disagreed. "What we need," he said, "Is two trucks with 30-watt amplifiers and two 30-inch horns. This equipment distorts the sound.

"These birds are no fools," he added. "They know what is a distressed call and what isn't."

A similar test was attempted with partial success at the Philadelphia City Hall last winter and at the Archives Building in Washington.

The whole thing started more than a year ago after research by Dr. Hubert Frings and Joseph Jumber of the department of zoology and entomology at Pennsylvania State University.

Martin T. Meyer, president of the Philadelphia firm which gives birds the bird, said Frings and Jumber captured a starling, "beat it up a little" and recorded its cries of protest.

The recorded screeches sound like thousands of fingernails being drawn across a blackboard.

Lone Bandit Eludes Cops After Baltimore Holdup

Loads Self Down With $600 In Coins

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP) — A bumbling but lucky stickup man managed to elude police today after taking $2,350 at the Canton branch of the Provident Savings bank in east Baltimore.

He followed somewhat the same pattern a gang of four hoodlums used last April Fools Day when they got $30,000 at the same place.

Those four, plus three girl friends, were rounded up within a week and drew heavy prison sentences. One of the girls, 16-year-old Beverly Ann Nestor, escaped Tuesday from the Reformatory for Women at Jessup and still is being hunted.

Today's performer overlooked Miss Sarah Garahan. She was counting $20,000 delivered minutes before by an armored car, just as she was at the time of the earlier robbery. He loaded himself down instead with two $500 bags of quarters and two $100 bags of nickels, and got only $1,150 in bills.

Police marveled that he could even stagger out of the bank with such a load.

He was so careless that Miss Genevieve Becker, another teller, was able to trip the burglar alarm before he had barely started his raid. She also got the license number of his getaway car.

When he abandoned it nine blocks away and thumbed a ride, another woman got the license number of that car. Police soon traced it and found the driver. He said he had given a lift to a man who said he needed to get to City Hospitals. He was puffing and panting and carrying a heavy satchel.

Police and FBI agents concentrated their search in the east Baltimore area where John F. Reintzell, a steel plant worker, said he let the man out.

Howard Barkley, manager of the branch bank, said he was suspicious the minute a man in sunglasses walked in today.

Barkley told Miss Becker to keep her foot on the alarm button. He would go to his desk. If he stood up, she was to flash the signal.

The man loitered near the door until all other customers had gone. He said he wanted to borrow $400 for car repairs.

Barkley started taking down the information on an application blank. The holdup man reached into a dark brown satchel he had, pulled out a gun, and ordered Barkley to fill the satchel with money.

Barkley stood up and Miss Becker kicked the alarm.

The stickup man, pulling another gun herded Barkley and Miss Sylvia Hilliard down to the basement counting rooms, where the April bandits had found the big money from the armored car. Suddenly he fled without finding Miss Garahan.

The getaway car, it turned out, had been stolen.

German Labor Crisis Improves

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP)—West Germany's labor crisis took a turn for the better tonight.

In Hamburg, the nation's largest port, 15,000 public transport and utilities workers ended a nine-day strike by accepting a wage boost of 1.6 cents an hour.

In Munich, management joined labor in a fresh move to find a solution to a bloody four-day strike affecting 220,000 metal workers. Scores of persons, including riot police, were injured in fighting today.

The Hamburg strike came to an end after a mediation board held an all-night emergency session trying to get the city and striking employes together on a compromise wage agreement.

The workers went out Aug. 4 after their demands for a 2.3-cent an hour increase was refused. The city finally granted two-thirds of this sum.

The strike paralyzed city transportation. Gas and water service was reduced to a dribble. But tonight, with the fight ended, the city of 1,605,000 bustled once again.

The Bavarian wage war seemed closer to peace when representatives of the metal industry agreed to consider a compromise proposal submitted by Socialist Labor Minister Richard Oechsle.

Gunman Will Face Kidnaping Charge

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub today authorized the FBI to swear out a kidnaping warrant against Robert J. Ellers, 26, charged with holding a Seat Pleasant family prisoners in their home for 13 hours last Monday.

Ellers, accused of terrorizing the family of five with a sawed-off rifle and meat cleaver, was arrested in Washington last night.

Police said such a rifle and meat cleaver were recovered from Ellers' rooming house. A raincoat found in Eller's possession was identified by Harold Grimm, 52, as the coat the gunman took from the Grimm home.

The basis for the kidnaping warrant was that the gunman forced Grimm to drive across a state line, from Maryland into the District of Columbia.

Bridge Duster's Romance Strikes Bad Down Draft

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Gene Thompson, the free-wheeling Texas pilot who turned from crop dusting to bridge dusting to win a blonde, blue-eyed Texas bride, reported today his romance has struck a bad down draft.

Thompson, 30-year-old Korean War veteran from Lubbock, Tex., told the London Daily Express by ship-to-shore telephone from the liner Atlantic on which he is returning home that his girl friend, lovely Helen Brown, "is mad as hell at me."

He said Helen, also from Lubbock, seems to be somewhat put out because he broke a luncheon date with her yesterday in order to fly a light plane under the Tower Bridge and London Bridge spanning the River Thames.

Thompson declared he found this somewhat confusing, since he thought she had agreed to marry him if he pulled the stunt.

"Maybe I'll fly under the Eiffel Tower if that'll turn the trick," he said.

"Right now, Helen isn't even speaking to me, but I hope to bring her around before we get to Quebec."

Thompson, 6-foot-3 pilot, met Helen on a student tour of Europe. They boarded the Atlantic last night at Southampton for the homeward voyage.

Thompson left behind for the Express a "confession" that he was the mystery pilot who thrilled — and scared — London lunchtime crowds with the daring skim under the ancient bridges.

In a radiogram from the ship, Thompson expressed gratitude to the Express for making his story public, especially the part about Helen.

Ex-Convict Bluffs Way Into USAF

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 12 (AP)—For the past two weeks Col. Jerome Leslie Regis flew jet planes at nearby Williams Air Force Base and occupied a position of extreme respect.

Then the Federal Bureau of Investigation stepped in.

Regis, thought to be 43, admitted he was Jack Kenneth Brown, 24, and had been released May 7 from a federal prison in Indiana, where he was sent for impersonating an officer.

The FBI said Brown tried to enlist in the Air Force but was turned down because of his prison record.

Within a few weeks, said the federal agents, Brown had changed his name to "Capt. Jack Brown." Later, he promoted himself to "Lt. Col. H. Lee Royal."

His rank jumped another notch July 28, when Brown arrived at Williams AFB, presenting what appeared to be authentic orders, qualifications and flying records.

FBI agents said they learned about Brown's aliases by finding them on worthless checks totaling $750 and passed on banks in San Francisco, Baltimore, Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex., Mobile, Ala., and Chevy Chase, Md.

Ike Backs More House Aspirants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — President Eisenhower gave his blessing today to 18 more Republican candidates for House seats—on the understanding they are backing his legislative program.

While the President has posed for pictures for political purposes with more than 100 Republican House members, this was the first group to come in made up of candidates who aren't yet in Congress.

The 18 have the endorsements of GOP organizations back home and of the Citizens for Eisenhower. The President had his picture taken with them as a group and then individually.

In a brief talk, he said he understood the Citizens for Eisenhower had picked them because they believe in the program he believes in and are getting behind it.

If they support that program, Eisenhower said, he wishes them all a hearty welcome "because I believe that kind of thing, that kind of program, will make America stronger at home in every way, economically, politically and spiritually and certainly make us more secure abroad."

The candidates and the congressional districts in which they are running included: Arch Moore, 1st W. Va.; Al Morgan, 2nd W. Va.; Arthur C. Sherwood, 4th Md.; O. M. Spence, 3rd Tenn.

Inquest Into Quint's Death To Be Reopened

ST. JEROME, Que., Aug. 12 (AP)—An inquest into the death of Emilie Dionne, one of the famed 20-year-old quintuplets, will reopen here Aug. 19, it was announced today.

The inquest was begun in Ste. Agathe last Friday, the day of her death, but adjourned to await the findings of an autopsy performed in Montreal last Saturday.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, provincial medico-legal expert at the autopsy, found Emilie choked to death during an epileptic seizure.

House Committee Backs AEC Project In Md. Or Va.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The House Public Works Committee today approved a $9,600,000 project for a new Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) headquarters, to be located 20 to 30 miles from Washington in Maryland or Virginia.

The project is intended to "comply with the dispersal security policy laid down by the President," committee officials said. The President has outlined a program of dispersing key strategic installations for wartime protection.

The committee adopted a resolution of approval which it will forward to the Senate Public Works Committee. If approved by both committees, the AEC would be authorized to use available funds for starting the project, without further action by Congress.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and other witnesses testified before the House group in closed session, and the committee then voted approval. Action on the request was held over from yesterday.

The new headquarters is designed to consolidate all AEC activities under one roof. The commission's work is now scattered in four main buildings in Washington.

Chairman Dondero (R-Mich) said he did not believe AEC officials have decided on a final site. It is known that locations in both Maryland and Virginia are under consideration.

Committee officials said the site, to be selected by the AEC and the Government Services Administration, would be at least 20 and not more than 30 miles from the Capital.

They said Rep. Phillips (R-Calif) testified that the project has been endorsed by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Cole, now absent from the city, is co-author of an omnibus new atomic energy bill which makes the move possible by authorizing the AEC to locate "in or near" Washington. Under present law, the commission is required to remain in the capital.

Dentist Acquitted In Slaying Enters Mental Hospital

IONIA, Mich., Aug. 12 (AP)—Dr. Kenneth B. Small, acquitted on grounds of temporary insanity in the slaying of his wife's playboy pal, was committed to Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane today.

It was a fate the 31-year-old Detroit dentist fought all the way. Even as he entered the hospital, his lawyer was in Lansing seeking a Supreme Court stay. Dr. Small told a deputy sheriff: "I'm very sorry I have to come to this place."

Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith ruled today at Allegan, the trial scene, that Michigan law made Small's commitment mandatory "for the rest of his natural life" or until he is declared sane by the State Mental Health Commission. The judge then ordered immediate commitment.

Small won acquittal July 17 in the slaying of Jules Lack, 45-year-old New York playboy-industrialist. He claimed Lack stole the love of his 30-year-old, independently wealthy wife, Edith, and this drove him out of his mind. A jury agreed.

Police and FBI agents concentrated their search in the east Baltimore area where John F. Reintzell, a steel plant worker, said he let the man out.

Howard Barkley, manager of the branch bank, said he was suspicious the minute a man in sunglasses walked in today.

Barkley told Miss Becker to keep her foot on the alarm button. He would go to his desk. If he stood up, she was to flash the signal.

The man loitered near the door until all other customers had gone. He said he wanted to borrow $400 for car repairs.

Barkley started taking down the information on an application blank. The holdup man reached into a dark brown satchel he had, pulled out a gun, and ordered Barkley to fill the satchel with money.

Barkley stood up and Miss Becker kicked the alarm.

The stickup man, pulling another gun herded Barkley and Miss Sylvia Hilliard down to the basement counting rooms, where the April bandits had found the big money from the armored car. Suddenly he fled without finding Miss Garahan.

The getaway car, it turned out, had been stolen.

German Labor Crisis Improves

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 10 (AP)—West Germany's labor crisis took a turn for the better tonight.

In Hamburg, the nation's largest port, 15,000 public transport and utilities workers ended a nine-day strike by accepting a wage boost of 1.6 cents an hour.

In Munich, management joined labor in a fresh move to find a solution to a bloody four-day strike affecting 220,000 metal workers. Scores of persons, including riot police, were injured in fighting today.

The Hamburg strike came to an end after a mediation board held an all-night emergency session trying to get the city and striking employes together on a compromise wage agreement.

The workers went out Aug. 4 after their demands for a 2.3-cent an hour increase was refused. The city finally granted two-thirds of this sum.

The strike paralyzed city transportation. Gas and water service was reduced to a dribble. But tonight, with the fight ended, the city of 1,605,000 bustled once again.

The Bavarian wage war seemed closer to peace when representatives of the metal industry agreed to consider a compromise proposal submitted by Socialist Labor Minister Richard Oechsle.

Gunman Will Face Kidnaping Charge

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub today authorized the FBI to swear out a kidnaping warrant against Robert J. Ellers, 26, charged with holding a Seat Pleasant family prisoners in their home for 13 hours last Monday.

Ellers, accused of terrorizing the family of five with a sawed-off rifle and meat cleaver, was arrested in Washington last night.

Police said such a rifle and meat cleaver were recovered from Ellers' rooming house. A raincoat found in Eller's possession was identified by Harold Grimm, 52, as the coat the gunman took from the Grimm home.

The basis for the kidnaping warrant was that the gunman forced Grimm to drive across a state line, from Maryland into the District of Columbia.

Bridge Duster's Romance Strikes Bad Down Draft

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Gene Thompson, the free-wheeling Texas pilot who turned from crop dusting to bridge dusting to win a blonde blue-eyed Texas bride, reported today his romance has struck a bad down draft.

Thompson, 30-year-old Korean War veteran from Lubbock, Tex., told the London Daily Express by ship-to-shore telephone from the liner Atlantic on which he is returning home that his girl friend, lovely Helen Brown, "is mad as hell at me."

He said Helen, also from Lubbock, seems to be somewhat put out because he broke a luncheon date with her yesterday in order to fly a light plane under the Tower Bridge and London Bridge spanning the River Thames.

Thompson declared he found this somewhat confusing, since he thought she had agreed to marry him if he pulled the stunt.

"Maybe I'll fly under the Eiffel Tower if that'll turn the trick," he said.

"Right now, Helen isn't even speaking to me, but I hope to bring her around before we get to Quebec."

Thompson, 6-foot-3 pilot, met Helen on a student tour of Europe. They boarded the Atlantic last night at Southampton for the homeward voyage.

Thompson left behind for the Express a "confession" that he was the mystery pilot who thrilled — and scared — London lunchtime crowds with the daring skim under the ancient bridges.

In a radiogram from the ship, Thompson expressed gratitude to the Express for making his story public, especially the part about Helen.

Ex-Convict Bluffs Way Into USAF

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 12 (AP)—For the past two weeks Col. Jerome Leslie Regis flew jet planes at nearby Williams Air Force Base and occupied a position of extreme respect.

Then the Federal Bureau of Investigation stepped in.

Regis, thought to be 43, admitted he was Jack Kenneth Brown, 24, and had been released May 7 from a federal prison in Indiana, where he was sent for impersonating an officer.

The FBI said Brown tried to enlist in the Air Force but was turned down because of his prison record.

Within a few weeks, said the federal agents, Brown had changed his name to "Capt. Jack Brown." Later, he promoted himself to "Lt. Col. H. Lee Royal."

His rank jumped another notch July 28, when Brown arrived at Williams AFB, presenting what appeared to be authentic orders, qualifications and flying records.

FBI agents said they learned about Brown's aliases by finding them on worthless checks totaling $750 and passed on banks in San Francisco, Baltimore, Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex., Mobile, Ala., and Chevy Chase, Md.

WELL DIGGER DIES—A well digger, Frank Jennings, is pulled by windlass from a 46-foot deep hole on a plantation eight miles south of Shreveport, La. He was overcome by gas and fell 30 feet to the bottom of the shaft as his partner tried to pull him from the hole. He lay trapped for two hours until a jail trustee, using a gas mask, volunteered to go down and tie a rope around his body. The man was alive when pulled to the surface but died en route to a hospital.

Ike Backs More House Aspirants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — President Eisenhower gave his blessing today to 18 more Republican candidates for House seats—on the understanding they are backing his legislative program.

While the President has posed for pictures for political purposes with more than 100 Republican House members, this was the first group to come in made up of candidates who aren't yet in Congress.

The 18 have the endorsements of GOP organizations back home and of the Citizens for Eisenhower. The President had his picture taken with them as a group and then individually.

In a brief talk, he said he understood the Citizens for Eisenhower had picked them because they believe in the program he believes in and are getting behind it.

If they support that program, Eisenhower said, he wishes them all a hearty welcome "because I believe that kind of thing, that kind of program, will make America stronger at home in every way, economically, politically and spiritually and certainly make us more secure abroad."

The candidates and the congressional districts in which they are running included: Arch Moore, 1st W. Va.; Al Morgan, 2nd W. Va.; Arthur C. Sherwood, 4th Md.; O. M. Spence, 3rd Tenn.

Inquest Into Quint's Death To Be Reopened

ST. JEROME, Que., Aug. 12 (AP)—An inquest into the death of Emilie Dionne, one of the famed 20-year-old quintuplets, will reopen here Aug. 19, it was announced today.

The inquest was begun in Ste. Agathe last Friday, the day of her death, but adjourned to await the findings of an autopsy performed in Montreal last Saturday.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, provincial medico-legal expert at the autopsy, found Emilie choked to death during an epileptic seizure.

House Committee Backs AEC Project In Md. Or Va.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The House Public Works Committee today approved a $9,600,000 project for a new Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) headquarters, to be located 20 to 30 miles from Washington in Maryland or Virginia.

The project is intended to "comply with the dispersal security policy laid down by the President," committee officials said. The President has outlined a program of dispersing key strategic installations for wartime protection.

The committee adopted a resolution of approval which it will forward to the Senate Public Works Committee. If approved by both committees, the AEC would be authorized to use available funds for starting the project, without further action by Congress.

AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and other witnesses testified before the House group in closed session, and the committee then voted approval. Action on the request was held over from yesterday.

The new headquarters is designed to consolidate all AEC activities under one roof. The commission's work is now scattered in four main buildings in Washington.

Chairman Dondero (R-Mich) said he did not believe AEC officials have decided on a final site. It is known that locations in both Maryland and Virginia are under consideration.

Committee officials said the site, to be selected by the AEC and the Government Services Administration, would be at least 20 and not more than 30 miles from the Capital.

They said Rep. Phillips (R-Calif) testified that the project has been endorsed by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Cole, now absent from the city, is co-author of an omnibus new atomic energy bill which makes the move possible by authorizing the AEC to locate "in or near" Washington. Under present law, the commission is required to remain in the capital.

Dentist Acquitted In Slaying Enters Mental Hospital

IONIA, Mich., Aug. 12 (AP)—Dr. Kenneth B. Small, acquitted on grounds of temporary insanity in the slaying of his wife's playboy pal, was committed to Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane today.

It was a fate the 31-year-old Detroit dentist fought all the way. Even as he entered the hospital, his lawyer was in Lansing seeking a Supreme Court stay. Dr. Small told a deputy sheriff: "I'm very sorry I have to come to this place."

Circuit Judge Raymond L. Smith ruled today at Allegan, the trial scene, that Michigan law made Small's commitment mandatory "for the rest of his natural life" or until he is declared sane by the State Mental Health Commission. The judge then ordered immediate commitment.

Small won acquittal July 17 in the slaying of Jules Lack, 45-year-old New York playboy-industrialist. He claimed Lack stole the love of his 30-year-old, independently wealthy wife, Edith, and this drove him out of his mind. A jury agreed.

Talbot Co. Ballot Arguments End

Judge's Ruling Expected In Several Days

EASTON, Md., Aug. 12 (AP)—Attorneys for H. C. Byrd and George P. Mahoney wound up arguments in Talbot County Circuit Court today on 255 key paper ballots in their fight for the Democratic nomination as governor.

Judge William R. Horney heard them cite nearly a dozen Maryland Court of Appeals rulings and wrangle about which should be applied to this case. He retired then to examine the ballots before issuing a ruling. It is not expected for several days.

Upon conclusion of the Talbot County arguments, attorneys prepared to transfer their six-week-old squabble over the nomination to Queen Annes County, just next door to Talbot on the Eastern Shore.

Mahoney needs victories in both counties to reverse Byrd's apparent victory in the June 28 primary. The official canvass gave Byrd a 4,000 popular vote edge and an 80-72 margin in unit votes.

Maryland's unit votes are similar to electoral college votes in a U.S. presidential election.

Both cases hinge on ballots which Mahoney says should have been thrown out in recounts because they bear marks other than the simple X marks beside the candidates' names.

Francis B. Burch, Mahoney lawyer, strenuously urged Judge Horney to overrule the county Board of Election Supervisors who refused to invalidate the ballots when Mahoney challenged them in the recount.

He said a 1946 Court of Appeals ruling on a disputed Baltimore County election made clear that ballots with extraneous marks must be thrown out.

William C. Walsh, chief Byrd counsel and himself a former Court of Appeals judge, argued the Board of Election supervisors would have thrown the ballots out if they had found any marks on them other than legal marks.

"But the board, in its discretion, saw no such marks and, therefore, allowed the ballots to be counted," he argued.

Of the 255 challenged ballots, 204 were cast for Byrd and 51 for Mahoney in the county where Byrd won four unit votes by 57 popular votes.

More than 40 witnesses—polling place judges, clerks and other election officials—were called into court yesterday in an attempt to shed some light on the origin of the marks. Virtually all said they would not have counted ballots if they had noticed such marks on them on election night.

In urging Horney to throw out the ballots, Burch declared the law conferred no such powers of discretion upon the supervisors.

"The law was specific on this subject," said Burch, "because its provisions on how ballots should be marked were intended to avoid vote-buying and protect the secrecy of the ballot."

He and Hyman Pressman, in the rebuttal argument in Mahoney's behalf, cited Court of Appeal rulings on those points.

The law was designed to prevent any extra-curricular marks which might later be used to identify the voter who cast the ballot bearing that mark, they said.

Jobless Benefit Claims Drop Off

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP) — The State Department of Employment Security says about 900 fewer applications for unemployment compensation came in last week than the week before.

Vacation shutdowns at some industrial plants in the last week of July helped boost the number of applications to a peak.

Under the law, workers who don't get paid vacations become eligible for unemployment benefits when plants close down.

New applications in the last week of last month totaled 6,607, highest figure of the year except for a heavy layoff period right after New Year's and the flood of new applications which follows the start of a new benefit year April 1.

New applications last week were 5,667 as compared to 3,421 the same week last year. There were 30,426 checks for $763,639. In the previous week, there were 29,194 checks for $720,472.

In the first week of August, 1953, there were 9,368 checks for $210,551.

Maryland Grain Production May Exceed Average

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 12 (AP)—The U. S Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Service said today indications are Maryland's grain production this year will be about 8 per cent above the average.

This would put Maryland grain production at about the same level reached in 1953.

The Service pointed out that the grain crop can be used to ease the roughage shortage caused by the smallest hay crop in 13 years.

Hay and pastures have been hard hit by drought conditions, alleviated by last week's general rains.

The Service reported that Allegany and Garrett County pastures seemed to be in better condition than in other sections of the state.

Other observations by the crop reporters on the Maryland-Delaware situation in general:

Maryland farmers report the highest oats yield in their history with the average for the state at 40 bushels.

Wheat at 24½ bushels per acre and barley at 37 bushels each set new records while rye equalled the 1944 yield of 16.5 bushels. This year's wheat crop is larger than last year's even though the acreage was reduced.

SRC Plans No Action In Petty Bribery Case

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Unless the accuser is ready to supply names, the State Roads Commission will do nothing to attempt to trace down a charge of petty bribery, Chairman Russell H. McCain has decided.

Philip Vassilaros, a New York painting contractor, last week told a House Anti-racketeering Subcommittee he gave a $30 present to a commission inspector.

Vassilaros could not name the inspector. McCain said he would make no inquiry that might tend to "blacken" the names of innocent employes.

He added no action would be taken unless Vassilaros can supply the name of the man who allegedly accepted the gift.

Bendix Workers To Vote On Strike

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—AFL machinist union officials said today a strike vote is planned for Sunday at a meeting of some 3,000 union employes at three Baltimore area plants of the Bendix Aviation Corp.

J. C. Cochran, president of Local 1561, International Association of Machinists, AFL, said present contract negotiations will be discussed at the meeting in nearby Towson.

He said the contract expires Sept. 1.

Cheating Students Are Suspended

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 12 (AP)—Nine would-be teachers have been suspended or expelled from Towson State Teacher College for cheating on examinations, the College disclosed today.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of the College, said eight students who broke into a duplicating room and stole copies of final exams have been suspended for a year.

A ninth boy student, described as the "ring leader" of the group, has been expelled, Dr. Hawkins said.

Twenty others—boys and girls—not involved in the theft but who accepted answers from the others, have been flunked in the courses involved and made to take additional courses to make up for the lost credit.

Dr. Hawkins said the thefts took place just before the final exams in June. A seven-member faculty committee made a six-week investigation before taking action.

The college president said the nine boy students got a key to the room where the duplicating machines are located and had copies of the key made.

The Service pointed out that the grain crop can be used to ease the roughage shortage caused by the smallest hay crop in 13 years.

Hay and pastures have been hard hit by drought conditions, alleviated by last week's general rains.

The Service reported that Allegany and Garrett County pastures seemed to be in better condition than in other sections of the state.

Other observations by the crop reporters on the Maryland-Delaware situation in general:

Maryland farmers report the highest oats yield in their history with the average for the state at 40 bushels.

Wheat at 24½ bushels per acre and barley at 37 bushels each set new records while rye equalled the 1944 yield of 16.5 bushels. This year's wheat crop is larger than last year's even though the acreage was reduced.

SRC Plans No Action In Petty Bribery Case

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Unless the accuser is ready to supply names, the State Roads Commission will do nothing to attempt to trace down a charge of petty bribery, Chairman Russell H. McCain has decided.

Philip Vassilaros, a New York painting contractor, last week told a House Anti-racketeering Subcommittee he gave a $30 present to a commission inspector.

Vassilaros could not name the inspector. McCain said he would make no inquiry that might tend to "blacken" the names of innocent employes.

He added no action would be taken unless Vassilaros can supply the name of the man who allegedly accepted the gift.

Bendix Workers To Vote On Strike

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—AFL machinist union officials said today a strike vote is planned for Sunday at a meeting of some 3,000 union employes at three Baltimore area plants of the Bendix Aviation Corp.

J. C. Cochran, president of Local 1561, International Association of Machinists, AFL, said present contract negotiations will be discussed at the meeting in nearby Towson.

He said the contract expires Sept. 1.

Cheating Students Are Suspended

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 12 (AP)—Nine would-be teachers have been suspended or expelled from Towson State Teacher College for cheating on examinations, the College disclosed today.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of the College, said eight students who broke into a duplicating room and stole copies of final exams have been suspended for a year.

A ninth boy student, described as the "ring leader" of the group, has been expelled, Dr. Hawkins said.

Twenty others—boys and girls—not involved in the theft but who accepted answers from the others, have been flunked in the courses involved and made to take additional courses to make up for the lost credit.

Dr. Hawkins said the thefts took place just before the final exams in June. A seven-member faculty committee made a six-week investigation before taking action.

The college president said the nine boy students got a key to the room where the duplicating machines are located and had copies of the key made.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Army today announced the assignment of Col. Stephen E. Smith to be district engineer at Baltimore, Md., succeeding Col. Reginald Whitaker, who will retire next month. Smith has been assistant engineer in Baltimore since last October.

Survey Discloses Religion In Home Means Many Things Beyond Realm Of Church Pew

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—When the sermon is over and mom, pop and the kids go home from church, do they take their religion with them?

That's the question explored in an unusual newspaper project which offers some rare glimpses into the working faiths of typical churchgoing families.

It was found that religion in the home meant many things beyond the realm of the church pew. Among them:

A comfort in time of trouble.

The tie holding families together.

A guide in making big decisions.

The standard for shaping children's ideals.

A source of pleasure, knowledge and companionship.

The key to working out problems.

The close-ups of religion at home were given in a 47-part, year-long series in the Nashville Tennessean. The paper sent reporters into homes to see what religion really meant to individual people.

The results are some seldom-seen views into secret gardens of faith.

Often, there were nightly family devotions — Bible reading and group prayer. There was home hymn singing. There were counseling sessions, with the Scriptures as arbiter.

There were youngsters, excited about doing daily "kind deeds for Jesus." There were parents, telling how faith had stilled fears and anxieties.

Out of the stories emerges a varying panorama of religion on the six days besides the Sabbath.

Coleman A. Harwell, Tennessean editor, said reader response to the series shows its value "is incalculable." It has been compiled in booklet form.

Let's look in on some of the scenes it describes:

1. Outside the home of Julius Clarence Siegrist, a bakery owner, a fierce electrical storm rages. Mrs. Siegrist stands at a window, worried about a daughter, Constance, 15, out in the storm. As lightning flares, little 3-year-old Jay tugs at her dress, saying:

"Don't worry, mother. That's just God's flashlight."

The remark summed up a tenet of the Siegrist home—"Faith in God takes the fear out of life."

2. A familiar evening pastime in the home of Charles E. Creagh, an insurance man, is called "our Bible game." Each of the family recites a different Bible verse, in turn, until memory runs out.

3. Improving abilities has a special motive in the home of J. T. Howell Jr. a bank vice president, where the motto is "God-centered, not self-centered." Of their two sons, he says:

"I want them to believe it is our responsibility to develop our talents to the fullest extent to carry out God's purposes for us here."

4. In the big family of Dr. Roger Burrus, a physician, religion and good works is a habit. A daughter, Catherine Dale, telling of her work with blind Negro children, gives a hint of the rewards:

"We have to guide them by placing our hands on their shoulders. The other day as I bent over one, she reached up and kissed me."

5. The earth, its sprouting seeds, the birth of a new calf, the smell of fresh sod have a special meaning to the farm family of Ed Strasser. He feels these things are lessons of God for his four sons and daughter. Recognizing God's ways, he says, opens the door to "the only real happiness there is."

6. Each evening after dinner in the home of Dr. Cleo Miller, it is "family altar" time. Young Jack plays, while brother, sisters and parents join in song. Jean, a junior high student, is the regular scripture reader. Then there is prayer.

"We all love that time of day," Jean says. "Sometimes it is so quiet you could hear a pin drop."

7. Science opens windows to God's truths for the family of Merlin B. Peterson, head of Vanderbilt University's chemistry department. He says he, his wife, two daughters and son have always "searched together" for that truth.

8. The porch of the Flem B. Otey Jr. home commands a long view. Mrs. Otey calls it her "prayer porch" — because "you must see the wonders of God to know them."

9. T. E. Moore, a telephone company foreman, sat with his two sons and two daughters, and remarked: "I feel God has given me a family and the least I can do is to put God back into it."

Water Fluoridation Hailed By ADA Chief

OSAWATOMIE, Kas., Aug. 12 (AP)—Fluoridation of public water supplies for the purpose of combatting dental decay was described today as "one of the great public health measures of our times."

The statement was made by Dr. Leslie M. FitzGerald Dubuque, Iowa, in a speech prepared for a ceremony as this eastern Kansas town of 4,800 became the 1,000th community in the nation to begin the fluoridation program.

Dr. FitzGerald, president of the American Dental Assn., shared the platform with national, state and local health and civic officials.

Dr. FitzGerald said some 18 million persons now are included in the fluoridation program. In addition, he said, 3½ million persons live in areas served by water supplies which naturally contain fluorides in desirable amounts.

The speaker said "all kinds of irresponsible charges have been leveled against fluoridation" but that not a single charge has withstood the test of scientific investigation.

Titanium, called the "wonder metal," is as strong as steel and as light as aluminum.

Junior Kangaroo Is Traffic Victim

ST. ALBANS, England, Aug. 12 (AP)—Walter the wallaby, who chose freedom rather than loll in the comforts of Whipsnade Zoo, fell victim early today to a hazard of the motor age.

Walter died in a highway collision with an automobile. Blinded by headlights, he bounded into the side of the car and was killed.

A short time after Walter's week of wandering thus ended, another junior kangaroo leaped to freedom. It was noted bounding happily over the highways some 10 miles from St. Albans today.

House Passes Vets' Dental Care Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill limiting dental care for veterans to cases directly associated with service-connected disabilities.

The question of unrestricted dental care long has been debated in Congress and previous limitations have been voted through riders on appropriations bills.

In general, today's measure provides that dental care can be given only in cases where it is directly related to service-connected disabilities and when application has been made within one year of discharge. This care also is limited to a one-time and not continuing treatment.

Home Workshop Fans' Help Sought In Solving 200 Military Problems

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Hey, you home workshop guys: Here's a chance to help your country and maybe make a pile of money.

The government called for help today in solving 200 problems facing the armed services. It asked the American people to put their "vast reservoir of inventive talent" to work getting the answers.

The list assembled by the National Inventor's Council, headed by one of the nation's top scientists, Charles F. Kettering of General Motors Corp., includes 70 new problems along with 130 that have gone unsolved for some time.

The things the armed forces need vary anywhere from sponge-like tires that won't go flat, a more efficient gasoline hose nozzle to prevent wasteful drip, and a way to eliminate noise in rocket propulsion.

Or take the sleeping bag: The Army wants one that will allow men to change position while sleeping and prevent them from breathing into the bag. Also, something to use for sleeping bag filler besides down or waterfowl feathers, critical materials in wartime.

The government isn't fooling, it expects results. During the past 14 years, the Inventor's Council has gotten terrific response from prior public appeals for aid in solving knotty problems. The Council said:

"During those 14 years, the public has submitted over 300,000 proposals, some of which have resulted in incalculable savings in men, material, time and money."

The Council doesn't buy the ideas. It turns the ones that seem worthwhile over to one or more of the military services. If something is accepted for use, the service that wants it is authorized to negotiate with the inventor. Often the services help the inventors get patents.

Goofy ideas or not, send them along to the Council, U.S. Department of Commerce, Office of Technical Services, Washington 25, D.C. The same address will get you the descriptive list of unsolved problems.

The Council is interested in "anything from toothpicks to tanks" to improve present military equipment. This should excite interest in millions of ex-GIs who have wrestled at one time or another with bulky gear.

One intriguing problem: A practical method of destroying "telltale tracks of men on foot or vehicles across snow fields."

How about this one: Develop equipment capable of producing death rays effective at 500 yards without excessive power output.

Or this: A soil additive "capable of being mixed easily and intimately" with soft earth so airplanes can land or tanks maneuver without laying down landing mats or road surfacing.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

When you read a letter or an essay: composed in the 19th century, don't you marvel at the flowing style and the grand manner of embroidering the simplest thought with hearts and flowers? Our pattern of speaking and writing today is far more direct, and better suited to an active life.

Even today, however, people tend to be wordy, spelling out a thought in far more detail than necessary. Check yourself now! Do you express your ideas precisely? Or must you frequently interpret a prior statement with an "I mean" or a "that is" clause?

Speech, to be effective must be controlled. No well-balanced personality is marked by cattiness, gossip, prejudice, or a lashing tongue. These indicate lack of self-control . . . lack of charm! There also are obvious examples of things said that should have remained unsaid.

Negative Or Positive?

Remove the negative from your speech to avoid a negative or repelling personality. Charm, if you haven't discovered it already, is positive. That's what you want to be—positive!

There are many positive ways to express yourself in speaking. One of them is to let gestures supplement, or take the place of, words. Let others read between the lines — let them sense the friendliness that is within you. Frequently it takes only the smallest graceful gesture to move a woman higher on the charm scale. Just the way she smiles or nods her head when introduced can do it. Maybe not one word is said, yet you find this woman appealing.

When a Powers Girl meets a stranger, she smiles as she says "How do you do?" More than that, as she smiles she tilts her head a little to one side and slightly backward. She doesn't have to say "I'm happy to meet you!" Her almost imperceptible gesture is more winning than the extra words.

Try It!

Any between-the-lines gesture you make should be relaxed and graceful. It should lift the body so as to move the eye of an observer upward. Such a gesture is more receptive and gracious than a movement that is jerky, clumsy or exaggerated, or one that draws the eye downward.

Practice the little trick of greeting I just gave you. Practice it before a mirror until it becomes as natural as breathing. You'll soon discover, as people react with greater interest, what a terrific amount of charm you can exhibit with a gesture that conveys more than words!

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness, and lack of proper modulation. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin.

British Censor Bans Song Pointing Up Eden's Plight

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The plight of Anthony Eden — slated to become prime minister if Churchill ever retires—has been chronicled in song, but the British censor says it can't be sung.

Under the title "Right Hand Man," it was to have been one of the featured tunes of the new London revue "Light Fantastic." But the censor banned the seven verses with a stroke of his official stamp — "deleted by the Lord Chamberlain."

The censor is the Earl of Scarbrough, whose job is to license theatres and censor all plays, usually looking for obscenity.

The long years Eden has waited patiently to take over from the aging Prime Minister is a ripe and favorite topic of the British people and press. The producers of the new revue thought it topical and handled it this way:

Thirty-one years in the business
Years of unselfish devotion
Nearly 20 years in the same old job
With hardly a hope of promotion
People did say the old boy might retire
And though we'd all hate to see him put on the shelf
If he doesn't make up his mind pretty soon
I'll be too old for the job myself.

The song goes on to refer to Churchill's becoming a Knight of the Garter, to his painting and bricklaying—of which he is considerably proud—and to slips and pieces of poor political judgment of which his critics accuse him.

And, the song ends, as one might imagine:

Thirty odd years of frustrated desire
Waiting for senior men to retire.
Assistant, adviser, consultant and guide
Always the bridesmaid—never the bride.

Donald Monat, 26, producer of the revue, said the cut came three days before the show was to open. He said he protested, but the Lord Chamberlin insisted it had to go unless Eden gave his permission. Eden was busy at the Geneva conference and "we had no alternative but to cut it," Monat said.

Petrov, Election Stir Australian Debate

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 12 (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies and Laborite leader Herbert Evatt traded strong words today over Vladimir Petrov and last May's Australian national election.

Evatt opened the exchange with a statement to the press saying Petrov received 5,000 pounds ($11,250) for the sale of certain documents which the government "bought for the purpose of unduly and improperly influencing people at the general election." He asked why "this vital fact was kept from the Australian people until after the general election" May 29.

Menzies, in a speech to the House of Representatives, countered:

"If I had told the people of Australia the contents of the Petrov papers before elections, opposition leader Dr. Herbert Evatt would not be here."

Petrov asked for asylum in Australia in April after he fled his post as third secretary at the Russian Embassy in Canberra. He turned over documents purporting to expose a Soviet spy ring in Australia. Petrov told a royal commission on espionage in July he received 5,000 pounds from the deputy director of Australian security on April 3, the day he left the Russian service.

Career-Starved Mothers Could Turn Teachers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Career-starved mothers got a hot tip from the federal government yesterday: Why not take up teaching?

The idea was set forth at a news conference held jointly by Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, head of the Labor Department Women's Bureau, and Samuel M. Brownell, U.S. commissioner of education.

Someone suggested that it wasn't so long ago that a lot of school boards wouldn't think of hiring a married woman.

"The climate has changed," said Brownell.

Mrs. Leopold said a special committee of educators has just completed a survey of 50 communities and found that the prohibition against married teachers still exists in only one of those places.

"So far as I know," she said, "no state has any regulations against married teachers any more."

The new program was motivated by the continuing shortage of public school teachers. Brownell said at least 70,000 additional teachers are needed at once in the nation's elementary schools.

Mrs. Leopold and Brownell had a special committee of 23 survey the situation. They announced the results of that survey today and the reasoning runs like this:

Lots of mothers start hankering for careers when their youngsters are old enough to go to school. So, why not give them their careers, and at the same time, do something about the teacher shortage?

"Each state would have to work out its own program," Brownell said, "but we estimate it wouldn't take more than a year of special training for mothers to get into teaching."

Some widely scattered areas already have put similar programs into effect.

Only mothers with college degrees would be eligible. They would take a type of refresher course and study teaching methods. Then, once they proved themselves capable, they'd be ready to go. Mostly, they'd do their teaching near their homes.

Mrs. Leopold said she hoped things would work out in the United States as they do in Peru. She recalled asking a Peruvian official not long ago what kind of teaching shortage existed in his country.

"Why, there's no shortage," he replied. "Our women consider it a high privilege to teach. They all teach near their homes."

Mrs. Leopold and Brownell were at some pains to make sure the men weren't discriminated against. They'd be just as eligible as mothers under the new program.

But there was no prediction of a mass male movement into the teaching profession, not even in areas of heavy unemployment.

There are no good estimates of the number of American mothers who might fit into the program, but Mrs. Leopold said the mothers themselves—particularly those in their 30s and 40s—reacted "very favorably" to the idea.

George Washington's only trip abroad was a journey to Barbados in 1751.

Amvets Take Dig At Legion By Endorsing Girl Scouts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The National Capital Post of Amvets, a World War II veterans association, declared yesterday the Girl Scouts of America are "very American."

"They favor marshmallows and Gregory Peck. They oppose homework and mosquito bites," a resolution set forth.

The resolution was a tongue-in-cheek dig at the Illinois Department of the American Legion which last week cut off its support to the Girl Scouts. The Illinois legion charged that "Un-American influences" existed in the Girl Scouts' handbook and magazine.

Commander Gilbert A. Robinson of the local Amvets announced their endorsement of the Girl Scouts, saying:

"While we were unable to obtain their official position on all subjects — certain capital Brownie Packs, for example, refused to express themselves on reciprocal trade agreements and the Middle East defense community—their stand on other matters was unequivocal and very American. They favor marshmallows and Gregory Peck. They oppose homework and mosquito bites. All these have been cleared by the attorney general.

"To those of little humor who find the Girl Scouts suspect we Amvets say that these youngsters with their pigtails, freckles and braces on their teeth represent to us all that is good and hopeful in our nation."

British Censor Bans Song Pointing Up Eden's Plight

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—The plight of Anthony Eden — slated to become prime minister if Churchill ever retires—has been chronicled in song, but the British censor says it can't be sung.

Under the title "Right Hand Man," it was to have been one of the featured tunes of the new London revue "Light Fantastic." But the censor banned the seven verses with a stroke of his official stamp — "deleted by the Lord Chamberlain."

The censor is the Earl of Scarbrough, whose job is to license theatres and censor all plays, usually looking for obscenity.

The long years Eden has waited patiently to take over from the aging Prime Minister is a ripe and favorite topic of the British people and press. The producers of the new revue thought it topical and handled it this way:

Thirty-one years in the business
Years of unselfish devotion
Nearly 20 years in the same old job
With hardly a hope of promotion
People did say the old boy might retire
And though we'd all hate to see him put on the shelf
If he doesn't make up his mind pretty soon
I'll be too old for the job myself.

The song goes on to refer to Churchill's becoming a Knight of the Garter, to his painting and bricklaying—of which he is considerably proud—and to slips and pieces of poor political judgment of which his critics accuse him.

And, the song ends, as one might imagine:

Thirty odd years of frustrated desire
Waiting for senior men to retire.
Assistant, adviser, consultant and guide
Always the bridesmaid—never the bride.

It Is Time For Sweet Cherries

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Serve a sweet cherry bowl now in the backyard, after a supper of grilled frankfurters or hamburgers on rolls, so you can take it easy at mealtime for a change! Then when you feel energetic, keep your eye on future menus; take advantage of the sweet cherry crop fresh on the market and preserve some of the fruit to brighten less sunny days. Because cherries are low in pectin and acid, our recipe for Sweet Cherry Jam calls for handy bottled pectin.

EASY SUPPER — Grilled frankfurters, fruit salad.

Sweet Cherry Bowl

Ingredients: 2 pounds sweet cherries, 4 apricots, 1 avocado, salad greens, French dressing.

Method: Wash cherries, drain and heap in center of a large bowl lined with salad greens. Around the outside of the cherry mound alternate slices of apricot and avocado. Serve with French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet Cherry Jam

Ingredients: 3 pounds (about) sweet cherries, ¼ cup lemon juice, 7 cups sugar, 1 bottle liquid fruit pectin.

Method: Stem and pit cherries chop fine and measure 3¾ cups cherries into a very large saucepan. Add lemon juice and sugar to fruit; mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into sterilized jelly glasses. Cover jam with ⅛-inch thick hot paraffin. Makes about 11 medium glasses.

FRUIT JAM — You can have 11 medium glasses of preserves from 3 pounds of fruit.

Kidney Bean Salad

1 No. 303 can Red Kidney Beans
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup French Dressing
½ cup pickle relish
½ teaspoon salt
1 4 oz. can Vienna Sausage

Drain Kidney Beans. Cut Vienna Sausage in crosswise slices. Combine all ingredients except eggs. Chill. Serve on salad greens. Garnish with sliced eggs. Makes 3 servings.

Many scientists believe that the modern varieties of the domestic dog are descended from wolves.

Roquefort-Pecan Sandwich Filling

1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
¼ cup crumbled Roquefort or Bleu cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pecans
2 tablespoons cream

Combine cream cheese and Roquefort cheese. Add pecans and cream and blend together.

Yield: ⅞ cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

Snappy Cheese Spread

1 cup (¼-pound) grated sharp cheese, firmly packed
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons canned deviled ham
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine cheese, olives, ham, mustard and mayonnaise.

Yield: ⅞ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

Tuna-Olive Sandwich Filling

½ cup tuna, flaked
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2½ tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Combine flaked tuna, olives, mayonnaise and lemon juice.

Yield: ¾ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

Walnut-Smoked Cheese Sandwich Filling

¼ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup smoked cheese spread
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine walnuts, cheese, Worcestershire sauce and mayonnaise.

Yield: ⅝ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

It Is Time For Sweet Cherries

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Serve a sweet cherry bowl now in the backyard, after a supper of grilled frankfurters or hamburgers on rolls, so you can take it easy at mealtime for a change! Then when you feel energetic, keep your eye on future menus; take advantage of the sweet cherry crop fresh on the market and preserve some of the fruit to brighten less sunny days. Because cherries are low in pectin and acid, our recipe for Sweet Cherry Jam calls for handy bottled pectin.

EASY SUPPER — Grilled frankfurters, fruit salad.

Sweet Cherry Bowl

Ingredients: 2 pounds sweet cherries, 4 apricots, 1 avocado, salad greens, French dressing.

Method: Wash cherries, drain and heap in center of a large bowl lined with salad greens. Around the outside of the cherry mound alternate slices of apricot and avocado. Serve with French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet Cherry Jam

Ingredients: 3 pounds (about) sweet cherries, ¼ cup lemon juice, 7 cups sugar, 1 bottle liquid fruit pectin.

Method: Stem and pit cherries chop fine and measure 3¾ cups cherries into a very large saucepan. Add lemon juice and sugar to fruit; mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into sterilized jelly glasses. Cover jam with ⅛-inch thick hot paraffin. Makes about 11 medium glasses.

FRUIT JAM — You can have 11 medium glasses of preserves from 3 pounds of fruit.

Roquefort-Pecan Sandwich Filling

1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
¼ cup crumbled Roquefort or Bleu cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pecans
2 tablespoons cream

Combine cream cheese and Roquefort cheese. Add pecans and cream and blend together.

Yield: ⅞ cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

Snappy Cheese Spread

1 cup (¼-pound) grated sharp cheese, firmly packed
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons canned deviled ham
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine cheese, olives, ham, mustard and mayonnaise.

Yield: ⅞ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

Tuna-Olive Sandwich Filling

½ cup tuna, flaked
¼ cup chopped stuffed olives
2½ tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ teaspoon lemon juice

Combine flaked tuna, olives, mayonnaise and lemon juice.

Yield: ¾ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

Kidney Bean Salad

1 No. 303 can Red Kidney Beans
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup French Dressing
½ cup pickle relish
½ teaspoon salt
1 4 oz. can Vienna Sausage

Drain Kidney Beans. Cut Vienna Sausage in crosswise slices. Combine all ingredients except eggs. Chill. Serve on salad greens. Garnish with sliced eggs. Makes 3 servings.

Many scientists believe that the modern varieties of the domestic dog are descended from wolves.

Sandwiches Belong In Portable Meals

Once summer is here, we start moving out—out in the breeze and into the shade. Life takes on portable ways, too. Meals are wheeled to porch and lawn or enjoyed in the big out-of-doors.

Made to order for portable meals are the myriad varieties of sandwiches. Fillings for sandwiches can be almost endless. Two — or three—slices of bread can hold an entire meal or just a whimsically flavored mixture so right with tall, chilled beverages.

No food could be better for the picnic meal that goes on the open road than sandwiches. Breads do not need refrigeration and can be packed safely for several hours. They team well with the many varieties of cheese for such excursions, too. Look what you can add to the cheese-bread twosome — jams, pecans, and olives. Eggs, always plentiful in summer, are naturals for fillings.

Put some thought into what breads go with what fillings. Enriched white bread goes well with pineapple-ham combinations while pumpernickel is in congenial company with a filling of hard-cooked eggs and chopped ripe olives, or bacon and chopped dill pickles.

Egg-Ripe Olive Sandwich Filling

¾ cup chopped hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
1½ tablespoons chopped green pepper
½ teaspoon salt

Combine eggs, olives, mayonnaise, green pepper and salt.

Yield: ⅞ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

Avocado-Cottage Cheese Sandwich Filling

¼ cup mashed avocado
½ cup cottage cheese
⅛ teaspoon salt
Dash celery salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine avocado, cottage cheese, salt, celery salt, lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce.

Yield: ¾ cup, or filling for 4 sandwiches.

Bacon-Pickle Sandwich Filling

¾ cup finely chopped dill pickles
⅓ cup chopped, cooked bacon

Sagebrush Fried Chicken — The Best of the Old West

Here is a different way to serve chicken—but probably easier than any you've ever tried! Once you fix chicken this way, you'll have it again and again. Crispy and brown, fried to a "T", it's served over yellow corn and rice. The rice is browned to develop a nutty flavor, perfect with fried chicken. Green pepper and yellow whole kernel corn are mixed with the browned rice—and oh, what a perfect combination with fried chicken!

INGREDIENTS:
1 frying chicken
½ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Fat for frying chicken
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup uncooked white rice
½ cup onion, finely chopped
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1—16 oz. can (2 cups) whole kernel yellow corn, drained

METHOD: Cut chicken into serving pieces. Wash in cold water. Pat dry. Mix flour, salt and pepper in a paper bag. Place one piece of chicken in bag at a time and shake to coat with the flour. Heat ½ inch fat in a skillet until a drop of water just sizzles. Brown meaty pieces first, adding less meaty pieces last. With tongs or spoons, turn to brown evenly.

When lightly browned, 15 to 20 minutes, reduce heat, cover tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 40 minutes. Turn as necessary to brown evenly. Uncover the last 10 minutes to crisp the skin.

While chicken is cooking, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the rice and onions and cook until the rice is browned. Slowly add green pepper, water, salt and pepper. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Turn off heat. Stir in the corn. Cover and leave cover on for 10 minutes or until ready to serve. Put corn and rice on a hot platter. Arrange the fried chicken over the corn, or place servings of the chicken on dinner plates and arrange the corn and rice on the plates. Garnish with tomato slices if desired.

This recipe makes 6 generous servings.

Vegetable Juices Make Dandy Aspic

Easiest way to make an A-1 tomato aspic is this: Start with just 2 ingredients, a can of mixed vegetable juices and gelatine. Open 1 can (12-ounce size) of mixed vegetable juices. Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatine in ¼ cup of the juices; set aside. Heat remaining juices; stir in the softened gelatine. Rinse 1 large salad mold (or 4 small ones) with cold water; pour in mixture and chill until firm. Place on crisp lettuce. Serve with a top-knot of mayonnaise or cottage cheese or sour cream: 4 servings.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mrs. Filbert's new idea!

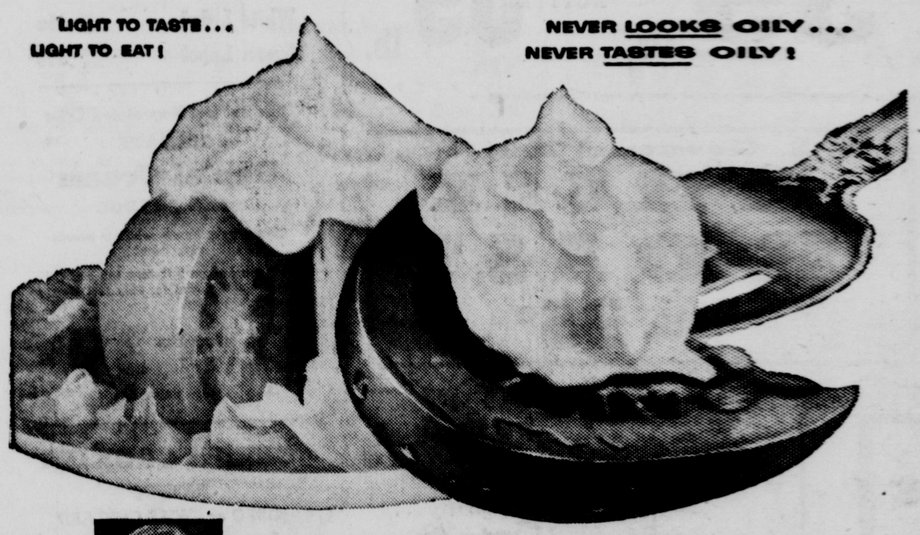
NEVER LOOKS OILY... NEVER TASTES OILY!



Mrs. M. V. Filbert, President

THIS IS IT! A mayonnaise so extra good you want to eat it by the spoonful! Eat all you like! You can thank Mrs. Filbert—the old-fashioned weighty heaviness is gone.

Here's the modern mayonnaise. It goes with today's lighter eating. Rich in extra eggs... yet light—the mayonnaise you thought couldn't be made until Mrs. Filbert made it.

She's done it a woman's way. It's genuine mayonnaise—but like no other mayonnaise. Fluffier on your fork... less filling to eat... and never an oily after-taste. Only a woman could make it so good!

What's Mrs. Filbert's secret? Extra eggs. Foamy egg yolks and delicate egg whites. Salad oil so light it fluffs away. Gentlest vinegar. Real lemon juice. Even her spices are soft-flavored.

Tonight, heap Mrs. Filbert's on your fork—see how light! Taste how fresh! You'll never again weigh your salads down with heavy mayonnaise!

*Use slightly green-tipped or all-yellow bananas. Peel bananas. Place on rack or into pan. Brush bananas well with butter or margarine. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Half of the Eskimos of the world never have seen a snow house.

Sagebrush Fried Chicken — The Best of the Old West

Here is a different way to serve chicken — but probably easier than any you've ever tried! Once you fix chicken this way, you'll have it again and again. Crispy and brown, fried to a "T", it's served over yellow corn and rice. The rice is browned to develop a nutty flavor, perfect with fried chicken. Green pepper and yellow whole kernel corn are mixed with the browned rice — and oh, what a perfect combination with fried chicken!

INGREDIENTS:
1 frying chicken
½ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Fat for frying chicken
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup uncooked white rice
½ cup onion, finely chopped
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 — 16 oz. can (2 cups) whole kernel yellow corn, drained

METHOD: Cut chicken into serving pieces. Wash in cold water. Pat dry. Mix flour, salt and pepper in a paper bag. Place one piece of chicken in bag at a time and shake to coat with the flour. Heat ½ inch fat in a skillet until a drop of water just sizzles. Brown meaty pieces first, adding less meaty pieces last. With tongs or spoons, turn to brown evenly.

When lightly browned, 15 to 20 minutes, reduce heat, cover tightly and cook slowly until tender, about 40 minutes. Turn as necessary to brown evenly. Uncover the last 10 minutes to crisp the skin.

While chicken is cooking, melt butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add the rice and onions and cook until the rice is browned. Slowly add green pepper, water, salt and pepper. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Turn off heat. Stir in the corn. Cover and leave cover on for 10 minutes or until ready to serve. Put corn and rice on a hot platter. Arrange the fried chicken over the corn, or place servings of the chicken on dinner plates and arrange the corn and rice on the plates. Garnish with tomato slices if desired.

This recipe makes 6 generous servings.

Vegetable Juices Make Dandy Aspic

Easiest way to make an A-1 tomato aspic is this: Start with just 2 ingredients, a can of mixed vegetable juices and gelatine. Open 1 can (12-ounce size) of mixed vegetable juices. Soften 1 envelope unflavored gelatine in ¼ cup of the juices; set aside. Heat remaining juices; stir in the softened gelatine. Rinse 1 large salad mold (or 4 small ones) with cold water; pour in mixture and chill until firm. Place on crisp lettuce. Serve with a top-knot of mayonnaise or cottage cheese or sour cream: 4 servings.

Mrs. Filbert's new idea!

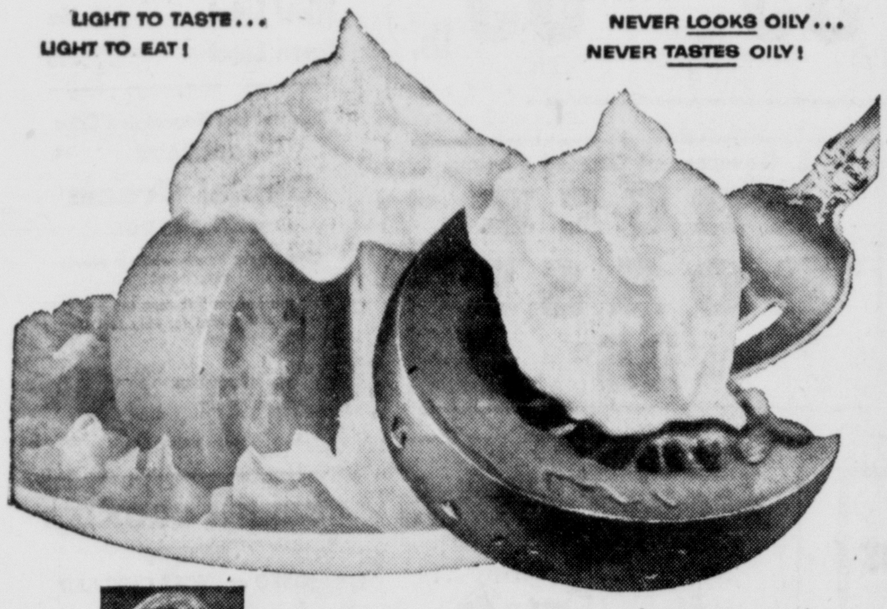
NEVER LOOKS OILY... NEVER TASTES OILY!



Mrs. M. V. Filbert, President

THIS IS IT! A mayonnaise so extra good you want to eat it by the spoonful! Eat all you like! You can thank Mrs. Filbert—the old-fashioned weighty heaviness is gone.

Here's the modern mayonnaise. It goes with today's lighter eating. Rich in extra eggs . . . yet light—the mayonnaise you thought couldn't be made until Mrs. Filbert made it.

She's done it a woman's way. It's genuine mayonnaise—but like no other mayonnaise. Fluffier on your fork . . . less filling to eat . . . and never an oily after-taste. Only a woman could make it so good!

What's Mrs. Filbert's secret? Extra eggs. Foamy egg yolks and delicate egg whites. Salad oil so light it fluffs away. Gentlest vinegar. Real lemon juice. Even her spices are soft-flavored.

Tonight, heap Mrs. Filbert's on your fork—see how light! Taste how fresh! You'll never again weigh your salads down with heavy mayonnaise!

This Dessert Is Really Peachy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

This peach dessert is a two-way affair. If your budget is on your mind, serve the peaches with their coconut filling "as is."

Then when kitchen finances allow you to go all out, doll up the peaches with our Orange Custard Sauce and whipped cream and accompany them with angelfood cake. (You can make the cake from scratch, use a mix or buy it). Use this de luxe version of the peach dessert when you are having company.

A peach dessert such as this one is divine after curry, and here is one of our favorite menus. You'll notice that we have listed "curry accompaniments." By that we mean small bowls of ground roasted peanuts, chopped hard-cooked egg, crumbled crisply cooked bacon, chutney or sweet pickle relish. This assortment, we have found, tastes particularly good with a curry featuring shrimp.

(De Luxe Variation)

Stuffed Peaches

Ingredients: 6 peeled ripe freestone peach halves, 6 tablespoons sugar (scant), 4 tablespoons butter, ½ cup moist shredded coconut.

Method: Place peach halves, cavities up, in shallow baking dish. Put a tablespoon of sugar and a slice of butter into each peach cavity. Heap coconut on top of peaches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until coconut is lightly browned and peaches are heated through. Makes 6 servings.

STUFFED FRESH PEACHES with angelfood cake and custard make a heavenly dessert.

Orange Custard Sauce

Ingredients: 2 eggs or 4 yolks, ½ to ⅔ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk (scalded), 1 teaspoon vanilla, dash of nutmeg, ½ teaspoon finely grated orange rind.

Method: Beat eggs slightly; mix with sugar and salt. Stir in about one-third of the hot milk. Add this mixture to remaining hot milk in top of double boiler. Place over hot (not boiling) water; cook and stir constantly until mixture thickens and coats a silver spoon. If whole eggs were used, strain. Stir in vanilla, nutmeg and orange rind. Chill. If desired, additional coarsely grated orange rind may be sprinkled over the top of the sauce. Makes about 2½ cups sauce.

Framing Pakistan Constitution Tedious Job; Work On Document In Eighth Year

Editor's Note—It has been seven years since the British withdrawal from India permitted the formation of the independent nation of Pakistan. Yet that country still has no constitution. In this final article on the United States' new ally in Asia, a correspondent who toured the country extensively outlines the background of the long debate.

By EUGENE LEVIN

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 12 (AP)—Getting a constitution written for Pakistan is turning out to be a seemingly endless job.

The country's lawmakers have been at work on the document for seven years. They plan to finish their work by the end of 1954, but few in Karachi expect them to succeed.

A major stumbling block—the composition of the country's parliament—has been solved with a compromise idea borrowed from the framers of the United States Constitution.

However, other difficulties persist. No solution has been offered to antagonisms stirred by rivalry between Pakistan's different provinces and language groups. The question of a Moslem state has been debated—extremist religious factions demanding a state based on rigid Islamic traditions and customs, more progressive elements seeking to balance the teachings of the Koran with their ideas of modern democracy.

One important stumbling stone is strictly political—the fear among some constituent assembly members that they will be without a job as soon as the constitution is written.

Elections for a new national parliament are to be held as soon as the constitution is finished. This parliament will replace the constituent assembly, which has been handling the day-to-day legislative work in addition to its constitution writing task.

The constituent assembly was elected in 1947, at the time Britain granted independence to the subcontinent, partitioned into Pakistan and free India. The Moslem League as the chief architect of Pakistan's creation, easily won that election, obtaining 58 of the assembly's 78 seats.

When India finished its own constitution writing at the end of 1949, the pride of many Pakistanis was hurt. They were disappointed that India should get the jump in establishing itself as a republic.

Spurred by the bitterness that has risen between India and Pakistan, these Pakistanis openly criticized the constituent assembly and suggested its members were more intent on remaining in office than completing their work.

The old complaint came up again following the thumping provincial election victory of the United Front over the Moslem League four months ago in East Pakistan.

Since then, leaders of the Front have called for new national elections, saying the assembly elected seven years ago no longer reflects the political complexion of the country. Supporters of the Front have charged the Moslem League will delay finishing the constitution for fear of losing its hold on the national government.

The fight between the East and West Pakistans has underlined other disputes delaying the constitution making. Size is a factor. East Pakistan is made up of the single province of East Bengal. It has 44 million of the country's total 76 million population. West Pakistan, with less than half the population, has four provincial units.

Each of the West Pakistan provincial units have demanded parliamentary representation equal with East Bengal. The only West Pakistan province approaching East Bengal in size is the Punjab with about 19 millions. East Bengalis have argued they should control parliament.

A similar problem, a fight between big and little states, dogged the American founding fathers in the 18th century. The government's solution here was to borrow the American compromise, creating two houses of parliament.

The proposed Pakistan parliament would consist of an upper house, similar to the U.S. Senate, made up of 10 members from each of the five provincial units. This idea is intended to satisfy West Pakistan. The lower house modeled after the U.S. House of Representatives, would have 300 members with 165 — a majority — coming from East Pakistan.

Members of the lower house would be elected directly by the people. Upper house members would be picked by the provincial legislatures.

The draft constitution provides that the Head of the State, corresponding to a figurehead president, and the prime minister must come from the different parts of Pakistan — one from the East, and one from the West.

Another East-West conflict involves the national language. Urdu, spoken in the West, originally was selected. After the United Front victory, the Karachi government decided to give the Bengali tongue of the East equal status with Urdu. English would continue to be used for official government business for 20 years after the constitution's effective date.

Besides the East-West disputes, considerable time has been consumed in debates over Pakistan's structure as an Islamic state. The proposed constitution provides that no law should violate the Koran, the holy book of the Moslems. Teaching of the Koran to Moslems would be compulsory.

Extreme religious groups want the constitution to set out in rigid terms the description of the Islamic State. They object to provisions guaranteeing non-Moslems the right to worship as they please and to maintain their own religious, educational and charitable institutions.

The Koran contains many injunctions against usury — high interest in banking and investing— and prescribes many rules for fair business dealings. The constitution writers, unable to reconcile the teachings of the Koran with modern financial practices, have provided that fiscal and money matters will not be judged by Islamic principles for at least 25 years.

With the help of a British expert, the draft constitution is now taking shape rapidly. When the assembly finally votes on the document, its decision will be final.

The document will not be submitted to the people for their approval. However, the United Front and other opposition groups say they will not recognize a constitution written by the present assembly. A national election defeat for the Moslem League, therefore, could easily result in the scrapping of the constitution — and the more than seven years of hard labor in writing it.

This Dessert Is Really Peachy

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

This peach dessert is a two-way affair. If your budget is on your mind, serve the peaches with their coconut filling "as is."

Then when kitchen finances allow you to go all out, doll up the peaches with our Orange Custard Sauce and whipped cream and accompany them with angelfood cake. (You can make the cake from scratch, use a mix or buy it). Use this de luxe version of the peach dessert when you are having company.

A peach dessert such as this one is divine after curry, and here is one of our favorite menus. You'll notice that we have listed "curry accompaniments." By that we mean small bowls of ground roasted peanuts, chopped hard-cooked egg, crumbled crisply cooked bacon, chutney or sweet pickle relish. This assortment, we have found, tastes particularly good with a curry featuring shrimp.

Curry Supper With Fresh Peach Dessert

Curried Shrimp — Steamed Rice
Curry Accompaniments
Green Salad — Crisp Rolls
Stuffed Peaches
(De Luxe Variation)

Stuffed Peaches

Ingredients: 6 peeled ripe freestone peach halves, 6 tablespoons sugar (scant), 4 tablespoons butter, ½ cup moist shredded coconut.

Method: Place peach halves, cavities up, in shallow baking dish. Put a tablespoon of sugar and a slice of butter into each peach cavity. Heap coconut on top of peaches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes or until coconut is lightly browned and peaches are heated through. Makes 6 servings.

STUFFED FRESH PEACHES with angelfood cake and custard make a heavenly dessert.

Orange Custard Sauce

Ingredients: 2 eggs or 4 yolks, ½ to ⅔ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk (scalded), 1 teaspoon vanilla, dash of nutmeg, ½ teaspoon finely grated orange rind.

Method: Beat eggs slightly; mix with sugar and salt. Stir in about one-third of the hot milk. Add this mixture to remaining hot milk in top of double boiler. Place over hot (not boiling) water; cook and stir constantly until mixture thickens and coats a silver spoon. If whole eggs were used, strain. Stir in vanilla, nutmeg and orange rind. Chill. If desired, additional coarsely grated orange rind may be sprinkled over the top of the sauce. Makes about 2½ cups sauce.

½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles
½ cup cubed American cheese
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons mayonnaise

Baseball Hazards — Beanball Protection

One day recently, Joe Adcock, first baseman of the Milwaukee Braves, hit four homers and a double at Ebbets Field against the Dodgers, tying three major league records and establishing several others. Adcock's hitting was a great contribution to the ruination of the Dodgers that afternoon.

The next day the two teams played again and, with the Dodgers trying desperately to catch the league-leading Giants, things were tight. Adcock, batting for the second time in the fourth inning, took one pitch, a strike, and waited for the next. The Dodger pitcher rocked back and let it go. The ball caromed off Adcock's head.

He could have been out for the season, but because he was wearing a plastic skull cap under his billed cap he was soon back in the lineup. In the rhubarb that followed, little credit was given the cap.

According to a wire service dispatch, only one man has been killed by a pitched ball in major league competition. But many have been knocked out temporarily or for the season. And a man once beaned is hardly the same when he next reaches the batter's box. It is estimated half the players in both leagues now wear anti-beanball caps of one type or another.

A beaning can be completely accidental, but that is tough to prove. The process of "moving a man back from the plate" is an honorable one among pitchers who are called upon to face batters with all sorts of strange stances. In the case of Adcock, the Braves assumed the Dodger pitcher to be guilty of throwing a deliberate beanball and said so.

Batters do all they can to make it tough for the pitcher, and they know that getting dusted off with a high one inside is one of the hazards. Not even the sharpest-eyed umpire can prove conclusively that the pitch that beaned someone was deliberate, so the growing trend toward anti-beanball caps seems most sensible.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

General Of The Armies

When I read President Eisenhower's really stirring defense of General George Marshall, I could not help wondering whether he gave a thought to his old chief, General Douglas MacArthur, under whom he served for about nine years as Secretary of the General Staff when MacArthur was Chief of Staff and later in the Philippines. MacArthur too has served his country 52 years and has been acclaimed as the greatest General we have produced since Robert E. Lee. No matter whether one agrees with his views, it is impossible to question his stature.

General MacArthur, since his summary dismissal by President Truman and Secretary of Defense George Marshall, has become a businessman, selling electric razors, typewriters and carbon paper. Perhaps he is less beset by gnawing politics in his present lucrative position, but to many Americans, the wonder is that our government can afford to waste such a great talent, particularly as Asia remains our most pressing problem. MacArthur was dismissed for being right, as we now know, at a time when his views were politically embarrassing to the Administration in Washington. He was humiliated.

Is there to be no correction of the record or are we to wait until MacArthur dies when even those who today scorn him will find it in their hearts to speak and write panegyrics in his honor? What a cortege of distinguished figures will follow him then? Need we wait for that? Does it not make more sense to pay him the honor that is due him now, while he is alive, and while he can accept the gratitude of the Republic, his son standing by to recall all his life that his country has the emotional maturity to rectify a mistake?

It has been suggested that he be given the title, "General of the Armies." It is an honorary title, only borne by General John J. Pershing, given to him by a resolution introduced in both houses of Congress on July 19, 1919, and adopted September 4, 1919.

"General of the Armies" is not a new title in our history. The rank was first created by Congress on March 3, 1799. No one was appointed to it and it ceased to exist in 1802 until it was revived in 1919 for General Pershing.

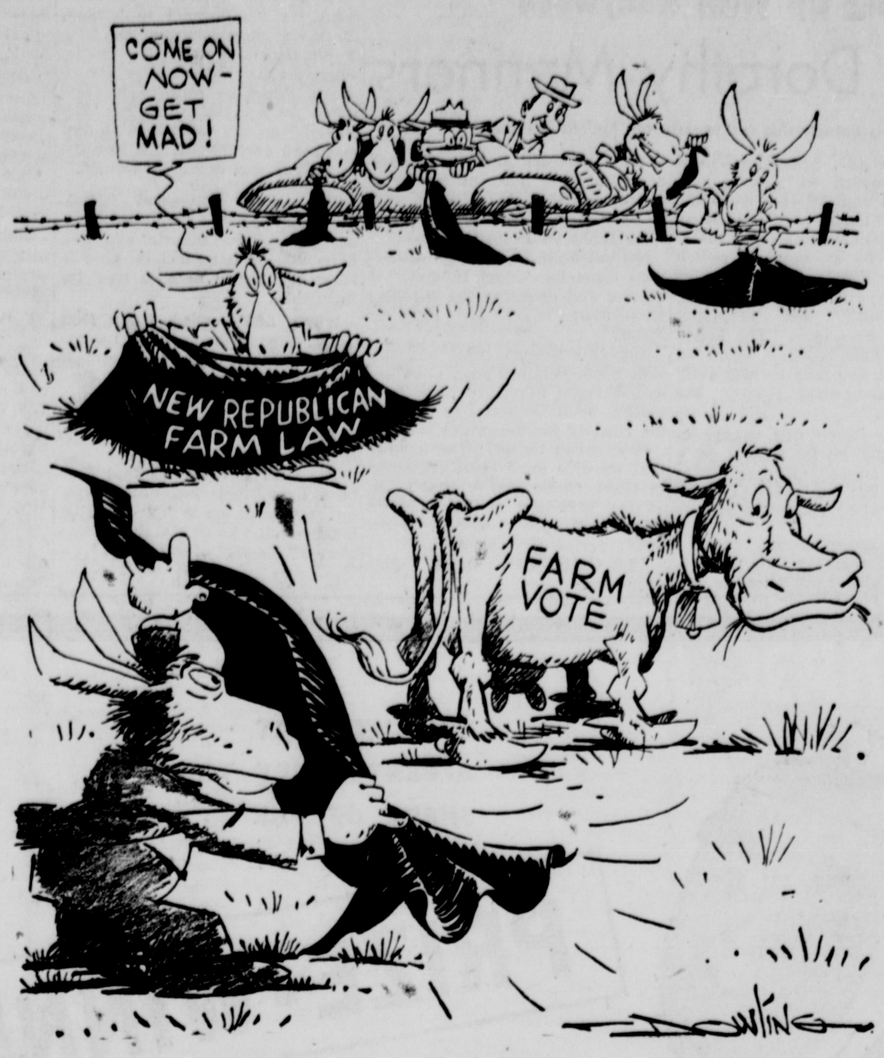
The rank of "General of the Army," was created in 1866 and was held by Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. It lapsed in 1891, but was revived in World War II as a temporary rank until March 3, 1946, when it was made permanent, applying also to the Navy in the form of "Fleet Admiral." This permanent rank, "General of the Army," has been granted to Generals Bradley, Marshall, Arnold and Eisenhower. The rank of "Fleet Admiral" has been granted to Admirals Nimitz, Leahy, Halsey and King. It was not held by General MacArthur who was in command of our forces in Asia.

A curiosity of the Act creating the rank, "General of the Armies," is the last line of the Act, reading:
". . . . Provided, That no more than one appointment to office shall be made under the terms of this Act."

In other words, the Act could only be made to apply to General Pershing and to no one else. It cannot be made to apply to General MacArthur unless new legislation is passed. It would seem that that ought not to be difficult, considering General MacArthur's enormous services to his country. Of course, there will always be small, envious men, without sentiment for the monumental characters of this country, some of them whose roots are still in the European countries in which they were born although they have long been naturalized Americans, who despise MacArthur for his intensive nationalism, his singleness of purpose in upholding the prestige of his country. Such persons are bound to oppose any honors for General Douglas MacArthur, but they will be few and Americans can afford to ignore them and their small hatreds.

The time has come to remind the old General that the gratitude of the American people does not fade away. He has served his country valiantly and as he approaches his 75th birthday, which will come on January 26, it would be appropriate for the nation to give him this clearance of the record as a birthday present. What could be more gracious!

All Hands On Deck



McCarthy Censure Before Probe Would Be Lynch Law

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "Lynch Law" and rule by the mob have been justly condemned in America as hardly a substitute for the right of every man to a full hearing on any charges made against him. But 12 United States Senators recently were ready to "lynch" a fellow senator, figuratively speaking, by voting to declare him guilty without giving him his day in court. Seventy-five other Senators decided to grant a hearing before passing judgment.

The record of this debate in the Senate shows how easily passion and emotion can result in "lynch law." It is significant because the idea of voting on the charges against Senator McCarthy without a hearing came almost entirely from Senators who have called themselves "liberals."

One of the principal charges made by the so-called "liberals" against the Wisconsin Senator is that he publicly asked Federal employes to give him information and urged them "to violate their oaths." This has been proved now to be vague charge, because it isn't clear just what law could be violated if the purpose in giving the data to members of Congress is to expose crime. Perhaps the best evidence available on the subject comes from those Senators who have actually dealt with precisely the same situation—the habit among Executive departments of ordering certain information withheld from Congress by calling it "secret."

Here is what Hugo Black, once chairman of a Senate investigating committee, wrote in Harper's Magazine in 1936:

"In the munitions investigation something new was tried. A munitions manufacturer said its correspondence in many cases referred to government munitions business and that this was confidential to the Government. It produced its papers under compulsion, but all over every document was 'confidential by order of the War Department.' Needless to say, the committee paid no attention to this stamp."

Mr. Black is today an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Should he, as a Senator, have been "censured" in 1936 for upholding the practice of investigating committees?

Also, the newspapers have been reporting on the trials and convictions of several collectors of Internal Revenue throughout the country, and the other day a former commissioner of Internal Revenue, Joseph Nunan, was sentenced to jail for wrongdoing while in office.

Senator John Williams of Delaware, Republican, has been a one-man investigating unit in exposing the crimes committed in the Bureau of Internal Revenue under Democratic administrations. Repeatedly he met roadblocks. He was refused informatilon but he got it nevertheless because various employes of the Internal Revenue Bureau helped him. If what the so-called "liberal" Senators are advocating today becomes the rule and executive employes cannot give anything to members of Congress, treason as well as corruption can be covered up.

Senator Williams told the story of the cover-up in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report on December 7, 1951 when he said:

"I made my speech on the floor of the Senate that day, numbered the files, and put the whole case of Mr. Finnegan in the 'Congressional Record.' And I made the statement then that all the evidence that I was putting in the 'Record' on that date was in the files of the Treasury and the Department of Justice here in Washington, that it had been in their files during the time the first grand jury was in session, and that it was not presented to the first grand jury nor to the second grand jury thus far. I said that both the Department of Justice and the Treasury Departments were responsible for withholding it."

The interview then continued:

"Q. When you made your speech, didn't you have in your hand the report of the Revenue Bureau's own intelligence unit?

"A. Yes, I had a reproduction of the files.

"Q. Isn't it a violation of some law for that information to get into the hands of a Senator?

"A. I don't know if it is or not. I'm not a lawyer. I had it and used it. I have always been told it is a crime to conceal a crime. When I got this information that there was a crime being committed, I had thought that I would be part of the crime if I didn't expose it, and so I exposed it. Had I not done so, it would still be covered up."

The data in question led later to the indictment of Collector Finnegan of St. Louis for misconduct in office. He was convicted and is now serving a two-year prison term. Senator Williams continued:

"I tried to call it to the attention of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, but I couldn't get his interest aroused. I tried to call it to the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury so that he could take appropriate steps, but I couldn't get his interest aroused. So I called it to the attention of the Senate."

Should Senator Williams be "censured" now? And what of the work done by Representative Cecil King, Democrat, and his associates on the House committee who investigated and brought to book persons in the Internal Revenue Service so high up that no employe under them would have dared to confront them with charges? It is widely known that honest employes inside the Government gave information and secretly helped these members of Congress. Should they be "censured" and accused of law violations? Yet that's the rule which the so-called "liberal" Senators now would enforce against Senator McCarthy merely because he repeated in a public address that is well known—that Government employes can and must help to uncover treason and corruption and other forms of wrongdoing even if they risk the disfavor of their superiors.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Our one-man foreign policy with Syngman Rhee is to keep him contented without being happy.

That's a tougher job than argufying your wife out of a new hat after she's in it.

Syngman points out that Moscow is shopping for Peninsulas. He says Korea is in apple-pie order if you mean being sliced in two.

Same thing happened in Indo-China when the French acted like my heavyweight. As a fighter he was out-standing.

Another peninsula unraveled its parallels when Indo-China was bifurcated on the Seventeenth dotted line. It could be the fault of the UN which is fishing with live bait.

Time will tell and we've become a nation of clock watchers. Somebody pulled the plug and world peace is shooting the rapids in soapy water.

Rhee and Dulles signed a mutual plaster one year ago this week. If peace negotiations with Moscow flipped we were to do something about it. We are. We are flipping too.

There was no more peace at Panmunjom than there is in a jungle night. Now our job is to keep Syngman Rhee on the line with the other yo-yos.

If he starts bouncing along the 38th Parallel he is liable to start more things than a monkey in a switch tower.

Reader Finds Many Of His Own Cures In 43 Years

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"I have read your column since 1916," writes T. M. My reaction to his comment is that since it has kept him well for 38 years, we will do our best to keep him in good health if he promises to read it for another 38 years. HOW TO KEEP WELL, the first health column, has appeared seven days a week since 1911. How many of you have been reading it for more than 38 years?

"I was surprised at your statement that a gouty person can eat eggs. If my husband eats even half an egg he gets a violent attack."

Eggs, unlike most protein rich foods, contain small amounts of purine, the offending chemical in gout. Sweetbreads, for example, contain large quantities of purine; bacon, beef, poultry, and fish are almost as bad. Many vegetables and cereals are richer in this substance than eggs are and I am, therefore, at a loss to understand why this woman's husband develops pain unless he is eating high purine foods at lunch.

A Chicago woman writes: "You physicians tell people with chilblains to wear woolen socks. The opposite has been my experience. When I was in fourth grade, I just about missed passing in class because every day my feet itched me so bad I was distracted. One day all my woolen socks were in the wash and I wore cotton. Either that day or the next, I experienced my first relief from chilblains and have never been troubled from that day on." I do not doubt this story, but have a hunch she never had chilblains. Allergy to wool is more likely. Early symptoms of the two conditions are difficult to tell apart and the sudden cure speaks for itself.

"Someone asked you about her youngster who always developed convulsions when the body temperature rose. I had this trouble with my daughter until she was 7 but found I could control convulsions by keeping her as cool as possible and placing an ice bag on her head. My daughter is now middle-aged and healthy."

A Toronto mother discusses our article on word blindness. Her daughter had a problem along this line that became evident at 6. The little girl was ambidextrous and could not keep up in printing with even the slowest pupils. One day, the mother was called by the school and told that little G. was mentally deficient and would never absorb any education.

A psychiatrist was consulted and the youngster was found to be normal mentally but suffering from word blindness, which is not uncommon in the ambidextrous. The school authorities finally permitted the youngster to compete with her classmates. This was a morale builder and within two years the child was doing well in her classwork.

NOT THE THYROID

F. J. writes: Could constipation be attributed to a low thyroid condition?

REPLY

No. There might be an indirect relationship if low thyroid makes the individual so lazy he does not heed the usual signals. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on constipation.

SHOULDER IRRITATION

H. C. writes: Are calcium deposits on the shoulder tips the same as bursitis or arthritis?

REPLY

These deposits develop as a result of bursitis. They stem from long standing irritation and are somewhat analogous to scar tissue.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Critic Louis Kronenberger met a lady who had just returned from a big auction sale where she had bought practically everything, including an enormous marble ceiling from a dismantled Italian villa. And that was just too much for her long-suffering husband. "Where," he exploded, "are you going to put a thing like that?" The lady gave Kronenberger an apologetic shrug for her husband's gaucherie, and explained airly, "One can always use an extra ceiling or two!"

Up to the porte-cochere of an ultra-swank Summer hotel drove a gleaming Rolls-Royce, replete with liveried chauffeur and footman. In the back seat lolled a lady swathed in mink, and next to her sat a very little girl, also dressed to the teeth. The doorman bowed-low to the lady and lifted the little girl out of the seat. "Beautiful child," he observed. "Can she walk yet?" The lady cast her eyes skyward and said fervently, "Heaven willing, she'll never have to!"

McCarthy Ribbing Annoys Tydings; Kilgore Proves Fast On His Feet

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Years ago when demagogues were demagogues it wasn't safe to speak to anyone around the Senate. In fact, Sen. Boies Penrose, the famed boss of Pennsylvania, once had an elevator boy fired for saying good morning.

Nowadays, however, most Senators speak. Some speak for fear they'll offend a constituent; some because they are just naturally friendly, and one or two because they like to bedevil others.

Which category the following falls into we will let the reader judge for himself. But Senator Cooper of Kentucky, one of the few Republicans who has announced he would vote to censure McCarthy, was waiting for a Senate elevator, when ex-Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, who was defeated by McCarthy, approached. They spoke pleasantly and cordially.

Then, out of nowhere, McCarthy himself joined them, accompanied by his pudgy assistant, ex-FBI Investigator Frank Carr. In McCarthy's hand was a wooden map pointer such as is used by geography teachers to illustrate a map. As McCarthy approached the elevator he reached out with the pointer and jokingly tapped Cooper on the shoulder.

"Well, John," he said, just as if Cooper were his most intimate friend. "How's the campaign going?"

Cooper, who saw a grain of humor in the situation, managed to smile as he replied, "Oh, not too bad, Joe."

McCarthy tapped Cooper a couple more times with his wand, but, finding bear-baiting such a friendly bear as Cooper not much fun, he turned to Tydings, whose photo he had once faked in a friendly pose with Earl Browder, thereby causing Tydings' defeat.

Chuckling, Joe poked the ex-Senator from Maryland in the ribs with the wooden wand and asked how he was.

"I don't want any part of you," replied Tydings, with as much dignity as a man can muster when his ribs are poked.

Whereupon McCarthy, who claims to have studied his fighting techniques under Indian Charlie, went into gales of laughter. Poking Tydings again, he announced: "Do you know my assistant, Mr. Carr?"

Carr seemed hurt to observe anyone show a lack of respect for his boss, but this only seemed to make Joe laugh all the louder.

As the group got on the elevator, Joe continued his taunting. "It sure is good to see you again, Millard," he said, this time tapping his political foe on the shoulder instead of the ribs.

When the elevator door opened and the parting of the ways came, Joe wished his critics a cheery goodbye, once again waving his wand.

German Property Lobby

One backstage factor that helped put roadblocks in the path of the return-the-German-property lobby was a reminder that the German lobby had spent several millions for the return of industrial property after World War I, only to use it against the United States in World War II.

One of those who reminded Senators of the facts was Howard Ambruster, author of "Treason's Peace," who recalled the backstage bribery and underhanded lobbying after the first war, as follows:

Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian under Harding, was convicted of taking huge bribes from German agents to permit the return of German property.

Harry Dougherty, Attorney General under Harding, was also charged with taking German bribes, but got off, thanks to a hung jury which voted eleven to one for conviction.

In 1922, Senator William King of Utah introduced a resolution to investigate the alleged lobby of the new American coal and tar dyes industry which was competing against the Germans. King urged that German property be returned.

Eight years later, a Senate committee brought out the fact that Senator King had received $1,000 in cash as a campaign contribution from Dr. Eugene R. Pickrell, former Government Employe, then a lobbyist for German dye interests.

One of those working for the return of German property was former Congressman Herman Metz of New York, who stated publicly: "So much is made of this bribing of the dyers . . . . the Germans are not doing it; it was their agents here."

During and after World War I various German documents were seized, show how important a part bribery had played in influencing Washington. On Jan. 22, 1917, German Ambassador Count von Berndorff sent a message to the Berlin Foreign Office asking for authority to pay out $50,000 "as on former occasions" to influence Congress.

Speedy Kilgore

In the middle of the lengthy farm debate, Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia broke a record for brevity. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin had just finished talking about the plight of Wisconsin dairy farmers, and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was itching to inform his colleagues about depressed conditions among wheat farmers, when the gentleman from West Virginia managed to signal his friend, Lyndon Johnson.

By unanimous consent, debate on the bill had been limited, and Johnson, who controlled the time for the Democrats, didn't have much left. But he said, "I yield half a minute to the Senator from West Virginia."

Kilgore had hardly got to his feet before his time had expired. Accustomed to the usual Senate rule of unlimited debate, he had just warmed up when the Vice President banged the gavel.

"The time of the gentleman has expired," he announced.

"I yield the gentleman from West Virginia an additional half second," announced Johnson, jumping to his feet.

This time Kilgore was lightning fast. He inserted in the Congressional Record an editorial favoring ex-Assistant Postmaster general John C. Allen and sat down.

The H-Bomb Fall-Out

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Some days ago, Sir Winston Churchill solemnly told the House of Commons that "tremendous changes have taken place in the whole strategic position in the world, which make the thoughts which were well-founded and well-knit-together a year ago utterly obsolete."

What the great old man was here referring to is is a fact that is also agitating the inner circle of the American government. In brief, the hydrogen bomb has turned out to be an even more hideous and destructive weapon than was planned and expected.

Its well known blast and heat effects are sufficiently terrible. The heat and blast from a five megaton bomb, for example, will devastate an area of more than 300 square miles around Ground Zero. But it has now been discovered that in certain special cases, the heat and blast may be no more than the percussion cap of a much larger phenomenon.

This phenomenon is the radioactive "fall-out" that showered the Japanese fishing boat, "Fortunate Dragon," and several of the inhabited Marshall Island with noxious ash. The particular bomb that brought misfortune to the Marshall Islanders and the crew of the "Fortunate Dragon" ripped a huge chunk of material out of the earth's skin. And all this mass of material, mostly coral, which pulverizes easily, ascended into the bomb cloud.

But this great quantity of dust had considerable weight. Hence it fell quickly out of the cloud. And this fall-out of strongly radioactive particles occurred over a very large area, as can be gathered from the ackuowledged fact that "Fortunate Dragon" was eighty miles away from Ground Zero.

Judging by what happened in the Pacific, the fallout from new-style H-bombs may be expected to cover a lozenge-shaped area whose dimensions will depend upon the force and direction of the prevailing wind.

The fact that this kind of noxious fall-out must probably be expected, obviously transforms the new H-bomb from a city-destroying weapon to a province-crippling weapon. For example, one of the new H-bombs would not merely consume the city of Washington in its blast and heat. It would also cover a surrounding area about the size of the state of Maryland with dangerously radioactive matter.

It is some consolation—although not a very great one—that the Marshall Islanders and the crew of the "Fortunate Dragon" survived their experience. But although they did not die, some became very ill indeed.

The thing is quite bad enough, at any rate, to have the most far-reaching meaning. Because of it, the American Civil Defense Administration has torn up its old plans. Byt the same token, Prime Minister Churchill used this new phenomenon to justify the abandonment of Britain's great Suez base. Churchill was saying, in effect, that the Suez base, which stretches for a hundred miles along the Canal, was now too vulnerable to have real value.

All the evidence shows that this is a new thing, and a thing, furthermore, for which Dr. Edward Teller and the other planners of the Pacific H-bomb tests were quite unprepared.

The newness is proven by Sir Winston's assertion that his "tremendous changes" occurred within the last twelve months, which means that these changes were not produced by our first H-bomb test in 1952. The surprise of Teller and his co-planners attested by the fact that "Fortunate Dragon" and the Marshall atolls that experienced noxious fall-out were far beyond the limits of the predicted danger area.

No doubt Teller expected that his new H-bomb would behave like its predecessor, and like the many A-bombs tested. All these bombs of course produced radioactive clouds. The first H-bomb also tore a great chunk from the earth's surface—indeed it wiped the test atoll from the face of the ocean. But in all these previous cases, the particles forming the cloud had no great weight. Hence almost the whole cloud ascended to the upper air, to be picked up by the stratospheric winds that blow westward around the earth.

There was fall-out in the end, but it was always far from Ground Zero, and the radioactivity of the particles had so greatly degenerated that they were no longer noxious. For example, the cloud of one of the Nevada A-bombs fell out over Long Island, but it was no longer noxious, and no one knew about it but the Atomic Energy Commission

The inference is obvious, therefore, that the difference between the new H-bomb and the other weapons is that the new bomb produces a cloud of fairly heavy particles. And these, being fairly heavy, fall out immediately and locally while they are still dangerous to life. To all this, only one point needs to be added—the H-bomb tested by the Soviets last summer was of the new type.

Framing Pakistan Constitution Tedious Job; Work On Document In Eighth Year

Editor's Note—It has been seven years since the British withdrawal from India permitted the formation of the independent nation of Pakistan. Yet that country still has no constitution. In this final article on the United States' new ally in Asia, a correspondent who toured the country extensively outlines the background of the long debate.

By EUGENE LEVIN

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 12 (AP)—Getting a constitution written for Pakistan is turning out to be a seemingly endless job.

The country's lawmakers have been at work on the document for seven years. They plan to finish their work by the end of 1954, but few in Karachi expect them to succeed.

A major stumbling block—the composition of the country's parliament—has been solved with a compromise idea borrowed from the framers of the United States Constitution.

However, other difficulties persist. No solution has been offered to antagonisms stirred by rivalry between Pakistan's different provinces and language groups. The question of a Moslem state has been debated—extremist religious factions demanding a state based on rigid Islamic traditions and customs, more progressive elements seeking to balance the teachings of the Koran with their ideas of modern democracy.

One important stumbling stone is strictly political—the fear among some constituent assembly members that they will be without a job as soon as the constitution is written.

Elections for a new national parliament are to be held as soon as the constitution is finished. This parliament will replace the constituent assembly, which has been handling the day-to-day legislative work in addition to its constitution writing task.

The constituent assembly was elected in 1947, at the time Britain granted independence to the subcontinent, partitioned into Pakistan and free India. The Moslem League as the chief architect of Pakistan's creation, easily won that election, obtaining 58 of the assembly's 78 seats.

When India finished its own constitution writing at the end of 1949, the pride of many Pakistanis was hurt. They were disappointed that India should get the jump in establishing itself as a republic.

Spurred by the bitterness that has risen between India and Pakistan, these Pakistanis openly criticized the constituent assembly and suggested its members were more intent on remaining in office than completing their work.

The old complaint came up again following the thumping provincial election victory of the United Front over the Moslem League four months ago in East Pakistan.

Since then, leaders of the Front have called for new national elections, saying the assembly elected seven years ago no longer reflects the political complexion of the country. Supporters of the Front have charged the Moslem League will delay finishing the constitution for fear of losing its hold on the national government.

The fight between the East and West Pakistans has underlined other disputes delaying the constitution making. Size is a factor. East Pakistan is made up of the single province of East Bengal. It has 44 million of the country's total 76 million population. West Pakistan, with less than half the population, has four provincial units.

Each of the West Pakistan provincial units have demanded parliamentary representation equal with East Bengal. The only West Pakistan province approaching East Bengal in size is the Punjab with about 19 millions. East Bengalis have argued they should control parliament.

A similar problem, a fight between big and little states, dogged the American founding fathers in the 18th century. The government's solution here was to borrow the American compromise, creating two houses of parliament.

The proposed Pakistan parliament would consist of an upper house, similar to the U.S. Senate, made up of 10 members from each of the five provincial units. This idea is intended to satisfy West Pakistan. The lower house modeled after the U.S. House of Representatives, would have 300 members with 165 — a majority — coming from East Pakistan.

Members of the lower house would be elected directly by the people. Upper house members would be picked by the provincial legislatures.

The draft constitution provides that the Head of the State, corresponding to a figurehead president, and the prime minister must come from the different parts of Pakistan — one from the East, and one from the West.

Another East-West conflict involves the national language. Urdu, spoken in the West, originally was selected. After the United Front victory, the Karachi government decided to give the Bengali tongue of the East equal status with Urdu. English would continue to be used for official government business for 20 years after the constitution's effective date.

Besides the East-West disputes, considerable time has been consumed in debates over Pakistan's structure as an Islamic state. The proposed constitution provides that no law should violate the Koran, the holy book of the Moslems. Teaching of the Koran to Moslems would be compulsory.

Extreme religious groups want the constitution to set out in rigid terms the description of the Islamic State. They object to provisions guaranteeing non-Moslems the right to worship as they please and to maintain their own religious, educational and charitable institutions.

The Koran contains many injunctions against usury — high interest in banking and investing— and prescribes many rules for fair business dealings. The constitution writers, unable to reconcile the teachings of the Koran with modern financial practices, have provided that fiscal and money matters will not be judged by Islamic principles for at least 25 years.

With the help of a British expert, the draft constitution is now taking shape rapidly. When the assembly finally votes on the document, its decision will be final.

The document will not be submitted to the people for their approval. However, the United Front and other opposition groups say they will not recognize a constitution written by the present assembly. A national election defeat for the Moslem League, therefore, could easily result in the scrapping of the constitution — and the more than seven years of hard labor in writing it.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (INS)—The provincialism of small-town America has been a source of material for generations of novelists, essayists and feature writers. But there is another and generally overlooked provincialism, and that is the insularity of a person reared in a big town and with no intention of leaving it except for a suburban cemetery.

It was an eye-opening experience for some of the New Yorkers, Philadelphians, Bostonians and Washingtonians who journeyed to Cedar Rapids and nearby West Branch the other day to sit and walk through Herbert Hoover's 80th birthday celebration.

This is another world, a quieter, happier and a good deal more secure world than that of hard pavement and t wering temple of finance or pleasure. Hoover's grandparents found it in a covered wagon, and thought it paradise. They carried no heavy tomes on soil fertility with them but basic love of soil assured them that this was a promised land—and many years later the machines of the Department of Agriculture calculated that 25 per cent of the total grade A land of the United States was contained in Iowa.

I ate fried chicken, home-made bread, sweet corn and applesauce off "First Methodist Church" dishes under a tent with Hoover the other day. The sweet scent of the fields around his incredibly tiny white birthplace came to us in freshening little bursts of breeze that billowed the tent and brushed away the flies. The ample, healthy, good-natured women of West Branch had worked through the morning on food, each expert to her own dish.

Across the wooden table from where I sat was a fine looking young woman named Mrs. Harold Heick, her little daughter and husband, who wore his "ruptured duck" button in his lapel. Mrs. Heick baked, frosted and decorated the 6-layer, 50-pound, 80-candle birthday cake. She was too shy to leave her place and go through the crowd watching Hoover cut the first piece, until I pressed a press-badge on her.

"I'm afraid it might not cut well," she said.

But it did, and the old man liked it, and so did a couple of hundred others. And there will never be another day in the lives of the Heicks quite like the early afternoon of August 10, 1954. No Broadway star, taking a sixth curtain call on opening night; no Hollywood babe, wet with tears and streaked with mascara as she accepts her Oscar, could top the quiet pride of Mrs. Heick. Each slice was a curtain call and an award.

All this area has a scrubbed look, to the eye of a New Yorker who has come to accept littered streets and the piled garbage of the night-watch as standard horizons. Scrubbed, scoured and orderly. The last time anybody checked on it the per capita income of Cedar Rapids was $7,000 per annum. There are no slums, no poverty, no young hoodlumism. Even the factory yards look clean enough to eat in.

The corn stood like green and golden palisades on several sides of the farm-like scene of the Hoover ceremonies in nearby West Branch—once upon a time called the West Branch of the Red Cedar Meeting (Quaker) of Springdale. Here and there, across green rolling fields placidly stood small fat herds of Herefords. Field birds were busy, and you could buy any kind of pop or ice cream near the little Hoover house, itself adorned with an almost over-powering trumpet vine.

The people of West Branch hope Herbert Hoover will come home again. They hope, too, that one of these years—still remote—he will come home for keeps and sleep beside his blacksmith father and hard-working farm-wife mother for eternity. He deserves the West Branch type of repose, after all those trying 20 years in the city, they feel.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWQOD, Aug. 12—(INS)—Audrey Hepburn isn't due back at Paramount until '55—but when she returns she'll star in "The House Of Mist," Don Hartman tells me.

"It will be a complete switch from the light, romantic roles Audrey plays in 'Roman Holiday' and 'Sabrina'," the Paramount production boss says. "The Maria Louisa Bombal novel is about an orphan girl who falls so hopelessly in love she almost loses her mind."

I have a hunch this change of pace for the lovely Audrey is a deliberate answer to some critics (including this one) who says she plays the same character all the time.

Well, Gene Evans can rest assured he's picked off the prize heel of the year. He goes to England next month to play the man who victimizes the blind, deaf and dumb girl in a charity racket in "The Story Of Esther Costello."

His pal Sam Fuller, who discovered Gene for "Steel Helmet," is writing and directing the Nicholas Montserrat novel for Romulus Films.

The two women roles are still wide open, although Joan Crawford and Barbara Stanwyck have been touted. Jean Simmons is high in the running for the pitiful heroine.

Now it can be told: The awards that were to have been presented to Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh at the premiere of "Gone With The Wind" were cancelled. Vivien didn't arrive as scheduled.

And Gable gave MGM a flat turn down!

He gave no reason, but I don't think it's too difficult to fathom. Clark was deeply hurt at the time of his departure from the studio, where he had been a star for 20 years. When he finished his last scene in his final picture, "Betrayed," no one came to wish him godspeed or farewell. He just got in his car and drove off the lot.

The many Hollywood friends (seems hundreds have called) asking when Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon will be here will be glad to know it's pretty definite now for August 24.

When LOP called from New York, after flying in from London Wednesday morning, she reported: "Bebe and Ben arrive in New York the 16. Then they go to Baltimore to visit Ben's sister for a few days before coming on to Hollywood."

The boss also told us that Barbara Lyon, their beautiful daughter, appeared on a TV panel in London and was so clever she was chosen "the girl of the week."

Hollywood in shorts:

If Faith Domergue and Hugo Fregonese aren't kissed and made up, they certainly gave a wonderful imitation of a reconciliation at Hollywood House.

Oscar Hammerstein took a party across the border to Mexico to the Cavern night club. One of his guests asked the orchestra to play "Oklahoma!" whereupon the group broke into a lively rendition of "La Paloma." Get it?

Judy Garland planned to stay just a day in Paris. But she's stretching it to three to pose for Dick Avedon, who is photographing a special layout of Judy for Harper's Bazaar.

Shirley Temple and Charles Black were guests of David Selznick at Ciro's after the "Gone With The Wind" premiere. In the same party were Merle Oberon, looking beautiful, with Dr. Rex Ross; and sitting sadly out of the range of the photographers flashing bulbs was Mrs. Victor Fleming, widow of the director of "Gone."

Mrs. Wendell Corey writes that when Wendell isn't actually performing in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" in Central City, Colo., he sits on the front porch of the hotel with his leg still in a cast. "He's playing front porch instead of 'Rear Window'," Alice reports.

Billy Daniels held his second show at the Mocambo until 1:15 to catch the premiere crowd from "Gone." Then he sang to Elaine Stewart with Bob Evans, Jack Warner and a party, Sonja Henie with socialite Alfredo De La Vega, the Dean Martins.

That's all.

Baseball Hazards — Beanball Protection

One day recently, Joe Adcock, first baseman of the Milwaukee Braves, hit four homers and a double at Ebbets Field against the Dodgers, tying three major league records and establishing several others. Adcock's hitting was a great contribution to the ruination of the Dodgers that afternoon.

The next day the two teams played again and, with the Dodgers trying desperately to catch the league-leading Giants, things were tight. Adcock, batting for the second time in the fourth inning, took one pitch, a strike, and waited for the next. The Dodger pitcher rocked back and let it go. The ball caromed off Adcock's head.

He could have been out for the season, but because he was wearing a plastic skull cap under his billed cap he was soon back in the lineup. In the rhubarb that followed, little credit was given the cap.

According to a wire service dispatch, only one man has been killed by a pitched ball in major league competition. But many have been knocked out temporarily or for the season. And a man once beaned is hardly the same when he next reaches the batter's box. It is estimated half the players in both leagues now wear anti-beanball caps of one type or another.

A beaning can be completely accidental, but that is tough to prove. The process of "moving a man back from the plate" is an honorable one among pitchers who are called upon to face batters with all sorts of strange stances. In the case of Adcock, the Braves assumed the Dodger pitcher to be guilty of throwing a deliberate beanball and said so.

Batters do all they can to make it tough for the pitcher, and they know that getting dusted off with a high one inside is one of the hazards. Not even the sharpest-eyed umpire can prove conclusively that the pitch that beaned someone was deliberate, so the growing trend toward anti-beanball caps seems most sensible.

These Days

General Of The Armies

When I read President Eisenhower's really stirring defense of General George Marshall, I could not help wondering whether he gave a thought to his old chief, General Douglas MacArthur, under whom he served for about nine years as Secretary of the General Staff when MacArthur was Chief of Staff and later in the Philippines. MacArthur too has served his country 52 years and has been acclaimed as the greatest General we have produced since Robert E. Lee. No matter whether one agrees with his views, it is impossible to question his stature.

General MacArthur, since his summary dismissal by President Truman and Secretary of Defense George Marshall, has become a businessman, selling electric razors, typewriters and carbon paper. Perhaps he is less beset by gnawing politics in his present lucrative position, but to many Americans, the wonder is that our government can afford to waste such a great talent, particularly as Asia remains our most pressing problem. MacArthur was dismissed for being right, as we now know, at a time when his views were politically embarrassing to the Administration in Washington. He was humiliated.

Is there to be no correction of the record or are we to wait until MacArthur dies when even those who today scorn him will find it in their hearts to speak and write panegyrics in his honor? What a cortege of distinguished figures will follow him then? Need we wait for that? Does it not make more sense to pay him the honor that is due him now, while he is alive, and while he can accept the gratitude of the Republic, his son standing by to recall all his life that his country has the emotional maturity to rectify a mistake?

It has been suggested that he be given the title, "General of the Armies." It is an honorary title, only borne by General John J. Pershing, given to him by a resolution introduced in both houses of Congress on July 19, 1919, and adopted September 4, 1919.

"General of the Armies" is not a new title in our history. The rank was first created by Congress on March 3, 1799. No one was appointed to it and it ceased to exist in 1802 until it was revived in 1919 for General Pershing.

The rank of "General of the Army," was created in 1866 and was held by Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. It lapsed in 1891, but was revived in World War II as a temporary rank until March 3, 1946, when it was made permanent, applying also to the Navy in the form of "Fleet Admiral." This permanent rank, "General of the Army," has been granted to Generals Bradley, Marshall, Arnold and Eisenhower. The rank of "Fleet Admiral" has been granted to Admirals Nimitz, Leahy, Halsey and King. It was not held by General MacArthur who was in command of our forces in Asia.

A curiosity of the Act creating the rank, "General of the Armies," is the last line of the Act, reading:
". . . . Provided, That no more than one appointment to office shall be made under the terms of this Act."

In other words, the Act could only be made to apply to General Pershing and to no one else. It cannot be made to apply to General MacArthur unless new legislation is passed. It would seem that that ought not to be difficult, considering General MacArthur's enormous services to his country. Of course, there will always be small, envious men, without sentiment for the monumental characters of this country, some of them whose roots are still in the European countries in which they were born although they have long been naturalized Americans, who despise MacArthur for his intensive nationalism, his singleness of purpose in upholding the prestige of his country. Such persons are bound to oppose any honors for General Douglas MacArthur, but they will be few and Americans can afford to ignore them and their small hatreds.

The time has come to remind the old General that the gratitude of the American people does not fade away. He has served his country valiantly and as he approaches his 75th birthday, which will come on January 26, it would be appropriate for the nation to give him this clearance of the record as a birthday present. What could be more gracious!

McCarthy Censure Before Probe Would Be Lynch Law

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "Lynch Law" and rule by the mob have been justly condemned in America as hardly a substitute for the right of every man to a full hearing on any charges made against him. But 12 United States Senators recently were ready to "lynch" a fellow senator, figuratively speaking, by voting to declare him guilty without giving him his day in court. Seventy-five other Senators decided to grant a hearing before passing judgment.

The record of this debate in the Senate shows how easily passion and emotion can result in "lynch law." It is significant because the idea of voting on the charges against Senator McCarthy without a hearing came almost entirely from Senators who have called themselves "liberals."

One of the principal charges made by the so-called "liberals" against the Wisconsin Senator is that he publicly asked Federal employes to give him information and urged them "to violate their oaths." This has been proved now to be vague charge, because it isn't clear just what law could be violated if the purpose in giving the data to members of Congress is to expose crime. Perhaps the best evidence available on the subject comes from those Senators who have actually dealt with precisely the same situation—the habit among Executive departments of ordering certain information withheld from Congress by calling it "secret."

Here is what Hugo Black, once chairman of a Senate investigating committee, wrote in Harper's Magazine in 1936:

"In the munitions investigation something new was tried. A munitions manufacturer said its correspondence in many cases referred to government munitions business and that this was confidential to the Government. It produced its papers under compulsion, but all over every document was 'confidential by order of the War Department.' Needless to say, the committee paid no attention to this stamp."

Mr. Black is today an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Should he, as a Senator, have been "censured" in 1936 for upholding the practice of investigating committees?

Also, the newspapers have been reporting on the trials and convictions of several collectors of Internal Revenue throughout the country, and the other day a former commissioner of Internal Revenue, Joseph Nunan, was sentenced to jail for wrongdoing while in office.

Senator John Williams of Delaware, Republican, has been a one-man investigating unit in exposing the crimes committed in the Bureau of Internal Revenue under Democratic administrations. Repeatedly he met roadblocks. He was refused informatilon but he got it nevertheless because various employes of the Internal Revenue Bureau helped him. If what the so-called "liberal" Senators are advocating today becomes the rule and executive employes cannot give anything to members of Congress, treason as well as corruption can be covered up.

Senator Williams told the story of the cover-up in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report on December 7, 1951 when he said:

"I made my speech on the floor of the Senate that day, numbered the files, and put the whole case of Mr. Finnegan in the 'Congressional Record.' And I made the statement then that all the evidence that I was putting in the 'Record' on that date was in the files of the Treasury and the Department of Justice here in Washington, that it had been in their files during the time the first grand jury was in session, and that it was not presented to the first grand jury nor to the second grand jury thus far. I said that both the Department of Justice and the Treasury Departments were responsible for withholding it."

The interview then continued:

"Q. When you made your speech, didn't you have in your hand the report of the Revenue Bureau's own intelligence unit?

"A. Yes, I had a reproduction of the files.

"Q. Isn't it a violation of some law for that information to get into the hands of a Senator?

"A. I don't know if it is or not. I'm not a lawyer. I had it and used it. I have always been told it is a crime to conceal a crime. When I got this information that there was a crime being committed, I had thought that I would be part of the crime if I didn't expose it, and so I exposed it. Had I not done so, it would still be covered up."

The data in question led later to the indictment of Collector Finnegan of St. Louis for misconduct in office. He was convicted and is now serving a two-year prison term. Senator Williams continued:

"I tried to call it to the attention of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, but I couldn't get his interest aroused. I tried to call it to the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury so that he could take appropriate steps, but I couldn't get his interest aroused. So I called it to the attention of the Senate."

Should Senator Williams be "censured" now? And what of the work done by Representative Cecil King, Democrat, and his associates on the House committee who investigated and brought to book persons in the Internal Revenue Service so high up that no employe under them would have dared to confront them with charges? It is widely known that honest employes inside the Government gave information and secretly helped these members of Congress. Should they be "censured" and accused of law violations? Yet that's the rule which the so-called "liberal" Senators now would enforce against Senator McCarthy merely because he repeated in a public address that is well known—that Government employes can and must help to uncover treason and corruption and other forms of wrongdoing even if they risk the disfavor of their superiors.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Our one-man foreign policy with Syngman Rhee is to keep him contented without being happy.

That's a tougher job than argufying your wife out of a new hat after she's in it.

Syngman points out that Moscow is shopping for Peninsulas. He says Korea is in apple-pie order if you mean being sliced in two.

Same thing happened in Indo-China when the French acted like my heavyweight. As a fighter he was out-standing.

Another peninsula unraveled its parallels when Indo-China was bifurcated on the Seventeenth dotted line. It could be the fault of the UN which is fishing with live bait.

Time will tell and we've become a nation of clock watchers. Somebody pulled the plug and world peace is shooting the rapids in soapy water.

Rhee and Dulles signed a mutual plaster one year ago this week. If peace negotiations with Moscow flipped we were to do something about it. We are. We are flipping too.

There was no more peace at Panmunjom than there is in a jungle night. Now our job is to keep Syngman Rhee on the line with the other yo-yos.

If he starts bouncing along the 38th Parallel he is liable to start more things than a monkey in a switch tower.

Reader Finds Many Of His Own Cures In 43 Years

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"I have read your column since 1916," writes T. M. My reaction to his comment is that since it has kept him well for 38 years, we will do our best to keep him in good health if he promises to read it for another 38 years. HOW TO KEEP WELL, the first health column, has appeared seven days a week since 1911. How many of you have been reading it for more than 38 years?

"I was surprised at your statement that a gouty person can eat eggs. If my husband eats even half an egg he gets a violent attack."

Eggs, unlike most protein rich foods, contain small amounts of purine, the offending chemical in gout. Sweetbreads, for example, contain large quantities of purine; bacon, beef, poultry, and fish are almost as bad. Many vegetables and cereals are richer in this substance than eggs are and I am, therefore, at a loss to understand why this woman's husband develops pain unless he is eating high purine foods at lunch.

A Chicago woman writes: "You physicians tell people with chilblains to wear woolen socks. The opposite has been my experience. When I was in fourth grade, I just about missed passing in class because every day my feet itched me so bad I was distracted. One day all my woolen socks were in the wash and I wore cotton. Either that day or the next, I experienced my first relief from chilblains and have never been troubled from that day on." I do not doubt this story, but have a hunch she never had chilblains. Allergy to wool is more likely. Early symptoms of the two conditions are difficult to tell apart and the sudden cure speaks for itself.

"Someone asked you about her youngster who always developed convulsions when the body temperature rose. I had this trouble with my daughter until she was 7 but found I could control convulsions by keeping her as cool as possible and placing an ice bag on her head. My daughter is now middle-aged and healthy."

A Toronto mother discusses our article on word blindness. Her daughter had a problem along this line that became evident at 6. The little girl was ambidextrous and could not keep up in printing with even the slowest pupils. One day, the mother was called by the school and told that little G. was mentally deficient and would never absorb any education.

A psychiatrist was consulted and the youngster was found to be normal mentally but suffering from word blindness, which is not uncommon in the ambidextrous. The school authorities finally permitted the youngster to compete with her classmates. This was a morale builder and within two years the child was doing well in her classwork.

NOT THE THYROID

F. J. writes: Could constipation be attributed to a low thyroid condition?

REPLY

No. There might be an indirect relationship if low thyroid makes the individual so lazy he does not heed the usual signals. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on constipation.

SHOULDER IRRITATION

H. C. writes: Are calcium deposits on the shoulder tips the same as bursitis or arthritis?

REPLY

These deposits develop as a result of bursitis. They stem from long standing irritation and are somewhat analogous to scar tissue.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Critic Louis Kronenberger met a lady who had just returned from a big auction sale where she had bought practically everything, including an enormous marble ceiling from a dismantled Italian villa. And that was just too much for her long-suffering husband. "Where," he exploded, "are you going to put a thing like that?" The lady gave Kronenberger an apologetic shrug for her husband's gaucherie, and explained airly, "One can always use an extra ceiling or two!"

Up to the porte-cochere of an ultra-swank Summer hotel drove a gleaming Rolls-Royce, replete with liveried chauffeur and footman. In the back seat lolled a lady swathed in mink, and next to her sat a very little girl, also dressed to the teeth. The doorman bowed-low to the lady and lifted the little girl out of the seat. "Beautiful child," he observed. "Can she walk yet?" The lady cast her eyes skyward and said fervently, "Heaven willing, she'll never have to!"

McCarthy Ribbing Annoys Tydings; Kilgore Proves Fast On His Feet

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Years ago when demagogues were demagogues it wasn't safe to speak to anyone around the Senate. In fact, Sen. Boies Penrose, the famed boss of Pennsylvania, once had an elevator boy fired for saying good morning.

Nowadays, however, most Senators speak. Some speak for fear they'll offend a constituent; some because they are just naturally friendly, and one or two because they like to bedevil others.

Which category the following falls into we will let the reader judge for himself. But Senator Cooper of Kentucky, one of the few Republicans who has announced he would vote to censure McCarthy, was waiting for a Senate elevator, when ex-Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, who was defeated by McCarthy, approached. They spoke pleasantly and cordially.

Then, out of nowhere, McCarthy himself joined them, accompanied by his pudgy assistant, ex-FBI Investigator Frank Carr. In McCarthy's hand was a wooden map pointer such as is used by geography teachers to illustrate a map. As McCarthy approached the elevator he reached out with the pointer and jokingly tapped Cooper on the shoulder.

"Well, John," he said, just as if Cooper were his most intimate friend. "How's the campaign going?"

Cooper, who saw a grain of humor in the situation, managed to smile as he replied, "Oh, not too bad, Joe."

McCarthy tapped Cooper a couple more times with his wand, but, finding bear-baiting such a friendly bear as Cooper not much fun, he turned to Tydings, whose photo he had once faked in a friendly pose with Earl Browder, thereby causing Tydings' defeat.

Chuckling, Joe poked the ex-Senator from Maryland in the ribs with the wooden wand and asked how he was.

"I don't want any part of you," replied Tydings, with as much dignity as a man can muster when his ribs are poked.

Whereupon McCarthy, who claims to have studied his fighting techniques under Indian Charlie, went into gales of laughter. Poking Tydings again, he announced: "Do you know my assistant, Mr. Carr?"

Carr seemed hurt to observe anyone show a lack of respect for his boss, but this only seemed to make Joe laugh all the louder.

As the group got on the elevator, Joe continued his taunting. "It sure is good to see you again, Millard," he said, this time tapping his political foe on the shoulder instead of the ribs.

When the elevator door opened and the parting of the ways came, Joe wished his critics a cheery goodbye, once again waving his wand.

German Property Lobby

One backstage factor that helped put roadblocks in the path of the return-the-German-property lobby was a reminder that the German lobby had spent several millions for the return of industrial property after World War I, only to use it against the United States in World War II.

One of those who reminded Senators of the facts was Howard Ambruster, author of "Treason's Peace," who recalled the backstage bribery and underhanded lobbying after the first war, as follows:

Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian under Harding, was convicted of taking huge bribes from German agents to permit the return of German property.

Harry Dougherty, Attorney General under Harding, was also charged with taking German bribes, but got off, thanks to a hung jury which voted eleven to one for conviction.

In 1922, Senator William King of Utah introduced a resolution to investigate the alleged lobby of the new American coal and tar dyes industry which was competing against the Germans. King urged that German property be returned.

Eight years later, a Senate committee brought out the fact that Senator King had received $1,000 in cash as a campaign contribution from Dr. Eugene R. Pickrell, former Government Employe, then a lobbyist for German dye interests.

One of those working for the return of German property was former Congressman Herman Metz of New York, who stated publicly: "So much is made of this bribing of the dyers . . . . the Germans are not doing it; it was their agents here."

During and after World War I various German documents were seized, show how important a part bribery had played in influencing Washington. On Jan. 22, 1917, German Ambassador Count von Berndorff sent a message to the Berlin Foreign Office asking for authority to pay out $50,000 "as on former occasions" to influence Congress.

Speedy Kilgore

In the middle of the lengthy farm debate, Senator Harley Kilgore of West Virginia broke a record for brevity. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin had just finished talking about the plight of Wisconsin dairy farmers, and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was itching to inform his colleagues about depressed conditions among wheat farmers, when the gentleman from West Virginia managed to signal his friend, Lyndon Johnson.

By unanimous consent, debate on the bill had been limited, and Johnson, who controlled the time for the Democrats, didn't have much left. But he said, "I yield half a minute to the Senator from West Virginia."

Kilgore had hardly got to his feet before his time had expired. Accustomed to the usual Senate rule of unlimited debate, he had just warmed up when the Vice President banged the gavel.

"The time of the gentleman has expired," he announced.

"I yield the gentleman from West Virginia an additional half second," announced Johnson, jumping to his feet.

This time Kilgore was lightning fast. He inserted in the Congressional Record an editorial favoring ex-Assistant Postmaster general John C. Allen and sat down.

The H-Bomb Fall-Out

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Some days ago, Sir Winston Churchill solemnly told the House of Commons that "tremendous changes have taken place in the whole strategic position in the world, which make the thoughts which were well-founded and well-knit-together a year ago utterly obsolete."

What the great old man was here referring to is is a fact that is also agitating the inner circle of the American government. In brief, the hydrogen bomb has turned out to be an even more hideous and destructive weapon than was planned and expected.

Its well known blast and heat effects are sufficiently terrible. The heat and blast from a five megaton bomb, for example, will devastate an area of more than 300 square miles around Ground Zero. But it has now been discovered that in certain special cases, the heat and blast may be no more than the percussion cap of a much larger phenomenon.

This phenomenon is the radioactive "fall-out" that showered the Japanese fishing boat, "Fortunate Dragon," and several of the inhabited Marshall Island with noxious ash. The particular bomb that brought misfortune to the Marshall Islanders and the crew of the "Fortunate Dragon" ripped a huge chunk of material out of the earth's skin. And all this mass of material, mostly coral, which pulverizes easily, ascended into the bomb cloud.

But this great quantity of dust had considerable weight. Hence it fell quickly out of the cloud. And this fall-out of strongly radioactive particles occurred over a very large area, as can be gathered from the ackuowledged fact that "Fortunate Dragon" was eighty miles away from Ground Zero.

Judging by what happened in the Pacific, the fallout from new-style H-bombs may be expected to cover a lozenge-shaped area whose dimensions will depend upon the force and direction of the prevailing wind.

The fact that this kind of noxious fall-out must probably be expected, obviously transforms the new H-bomb from a city-destroying weapon to a province-crippling weapon. For example, one of the new H-bombs would not merely consume the city of Washington in its blast and heat. It would also cover a surrounding area about the size of the state of Maryland with dangerously radioactive matter.

It is some consolation—although not a very great one—that the Marshall Islanders and the crew of the "Fortunate Dragon" survived their experience. But although they did not die, some became very ill indeed

The thing is quite bad enough, at any rate, to have the most far-reaching meaning. Because of it, the American Civil Defense Administration has torn up its old plans. Byt the same token, Prime Minister Churchill used this new phenomenon to justify the abandonment of Britain's great Suez base. Churchill was saying, in effect, that the Suez base, which stretches for a hundred miles along the Canal, was now too vulnerable to have real value.

All the evidence shows that this is a new thing, and a thing, furthermore, for which Dr. Edward Teller and the other planners of the Pacific H-bomb tests were quite unprepared.

The newness is proven by Sir Winston's assertion that his "tremendous changes" occurred within the last twelve months, which means that these changes were not produced by our first H-bomb test in 1952. The surprise of Teller and his co-planners attested by the fact that "Fortunate Dragon" and the Marshall atolls that experienced noxious fall-out were far beyond the limits of the predicted danger area.

No doubt Teller expected that his new H-bomb would behave like its predecessor, and like the many A-bombs tested. All these bombs of course produced radioactive clouds. The first H-bomb also tore a great chunk from the earth's surface—indeed it wiped the test atoll from the face of the ocean. But in all these previous cases, the particles forming the cloud had no great weight. Hence almost the whole cloud ascended to the upper air, to be picked up by the stratospheric winds that blow westward around the earth.

There was fall-out in the end, but it was always far from Ground Zero, and the radioactivity of the particles had so greatly degenerated that they were no longer noxious. For example, the cloud of one of the Nevada A-bombs fell out over Long Island, but it was no longer noxious, and no one knew about it but the Atomic Energy Commission

The inference is obvious, therefore, that the difference between the new H-bomb and the other weapons is that the new bomb produces a cloud of fairly heavy particles. And these, being fairly heavy, fall out immediately and locally while they are still dangerous to life. To all this, only one point needs to be added—the H-bomb tested by the Soviets last summer was of the new type.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. (INS)—The provincialism of small-town America has been a source of material for generations of novelists, essayists and feature writers. But there is another and generally overlooked provincialism, and that is the insularity of a person reared in a big town and with no intention of leaving it except for a suburban cemetery.

It was an eye-opening experience for some of the New Yorkers, Philadelphians, Bostonians and Washingtonians who journeyed to Cedar Rapids and nearby West Branch the other day to sit and walk through Herbert Hoover's 80th birthday celebration.

This is another world, a quieter, happier and a good deal more secure world than that of hard pavement and t wering temple of finance or pleasure. Hoover's grandparents found it in a covered wagon, and thought it paradise. They carried no heavy tomes on soil fertility with them but basic love of soil assured them that this was a promised land—and many years later the machines of the Department of Agriculture calculated that 25 per cent of the total grade A land of the United States was contained in Iowa.

I ate fried chicken, home-made bread, sweet corn and applesauce off "First Methodist Church" dishes under a tent with Hoover the other day. The sweet scent of the fields around his incredibly tiny white birthplace came to us in freshening little bursts of breeze that billowed the tent and brushed away the flies. The ample, healthy, good-natured women of West Branch had worked through the morning on food, each expert to her own dish.

Across the wooden table from where I sat was a fine looking young woman named Mrs. Harold Heick, her little daughter and husband, who wore his "ruptured duck" button in his lapel. Mrs. Heick baked, frosted and decorated the 6-layer, 50-pound, 80-candle birthday cake. She was too shy to leave her place and go through the crowd watching Hoover cut the first piece, until I pressed a press-badge on her.

"I'm afraid it might not cut well," she said.

But it did, and the old man liked it, and so did a couple of hundred others. And there will never be another day in the lives of the Heicks quite like the early afternoon of August 10, 1954. No Broadway star, taking a sixth curtain call on opening night; no Hollywood babe, wet with tears and streaked with mascara as she accepts her Oscar, could top the quiet pride of Mrs. Heick. Each slice was a curtain call and an award.

All this area has a scrubbed look, to the eye of a New Yorker who has come to accept littered streets and the piled garbage of the night-watch as standard horizons. Scrubbed, scoured and orderly. The last time anybody checked on it the per capita income of Cedar Rapids was $7,000 per annum. There are no slums, no poverty, no young hoodlumism. Even the factory yards look clean enough to eat in.

The corn stood like green and golden palisades on several sides of the farm-like scene of the Hoover ceremonies in nearby West Branch—once upon a time called the West Branch of the Red Cedar Meeting (Quaker) of Springdale. Here and there, across green rolling fields placidly stood small fat herds of Herefords. Field birds were busy, and you could buy any kind of pop or ice cream near the little Hoover house, itself adorned with an almost over-powering trumpet vine.

The people of West Branch hope Herbert Hoover will come home again. They hope, too, that one of these years—still remote—he will come home for keeps and sleep beside his blacksmith father and hard-working farm-wife mother for eternity. He deserves the West Branch type of repose, after all those trying 20 years in the city, they feel.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWQOD, Aug. 12—(INS)—Audrey Hepburn isn't due back at Paramount until '55—but when she returns she'll star in "The House Of Mist," Don Hartman tells me.

"It will be a complete switch from the light, romantic roles Audrey plays in 'Roman Holiday' and 'Sabrina'," the Paramount production boss says. "The Maria Louisa Bombal novel is about an orphan girl who falls so hopelessly in love she almost loses her mind."

I have a hunch this change of pace for the lovely Audrey is a deliberate answer to some critics (including this one) who says she plays the same character all the time.

Well, Gene Evans can rest assured he's picked off the prize heel of the year. He goes to England next month to play the man who victimizes the blind, deaf and dumb girl in a charity racket in "The Story Of Esther Costello."

His pal Sam Fuller, who discovered Gene for "Steel Helmet," is writing and directing the Nicholas Montserrat novel for Romulus Films.

The two women roles are still wide open, although Joan Crawford and Barbara Stanwyck have been touted. Jean Simmons is high in the running for the pitiful heroine.

Now it can be told: The awards that were to have been presented to Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh at the premiere of "Gone With The Wind" were cancelled. Vivien didn't arrive as scheduled.

And Gable gave MGM a flat turn down!

He gave no reason, but I don't think it's too difficult to fathom. Clark was deeply hurt at the time of his departure from the studio, where he had been a star for 20 years. When he finished his last scene in his final picture, "Betrayed," no one came to wish him godspeed or farewell. He just got in his car and drove off the lot.

The many Hollywood friends (seems hundreds have called) asking when Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon will be here will be glad to know it's pretty definite now for August 24.

When LOP called from New York, after flying in from London Wednesday morning, she reported: "Bebe and Ben arrive in New York the 16. Then they go to Baltimore to visit Ben's sister for a few days before coming on to Hollywood."

The boss also told us that Barbara Lyon, their beautiful daughter, appeared on a TV panel in London and was so clever she was chosen "the girl of the week."

Hollywood in shorts:

If Faith Domergue and Hugo Fregonese aren't kissed and made up, they certainly gave a wonderful imitation of a reconciliation at Hollywood House.

Oscar Hammerstein took a party across the border to Mexico to the Cavern night club. One of his guests asked the orchestra to play "Oklahoma!" whereupon the group broke into a lively rendition of "La Paloma." Get it?

Judy Garland planned to stay just a day in Paris. But she's stretching it to three to pose for Dick Avedon, who is photographing a special layout of Judy for Harper's Bazaar.

Shirley Temple and Charles Black were guests of David Selznick at Ciro's after the "Gone With The Wind" premiere. In the same party were Merle Oberon, looking beautiful, with Dr. Rex Ross; and sitting sadly out of the range of the photographers flashing bulbs was Mrs. Victor Fleming, widow of the director of "Gone."

Mrs. Wendell Corey writes that when Wendell isn't actually performing in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" in Central City, Colo., he sits on the front porch of the hotel with his leg still in a cast. "He's playing front porch instead of 'Rear Window'," Alice reports.

Billy Daniels held his second show at the Mocambo until 1:15 to catch the premiere crowd from "Gone." Then he sang to Elaine Stewart with Bob Evans, Jack Warner and a party, Sonja Henie with socialite Alfredo De La Vega, the Dean Martins.

That's all.

Local Resident's Car Featured In Magazine

A sports auto built by a Cumberland man is featured in the September issue of Motor Trend, a national magazine about automobiles.

The material and two pictures appearing in the periodical were furnished by Jimmie D. Flanagan, of Ridgeley.

The auto is the Henry J. made by James E. Hare, local used car dealer.

Here's what the national magazine has to say about it:

"A natural for progress on wheels is what we said when Jimmie Flanagan supplied us with these photos of James E. Hare's custom Henry J. We'd call it improving the breed. The Cumberland, Md., car has been lowered and carries a Plymouth cowl and windshield, a Nash dashboard and a rear deck made from a '51 Ford hood. A '51 Chevy Bel Air donated its top and bumpers to the cause. Extended rear fenders, handmade fender skirts and a 15-coat red and black lacquer finish are a few of its feautres. Who said the South will rise again. Maybe it applies to customizing."

Children To Meet For Revue Today

The children who belong to Gephart playlot and plan to be in the line of march of the parade this evening will meet today at 10 a. m. at the playground.

Children who will participate in the wheels-on-parade section of the playground unit in the parade are to meet at the playlot at 10:30 a. m. today to decorate vehicles.

Playfield leaders said children may still register this morning to march in the parade.

Air Reserve Unit Will Meet Today

Cumberland Flight E of the 9018th Air Reserve Squadron of Altoona will meet today at 8 p. m. in the ORC Armory, Footer Building.

Tentatively scheduled for this meeting are combat films and lectures on methods of psychological warfare employed in modern times.

Capt. Ernest Fauss announces that Sgt. Elwood Fletcher of the Altoona Squadron headquarters will be on hand to answer any questions that might arise during the meeting. Those members of the Air Reserve who are interested in joining the local flight are urged to be present, Capt. Fauss said.

Fine Suspended In Firearm Case

An 18-year-old youth, Raymond Mills, of 708 North Mechanic Street, was given a suspended $25 fine yesterday in Police Court after he pleaded not guilty to discharging a firearm within the city limits.

Accused of violating Chapter 14, Section 23, of the City Code, the defendant did not deny firing a .22 calibre rifle. However, he raised a question as to the city limit border.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason informed him that police have jurisdiction to go one mile beyond the limits to make an arrest.

Lt. James E. Van and Officer J. Henry Stitcher apprehended the youth Wednesday afternoon after headquarters received a complaint about shooting on Niagara Street. Investigating, they found the shooting was going across Wills Creek Avenue along the mountainside.

In suspending the fine, Magistrate Mason warned Mills and advised him to go a mile beyond the city limits for target practice. The youth's father said he had had the gun for seven or eight years.

Assault Decision Is Deferred

No decision was handed down yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court in the assault and battery case of Oberlin Rawlings, 32, of Bloomington, who admitted striking his divorced wife on Baltimore Street last month.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick said sentencing of Rawlings has been postponed indefinitely pending the completion of an investigation of his background by David M. Steele, probation officer for Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Rawlings was arrested July 28 after the disturbance near Liberty Street. At a hearing August 5, he pleaded guilty and was released under $1,000 bond.

Area Soldier Acquitted On Motor Charge Here

A 20-year-old Corriganville soldier drew an acquittal verdict yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of unauthorized use of a vehicle after evidence showed the car he was going to purchase broke down in West Virginia and could not be returned to the owner at a specified time.

However the defendant, Pvt. Clyde Orville Kemp, who is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., was given a suspended fine of $10.75 for driving without a license. He pleaded not guilty.

Sought for the alleged auto theft since August 5, Kemp was injured Tuesday when he ran in front of an automobile driven by Lewis Q. Cowherd, 67, of 301 Decatur Street. The accident occurred at the corner of Liberty and Pershing streets.

Kemp suffered a right arm fracture and a cut under the chin. He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital where State Police questioned him.

City Police filed no charges in the local mishap.

Trooper James F. Lewis said Kemp was accused of taking the car of Hilda Ellen Davis, RD 2, Williams Road, as a prospective buyer.

During the tryout, according to the defendant, the vehicle developed mechanical trouble and was taken to a brother-in-law's garage. Trooper Lewis located the machine after talking to Kemp.

According to Kemp, he had been in the Post Office Building prior to the accident in which he was struck by the car, and was approached by two men who asked him where the Davis car was. He then fled and was struck by the Cowherd automobile while crossing Pershing Street.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick presided at the hearing.

City Is Featured In B&O Magazine

In the picture are Rev. Marius Elsener, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church; Rev. John Moore, who has a parish in Chinatown in New York, and the train's engineer and conductor, J. A. Staples and B. A. Gilbert, respectively.

The children, from the parish of Father Moore, were brought here through the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund and were housed at the homes of members of the Parent-Teacher Association of SS. Peter and Paul School.

4-H Members Will Display Calves At Cumberland Fair

Approximately 30 calves will be shown at the Cumberland Fair, August 23 to 28, by 4-H Club boys and girls.

The calves will be exhibited as the 4-H Dairy Calf Club project for the Fair. Judging will be based on growth, general appearance, records, and story of how the calf was raised.

Among the 4-H boys and girls who will show calves are Ronald Llewellyn, Midland; Fred Loar, RD 1, Frostburg; Nancy and Shirley Anderson, RD 3, city; C. K. Anderson, RD 3, Bedford; Edward Miller, RD 2, Frostburg; James, Lewis, Paul, and Pauline Miltenberger, RD 1, Ridgeley; Robert Moore, Mt. Savage, and David Greise, RD 3, city.

Holsteins, Ayrshires and Jersey calves are among the entries.

Also scheduled for the Fair will be a fitting and showing contest for 4-H Club boys from Allegany and Garrett counties in preparation for the state judging contest at Timonium next month.

The boys will fit and show their calves with judging of their efforts by a dairy calf specialist from the University of Maryland.

It has also been announced by Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, that two herds of Guernseys will be exhibited to round out the livestock show at the Fair.

Fred Downey, Williamsport, and R. A. McCauley Sr. Hagerstown will send the herd of Guernseys dairy cattle.

Marines Are Training At Camp Lejeune

The Sixth Special Infantry Company, Cumberland's Marine Corps Reserve unit, is in the midst of the last of two weeks of summer training at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

The first three days last week were spent on the rifle range where the entire company fired for qualification. The company had a high percentage of qualification with two men having the honor of firing expert rifleman, nine men firing sharpshooter, and 25 men firing marksman.

The two men who had the honor of firing the highest class in qualification were Pfc. James E. Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kaiser, of 318 Broadway, Cumberland, and Pvt. Patrick D. Souders, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Souders, of 216 Willowbrook Road, Cumberland.

Pfc. James E. Kaiser was presented a trophy for his outstanding marksmanship and firing the highest score in the company. He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is at present employed as a plumber's apprentice.

Pvt. Souders is also a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is the husband of Mrs. Carole Jo Souders, of 949 Maryland Avenue, Cumberland.

Others Qualify

The next group in firing the M-1 rifle is the sharpshooter bracket, included in this groups are: Captain Billy C. Menges, 539 Greene Street, Cumberland; Sgt. Harry G. DeHaven, Baltimore Pike, Cumberland; Tech. Sgt, Richard K. Jackson, 208 Avirett Avenue, Cumberland; Tech. Sgt. Francis M. Lee, Cresaptown; Pfc. James B. Madary, 115 Decatur Street, Cumberland; Pfc. Theodore R. Nines, River Avenue, Cumberland; Pfc. Donald E. Neder, Columbia Avenue, Mt. Savage; Pfc. Jack S. Turner, 50 Utah Avenue, Cumberland; Sgt. James I. Wright, 233 Henderson Avenue, Cumberland.

Those qualifying as marksmen were: Major Patsy Algieri, 602 Maryland Avenue, Cumberland; Warrant Officer Everett F. Gibbs, 85 Davis Street, Keyser; First Lt. William E. McProuty, Braddock Road, Cumberland; Robert V. Baker Sr., 6 Summerville Avenue, Cumberland; Pfc. Norwood B. Barnes, Bedford Road, Cumberland; Bashore A. Cross Jr., Valley Road, Cumberland; Pfc. Carl Z. Deal, Rd 2, Frostburg; Pfc. Ralph B. Donahue, Bedford Road, Cumberland; Pfc. James E. Elsworth Jr., 527 Pine Avenue, Cumberland; Pfc. David H. Evans, 548 Eastern Avenue, Cumberland; Cpl. John P. Getz, Rd 1, Hyndman; Pfc. John E. Green, Mt. Savage; Pvt. Arthur E. Ison, 118 Monroe Street, Cumberland; Pfc. David E. Kennedy, 403 Cedar Street, Cumberland; Cpl. Gerald M. Linn, 148 Washington Street, Cumberland; Pvt. John H. Little, 516 Fort Avenue, Cumberland; Tech. Sgt. Paul J. Martin, Mt. Savage Road; Sgt. George W. McElfish, RD 2, Cumberland; Pfc. Charles K. Saeler, Box 138, Ellerslie.

Sgt. George J. Schoenadel, 71 Narrows Park, LaVale; Pfc. James Shipley, 26 Williams Street, Cumberland; Pfc. James F. Shirley, Cresaptown; Pfc. Frank S. Snyder, Foundry Road, Mt. Savage, and Cpl. Joseph W. Stowell, Westernport.

Next on the training schedule was the testing period designed to check the knowledge gained by members of the unit during the past year at the home training center. The company placed high among units taking the test.

All of the men were granted liberty at one time. Several nearby beaches were the objective of the majority of the men, and with the temperature ranging around 100 degrees, all got their fill of sunshine.

The word from Major Patsy Algieri is that he is impressed with the speed the men displayed in absorbing the subjects being taught them. He was especially pleased by the scores attained at the rifle range. He stated the men now have a sample of Marine Corps life and have come through with flying colors.

Sports Center Beer Request Is Dropped

An application for a beer license for the Eckhart Sports Center has been withdrawn by Timothy B. Johnson, according to the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

A petition opposing the issuance of the permit had been filed recently with the board by 92 residents of the community. A hearing on the remonstrance had been set for next week.

Withdrawal of the application by Johnson cancels the hearing.

The petition, containing the 92 names, listed various reasons why the license should not be granted.

The Sports Center, the petition states, has a pool room that attracts a large number of youngsters. The remonstrants said the place is located only 150 feet from Eckhart Methodist Church, and added that a license for the center was twice refused in the past.

The remonstrants pointed out there are already four beer licenses in Election District 24 and added that Eckhart is near Frostburg where there are many more licenses.

The granting of the license, the petition stated, would be against the public peace and general welware. There is no police protection in Eckhart, the remonstrants said.

Local Resident's Car Featured In Magazine

A sports auto built by a Cumberland man is featured in the September issue of Motor Trend, a national magazine about automobiles.

The material and two pictures appearing in the periodical were furnished by Jimmie D. Flanagan, of Ridgeley.

The auto is the Henry J. made by James E. Hare, local used car dealer.

Here's what the national magazine has to say about it:

"A natural for progress on wheels is what we said when Jimmie Flanagan supplied us with these photos of James E. Hare's custom Henry J. We'd call it improving the breed. The Cumberland, Md., car has been lowered and carries a Plymouth cowl and windshield, a Nash dashboard and a rear deck made from a '51 Ford hood. A '51 Chevy Bel Air donated its top and bumpers to the cause. Extended rear fenders, handmade fender skirts and a 15-coat red and black lacquer finish are a few of its feautres. Who said the South will rise again. Maybe it applies to customizing."

Children who will participate in the wheels-on-parade section of the playground unit in the parade are to meet at the playlot at 10:30 a. m. today to decorate vehicles.

Playfield leaders said children may still register this morning to march in the parade.

Air Reserve Unit Will Meet Today

Cumberland Flight E of the 9018th Air Reserve Squadron of Altoona will meet today at 8 p. m. in the ORC Armory, Footer Building.

Tentatively scheduled for this meeting are combat films and lectures on methods of psychological warfare employed in modern times.

Capt. Ernest Fauss announces that Sgt. Elwood Fletcher of the Altoona Squadron headquarters will be on hand to answer any questions that might arise during the meeting. Those members of the Air Reserve who are interested in joining the local flight are urged to be present, Capt. Fauss said.

Fine Suspended In Firearm Case

An 18-year-old youth, Raymond Mills, of 708 North Mechanic Street, was given a suspended $25 fine yesterday in Police Court after he pleaded not guilty to discharging a firearm within the city limits.

Accused of violating Chapter 14, Section 23, of the City Code, the defendant did not deny firing a .22 calibre rifle. However, he raised a question as to the city limit border.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason informed him that police have jurisdiction to go one mile beyond the limits to make an arrest.

Lt. James E. Van and Officer J. Henry Stitcher apprehended the youth Wednesday afternoon after headquarters received a complaint about shooting on Niagara Street. Investigating, they found the shooting was going across Wills Creek Avenue along the mountainside.

In suspending the fine, Magistrate Mason warned Mills and advised him to go a mile beyond the city limits for target practice. The youth's father said he had had the gun for seven or eight years.

Assault Decision Is Deferred

No decision was handed down yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court in the assault and battery case of Oberlin Rawlings, 32, of Bloomington, who admitted striking his divorced wife on Baltimore Street last month.

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick said sentencing of Rawlings has been postponed indefinitely pending the completion of an investigation of his background by David M. Steele, probation officer for Allegany and Garrett Counties.

Rawlings was arrested July 28 after the disturbance near Liberty Street. At a hearing August 5, he pleaded guilty and was released under $1,000 bond.

Area Soldier Acquitted On Motor Charge Here

A 20-year-old Corriganville soldier drew an acquittal verdict yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of unauthorized use of a vehicle after evidence showed the car he was going to purchase broke down in West Virginia and could not be returned to the owner at a specified time.

However the defendant, Pvt. Clyde Orville Kemp, who is stationed at Fort Knox, Ky., was given a suspended fine of $10.75 for driving without a license. He pleaded not guilty.

Sought for the alleged auto theft since August 5, Kemp was injured Tuesday when he ran in front of an automobile driven by Lewis Q. Cowherd, 67, of 301 Decatur Street. The accident occurred at the corner of Liberty and Pershing streets.

Kemp suffered a right arm fracture and a cut under the chin. He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital where State Police questioned him.

City Police filed no charges in the local mishap.

Trooper James F. Lewis said Kemp was accused of taking the car of Hilda Ellen Davis, RD 2, Williams Road, as a prospective buyer.

During the tryout, according to the defendant, the vehicle developed mechanical trouble and was taken to a brother-in-law's garage. Trooper Lewis located the machine after talking to Kemp.

According to Kemp, he had been in the Post Office Building prior to the accident in which he was struck by the car, and was approached by two men who asked him where the Davis car was. He then fled and was struck by the Cowherd automobile while crossing Pershing Street.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick presided at the hearing.

City Is Featured In B&O Magazine

In the picture are Rev. Marius Elsener, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Church; Rev. John Moore, who has a parish in Chinatown in New York, and the train's engineer and conductor, J. A. Staples and B. A. Gilbert, respectively.

The children, from the parish of Father Moore, were brought here through the New York Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund and were housed at the homes of members of the Parent-Teacher Association of SS. Peter and Paul School.

Train-Jumper Released To Pa. Authorities

Harold R. Harshman, Washington, Pa., who had been lodged in Allegany County Jail since last Wednesday, pending sentence on charges of trespassing on B&O Railroad property, was released yesterday to Pennsylvania authorities.

Harshman last week delayed the start of a westbound fast freight train when he climbed under the slope of a loaded coal hopper and went to sleep. Train crewmen, on discovering Harshman, thought he was dead and summoned Lt. Robert Shrout, of the railroad police, who arrested him. The freight then continued its run, nearly an hour behind schedule.

He was then brought before Magistrate J. Milton Dick in Trial Magistrate's Court, and tried on the trespassing charge. Dick deferred sentence and remanded the defendant to the county lockup while an investigation of his background could be made.

City Police discovered that Harshman was an escapee from a mental institution in Pennsylvania, where he had been a patient for the past five years. Sheriff Edward R. Muir yesterday delivered the prisoner to Pennsylvania authorities, who took him into custody at the state line.

Charges against Harshman were dropped here.

the units file by the judges and city officials.

The Cumberland Concert Band will be stationed at Baltimore and Centre streets and will present a concert, beginning at 7:15 p. m. The band will also provide music for the units as they pass down Baltimore Street.

Playlot Queens To Ride

Pence said each playground will be headed by a float, followed by a costumed marching unit depicting the theme of the float. Each playlot queen will ride in a convertible in back of the marching unit, with the "Parade Queen" and her playlot last in line.

Prizes being offered for the parade include $25 for the best float, $25 for the best marching unit, $25 for the playlot which has the greatest percentage of enrollment marching, and $25 for the float which most realistically depicts its theme.

The order of the units will be: Gephart Playground, West Side, Virginia Avenue, Thomas Post, Ridgedale, Pine Avenue, Carver, North End, Mt. Royal, Mapleside, Lamont, Johnson Heights, Gephart, East Side, Columbia Street, Centre Street, and last, the Queen's Pennsylvania Avenue Playground.

All Hose Floats

The Pennsylvania Avenue unit will be preceded by the Twirling Ridgeleyettes.

Each playground will enter a float, its playground queen and her attendant riding in a convertible and a marching unit.

Playground officials yesterday were enthusiastic in their praise for the work which has been done to prepare floats, adding that one play center used 14,000 colored napkins twisted to form artificial flowers to decorate its float.

FOLLOWING a two-hour debate involving the odor and love life of fish, the House passes a watered-down version of the un-American trout bill introduced by Rep. Hamer H. Budge (R), Idaho (above). Under provisions of the bill, restaurants which serve "alien" trout will be required to post signs telling where the foreign trout came from. (International)

Roads Commission Files Condemnation Suit In Court Here

The State Roads Commission yesterday filed a condemnation suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Calvin A. Landis and the First National Bank of Cumberland as mortgagee of property in Election District No. 31 at McCoole.

The commission said some 9,000 square feet of Landis' property, for which the bank holds the mortgage, is needed for improvements to State Route 135 between McCoole and Westernport. A check for $700 has been deposited with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court as representing a fair value for the property.

Judge Issues Family Eating Regulations

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Judge Daniel A. Roberts yesterday placed these regulations on the eating habits of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Serges of Chicago:

Mrs. Majida Serges is to serve three square meals a day, including lots of shish kebab (an Assyrian dish of lamb and vegetables broiled on a skewer) and dolmas (vine leaves stuffed with meat).

Jacob Serges is to eat all his meals at home.

The agreement came in Circuit Court after Mrs. Serges, 52, filed a separate maintenance suit alleging her husband deserted her after nearly 30 years of marriage.

Serges, 58, a decorating contractor, said he left when she had refused to cook for him.

4-H Members Will Display Calves At Cumberland Fair

Approximately 30 calves will be shown at the Cumberland Fair, August 23 to 28, by 4-H Club boys and girls.

The calves will be exhibited as the 4-H Dairy Calf Club project for the Fair. Judging will be based on growth, general appearance, records, and story of how the calf was raised.

Among the 4-H boys and girls who will show calves are Ronald Llewellyn, Midland; Fred Loar, RD 1, Frostburg; Nancy and Shirley Anderson, RD 3, city; C. K. Anderson, RD 3, Bedford; Edward Miller, RD 2, Frostburg; James, Lewis, Paul, and Pauline Miltenberger, RD 1, Ridgeley; Robert Moore, Mt. Savage, and David Greise, RD 3, city.

Holsteins, Ayrshires and Jersey calves are among the entries.

Also scheduled for the Fair will be a fitting and showing contest for 4-H Club boys from Allegany and Garrett counties in preparation for the state judging contest at Timonium next month.

The boys will fit and show their calves with judging of their efforts by a dairy calf specialist from the University of Maryland.

It has also been announced by Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, that two herds of Guernseys will be exhibited to round out the livestock show at the Fair.

Fred Downey, Williamsport, and R. A. McCauley Sr. Hagerstown will send the herd of Guernseys dairy cattle.

Marines Are Training At Camp Lejeune

The Sixth Special Infantry Company, Cumberland's Marine Corps Reserve unit, is in the midst of the last of two weeks of summer training at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

The first three days last week were spent on the rifle range where the entire company fired for qualification. The company had a high percentage of qualification with two men having the honor of firing expert rifleman, nine men firing sharpshooter, and 25 men firing marksman.

The two men who had the honor of firing the highest class in qualification were Pfc. James E. Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kaiser, of 318 Broadway, Cumberland, and Pvt. Patrick D. Souders, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Souders, of 216 Willowbrook Road, Cumberland.

Pfc. James E. Kaiser was presented a trophy for his outstanding marksmanship and firing the highest score in the company. He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is at present employed as a plumber's apprentice.

Pvt. Souders is also a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is the husband of Mrs. Carole Jo Souders, of 949 Maryland Avenue, Cumberland.

Others Qualify

The next group in firing the M-1 rifle is the sharpshooter bracket, included in this groups are: Captain Billy C. Menges, 539 Greene Street, Cumberland; Sgt. Harry G. DeHaven, Baltimore Pike, Cumberland; Tech. Sgt, Richard K. Jackson, 208 Avirett Avenue, Cumberland; Tech. Sgt. Francis M. Lee, Cresaptown; Pfc. James B. Madary, 115 Decatur Street, Cumberland; Pfc. Theodore R. Nines, River Avenue, Cumberland; Pfc. Donald E. Neder, Columbia Avenue, Mt. Savage; Pfc. Jack S. Turner, 50 Utah Avenue, Cumberland; Sgt. James I. Wright, 233 Henderson Avenue, Cumberland.

Those qualifying as marksmen were: Major Patsy Algieri, 602 Maryland Avenue, Cumberland; Warrant Officer Everett F. Gibbs, 85 Davis Street, Keyser; First Lt. William E. McProuty, Braddock Road, Cumberland; Robert V. Baker Sr., 6 Summerville Avenue, Cumberland; Pfc. Norwood B. Barnes, Bedford Road, Cumberland; Bashore A. Cross Jr., Valley Road, Cumberland; Pfc. Carl Z. Deal, Rd 2, Frostburg; Pfc. Ralph B. Donahue, Bedford Road, Cumberland; Pfc. James E. Elsworth Jr., 527 Pine Avenue, Cumberland; Pfc. David H. Evans, 548 Eastern Avenue, Cumberland; Cpl. John P. Getz, Rd 1, Hyndman; Pfc. John E. Green, Mt. Savage; Pvt. Arthur E. Ison, 118 Monroe Street, Cumberland; Pfc. David E. Kennedy, 403 Cedar Street, Cumberland; Cpl. Gerald M. Linn, 148 Washington Street, Cumberland; Pvt. John H. Little, 516 Fort Avenue, Cumberland; Tech. Sgt. Paul J. Martin, Mt. Savage Road; Sgt. George W. McElfish, RD 2, Cumberland; Pfc. Charles K. Saeler, Box 138, Ellerslie.

Sgt. George J. Schoenadel, 71 Narrows Park, LaVale; Pfc. James Shipley, 26 Williams Street, Cumberland; Pfc. James F. Shirley, Cresaptown; Pfc. Frank S. Snyder, Foundry Road, Mt. Savage, and Cpl. Joseph W. Stowell, Westernport.

Next on the training schedule was the testing period designed to check the knowledge gained by members of the unit during the past year at the home training center. The company placed high among units taking the test.

All of the men were granted liberty at one time. Several nearby beaches were the objective of the majority of the men, and with the temperature ranging around 100 degrees, all got their fill of sunshine.

The word from Major Patsy Algieri is that he is impressed with the speed the men displayed in absorbing the subjects being taught them. He was especially pleased by the scores attained at the rifle range. He stated the men now have a sample of Marine Corps life and have come through with flying colors.

Sports Center Beer Request Is Dropped

An application for a beer license for the Eckhart Sports Center has been withdrawn by Timothy B. Johnson, according to the Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County.

A petition opposing the issuance of the permit had been filed recently with the board by 92 residents of the community. A hearing on the remonstrance had been set for next week.

Withdrawal of the application by Johnson cancels the hearing.

The petition, containing the 92 names, listed various reasons why the license should not be granted.

The Sports Center, the petition states, has a pool room that attracts a large number of youngsters. The remonstrants said the place is located only 150 feet from Eckhart Methodist Church, and added that a license for the center was twice refused in the past.

The remonstrants pointed out there are already four beer licenses in Election District 24 and added that Eckhart is near Frostburg where there are many more licenses.

The granting of the license, the petition stated, would be against the public peace and general welware. There is no police protection in Eckhart, the remonstrants said.

Train-Jumper Released To Pa. Authorities

Harold R. Harshman, Washington, Pa., who had been lodged in Allegany County Jail since last Wednesday, pending sentence on charges of trespassing on B&O Railroad property, was released yesterday to Pennsylvania authorities.

Harshman last week delayed the start of a westbound fast freight train when he climbed under the slope of a loaded coal hopper and went to sleep. Train crewmen, on discovering Harshman, thought he was dead and summoned Lt. Robert Shrout, of the railroad police, who arrested him. The freight then continued its run, nearly an hour behind schedule.

He was then brought before Magistrate J. Milton Dick in Trial Magistrate's Court, and tried on the trespassing charge. Dick deferred sentence and remanded the defendant to the county lockup while an investigation of his background could be made.

City Police discovered that Harshman was an escapee from a mental institution in Pennsylvania, where he had been a patient for the past five years. Sheriff Edward R. Muir yesterday delivered the prisoner to Pennsylvania authorities, who took him into custody at the state line.

Charges against Harshman were dropped here.

the units file by the judges and city officials.

The Cumberland Concert Band will be stationed at Baltimore and Centre streets and will present a concert, beginning at 7:15 p. m. The band will also provide music for the units as they pass down Baltimore Street.

Playlot Queens To Ride

Pence said each playground will be headed by a float, followed by a costumed marching unit depicting the theme of the float. Each playlot queen will ride in a convertible in back of the marching unit, with the "Parade Queen" and her playlot last in line.

Prizes being offered for the parade include $25 for the best float, $25 for the best marching unit, $25 for the playlot which has the greatest percentage of enrollment marching, and $25 for the float which most realistically depicts its theme.

The order of the units will be: Gephart Playground, West Side, Virginia Avenue, Thomas Post, Ridgedale, Pine Avenue, Carver, North End, Mt. Royal, Mapleside, Lamont, Johnson Heights, Gephart, East Side, Columbia Street, Centre Street, and last, the Queen's Pennsylvania Avenue Playground.

All Hose Floats

The Pennsylvania Avenue unit will be preceded by the Twirling Ridgeleyettes.

Each playground will enter a float, its playground queen and her attendant riding in a convertible and a marching unit.

Playground officials yesterday were enthusiastic in their praise for the work which has been done to prepare floats, adding that one play center used 14,000 colored napkins twisted to form artificial flowers to decorate its float.

FOLLOWING a two-hour debate involving the odor and love life of fish, the House passes a watered-down version of the un-American trout bill introduced by Rep. Hamer H. Budge (R), Idaho (above). Under provisions of the bill, restaurants which serve "alien" trout will be required to post signs telling where the foreign trout came from. (International)

Roads Commission Files Condemnation Suit In Court Here

The State Roads Commission yesterday filed a condemnation suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Calvin A. Landis and the First National Bank of Cumberland as mortgagee of property in Election District No. 31 at McCoole.

The commission said some 9,000 square feet of Landis' property, for which the bank holds the mortgage, is needed for improvements to State Route 135 between McCoole and Westernport. A check for $700 has been deposited with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court as representing a fair value for the property.

Judge Issues Family Eating Regulations

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Judge Daniel A. Roberts yesterday placed these regulations on the eating habits of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Serges of Chicago:

Mrs. Majida Serges is to serve three square meals a day, including lots of shish kebab (an Assyrian dish of lamb and vegetables broiled on a skewer) and dolmas (vine leaves stuffed with meat).

Jacob Serges is to eat all his meals at home.

The agreement came in Circuit Court after Mrs. Serges, 52, filed a separate maintenance suit alleging her husband deserted her after nearly 30 years of marriage.

Serges, 58, a decorating contractor, said he left when she had refused to cook for him.

90,000 To See College All-Stars Battle Detroit Lions

Pros Seek 4th Win In Row At Soldier Field

Collegians Win Six, Lose 12; Tatum May Start Three Terps

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Football's annual "dream game," the college All-Stars vs the Detroit Lions before 90,000 at Soldier Field tomorrow night, looms as one of the most interesting in the 21-year history of the spectacular series.

The clash which will be nationally televised (Dumont) and broadcast (Mutual) beginning at 8:30 p.m. (EST) presumably will find the favored pros somewhat hobbled because they must play under the collegiate limited substitution rule.

The 53 hand-picked collegians of All-Star Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland all played under the one-platoon system last season when college football discarded the free substitution rule.

The National Football League champion Lions, studded with specialists, had to rebuild their offense and defense for the one-night stand against the collegians.

The Lions, despite the switch to a two-way lineup, are favored by about seven points, mainly because they still have plenty of brawn and personnel seasoned by two years of NFL championship performance.

Pros Seek 4th In Row

The Lions won last year's all-star game, 24-10, and will be seeking the fourth straight triumph and 13th victory of the series for the professionals.

Last All-Star triumph was a 17-7 decision over the Philadelphia Eagles in 1950, the sixth for the collegians. Two games ended in ties.

Tatum and his staff have groomed the All-Stars in the split T, although the No. 1 collegiate quarterback, Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia, had to be introduced to the "keep-it" style of quarterbacking required in that formation.

However, sharp-shooting Bratkowski is expected to bombard the pros with his tosses, leaving the ball-carrying to the likes of Johnny Lattner and Neil Worden of Notre Dame, Lamar McHan of Arkansas, Chet Hanulak of Maryland, Paul Cameron of UCLA, and Rick Casares of Florida.

Have Strapping Linemen

The All-Stars have a strapping array of linemen in the collegiate camp, including two possible Maryland tackles starters, 250-pound Stan Jones and 225-pound Bob Morgan, and Notre Dame's bruising tackle, Art Hunter, a 230-pounder.

Probable starting lineups:

Godfrey Pays $40,000 For Son Eight Thirty

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—Television star Arthur Godfrey stepped into the Saratoga yearling auction sales ring tonight and paid $40,000 for a son of Eight Thirty.

The colt was assigned by Larry MacPhail, former baseball magnate who owns the Glen Angus farm in Bel Air, Md.

Real Go-Go Guy

TOP BASE stealer in the major leagues is Bill Bruton, soph outfielder of the Milwaukee Braves, who already has grabbed 23 sacks to lead both loops by a wide margin. Bruton, who began his career with Eau Claire in 1950, moved up to the Braves last year and led the league in stolen bases as freshman with 26. (International)

Burkemo Shoots 66; Sam Snead Is Among Seven Posting 68s

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP) — Red-haired Earl Stewart, Jr., of Dallas slammed a 65 and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., 1953 PGA champion, a 66 today to spearhead a mass assault on Tam O'Shanter's 36-36—72 par in the first round of the $150,000 "World" tournament.

The attack on the rolling 6,900-yard Tam course was so vicious that 54 players shot par 72 or better—one of the biggest par-busting barrages a golf course ever has taken in major tournament competition.

Stewart, shadowed by his 7½-year-old son, Chip, posted his 30-35 early then watched the other money-hounds try to outdo him in the first round of the 72-hole tourney.

Burkemo, who at 35 is two years older than the former Louisiana state national intercollegiate champion, nearly did it.

Fires Pair Of 33s

The affable Franklin pro, runner-up to Chick Harbert in the recent PGA tourney, fired a pair of consistent 33's for his 66.

Grouped at 67 were Johnny Palmer, the 1949 "World" champion; Bob Toski, 127-pounder who at 27 heads the younger pros in contention; and veteran Dutch Harrison.

Seven were jammed into the 68 bracket, including Sam Snead, the 1950 "World" winner, Henry Ransom, Dave Douglas, British Open Champion Peter Thomson, Shelley Mayfield, Claude Harmon and Jim Turnesa.

Patty Sets Pace

Meanwhile, Patty Berg took charge of the $12,000 "World" competition for women pros with a blistering 69, seven under women's standard.

A pair of teenagers, Mickey Wright of San Diego, Stanford University student and recent winner of the All-American, and Jackie Yates, Honolulu high school lassie, paced the women amateurs division. Each shot 77.

Palmer Tops Amateurs

Pirates Bag Dan League Pennant

Manager Charley Goetz's Pirates won the pennant in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan League last night by beating the Phillies, 7-0, at Penn Avenue Field, after the Giants had upset the Red Sox, 6-5.

The win gave the Pirates a season record of 13-2 while the Red Sox finished up with 12-3.

Donnie Lewis pitched a one-hitter, fanned 11 and faced only 21 batsmen. He also led his team's attack with two doubles and a single in four trips. The Phils' lone hit was Hudson's single in the first inning.

Carl Puffenburger ended the game by spearing a line drive and stepping on second base for an unassisted double play.

Jackie Weltman yielded only three hits and whiffed 14 as the Giants spilled the Sox. He also belted a home run as did George Cousions of the Red Sox with two aboard in the fifth. Davidson had two hits for the Giants. Scores:

The Elks advanced into the third place while the Moose dropped into fourth position.

Tommy Dunn's bases loaded homer sparked a K. of C. 5-run rally in the second inning at the expense of "Chug" Aman but the Eagles came from behind to put the game on ice for Relief Pitcher Allan Sheetz who also won the second game to make his season's record 13-4.

Lou Riehl smashed a grand slam homer and two singles, "Shorty" Brown had a homer and single, "Poon" Lewis a double and single and Jim Rice a four-bagger in the first game.

Emerson Upsets Hoad At Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 12 (INS) —Eighteen-year-old Roy Emerson of Australia, scored the upset of the tennis season today when he ousted his Aussie countryman, Lewis Hoad from the 73rd annual Newport Casino Tennis Tournament.

Emerson, unseeded in the foreign division, played perfect tennis in defeating Hoad, who is seeded No. 1 in the tournament, by a score of 3-6, 6-4, 8-6. Hoad made many errors and climaxed the match by double faulting match points in the final set to lose the match.

The defeat of Hoad left the tournament without its two top-seeded players.

Only yesterday, Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., scored the first major upset by eliminating Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, seeded No. 1 in the American division, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Reds Sink Cubs

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs did it with power again today as three home runs and a triple drove in enough runs to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 8-6, for a sweep of their three-game series. Ted Kluszewski, Jim Greengrass and Wally Post hit homers and Kluszewski smashed a triple.

Although the home runs accounted for the first five Cincinnati runs it was Kluszewski's triple in the seventh which drove in the runs that clinched the triumph. An eighth inning run just added to the margin.

The three circuit blows brought to eight the number hit by the Cincinnatians in the last two games with Kluszewski and Greengrass each getting three of them.

Except for Ernie Banks' two-run homer in the fourth, Bud Podbielan, the Reds' starting hurler, had the Cubs under control until he began to wilt in the seventh. They nicked him for two runs in that inning and then drove him out in the eighth as they scored two more.

All of Cincinnati's first five runs were scored on homers. Kluszewski's 32nd of the year came in the second and Greengrass' 21st was registered in the fourth. Meanwhile Banks had knocked in Chicago's first two runs with his homer.

Then in the sixth Post slugged one over the centerfield wall after Greengrass and Johnny Temple had walked with two out.

Cleveland Hands Detroit Tigers 10-1 Walloping

Rosen Clouts Homer, Lemon Notches 16th

DETROIT, Aug. 12 (AP)—Al Rosen broke out of the worst slump of his major league career today with a three-run home run that helped the Cleveland Indians' Bob Lemon defeat the Detroit Tigers 10-1.

Rosen had collected only two hits in his last 41 times at bat when he faced George Zuverink in the fifth inning. Larry Doby and Vic Wertz were on base with walks. The Cleveland third baseman hit a fly to right field—the wrong field for a right-handed pull hitter—and the wind helped it into the lower deck 360 feet from home plate.

It was his 20th homer of the season, but his first since July 31, and it drove in his first runs since Aug. 1.

Bob Lemon and Don Mossi, who pitched the ninth, limited Detroit to eight hits. Lemon won his seventh game in succession and his 16th against five defeats.

The Tigers spoiled Lemon's shutout on singles by pinch-hitter Jim Delsing, Harvey Kuenn and Bill Tuttle in the eighth inning. Kuenn's single extended his batting streak to 13 games.

Lemon also gave up three hits in the sixth—two singles and a double by Hoot Evers when right fielder Al Smith misjudged his liner—but a double play kept the Tigers from scoring.

He had a no-hitter for the first 3 2-3 innings, until Ray Boone doubled. The other hit was pinch-hitter Walt Droppo's single in the ninth.

Cleveland's first run came on Wertz's seventh home run, leading off in the second inning. But the Indians collected six more off Zuverink, who gave up nine hits in the first six innings, and added three runs and four hits off sore-armed left-hander Ted Gray.

Bernier Hits Ump, Is Out For Season

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (INS) — Fiery-tempered Carlos Bernier, the Hollywood Stars' outfielder and Pacific Coast League's No. 1 base stealer, was suspended for the remainder of the 1954 baseball season today.

League President Clarence Rowland suspended the Puerto Rican for bumping plate umpire Chris Valenti and then striking him in the face after being called out on strikes in the eighth inning of San Diego's 9-4 conquest of Hollywood at Gilmore Field last night.

If Game Is Needed

The Optimists will play the Exchange Club on Saturday at 10 a. m. at Stitcher Field if the game is necessary to determine the 4th place playoff spot in the Hot Stove League.

The race would end in a tie if the Optimists drop both games. If the Optimists beat the Jaycees today the Saturday game will be cancelled.

Optimists now hold 4th place with a 7-5 record. Times-News with its schedule complete stands 7-7.

Nats Split With Bosox

Mickey Vernon Gets Four Hits In Opener

BOSTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Jackie Jensen doubled in two runs and scored two more to support Frank Sullivan's effective seven-hit pitching for a 5-0 Boston second game victory over Washington today after the Nationals won the first 9-5.

Sullivan, in becoming the first Red Sox pitcher to reach nine wins, pitched his way out of a ninth inning jam to save the shutout—his third of the season. Three Senator singles filled the bases with none out but the tall rookie righthander got Tom Umphlett to hit into a doubleplay and Ed Fitz-Gerald to ground out.

Mickey Vernon was the slugging star of the first contest as he drove in three runs with four hits including a pair of doubles.

Lefthander Chuck Stobbs, who didn't give up a hit until Jensen belted his 19th homer of the season into the left centerfield screen to open the fifth, went all the way in the opener for his third victory over his ex-teammates. Stobbs ended up with an 8-hitter for his seventh triumph against as many losses.

The Thoroughbreds pulled out of the Pony League cellar yesterday by whipping the Colts at Fort Hill Field by the score of 6-5 in a game limited to six innings by darkness.

Mike Daugherty's walk and two wild throws produced the winning run in the top of the sixth frame.

Jim Norris, who supplanted Wayne Long in the fifth inning, got credit for the win. Frank Ritter, Colts' twirler, fanned eleven.

Gary Smith with three singles and Wayne Long with a double, and single paced the Thoroughbreds with the willow. Dick Rudolph hammered a triple and double and Donnie Diggs garnered two one-base knocks for the Dobbins.

Yankees Score Double Victory Over Athletics

Belt Four Home Runs For 5-4 And 7-1 Wins

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — The New York Yankees went on a home run binge today, smashing four into the seats as they swept a double-header from the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 and 7-1 to again trim Cleveland's American League lead to 2½ games.

Veteran southpaw Ed Lopat and righthander Tom Morgan made it four straight route-going performances by New York pitchers as the Yankees maintained their dominance over the cellar-dwellers. They have whipped the A's 11 times in 13 engagements and in all eight at Yankee Stadium.

Lopat had rough going in the opener, but was rewarded with his ninth victory of the season and only his second in seven weeks when Mickey Mantle unloaded his 25th home run in the eighth inning to snap a 4-4 tie. The homer came off Arnold Portocarrero, who was charged with his 12th loss despite a six-hit effort.

Irv Noren, Hank Bauer and Jerry Coleman were the other homer hitters. Noren accounted for three of the Yankees' first game runs with a triple that scored two mates in the first inning and his ninth homer of the year in the sixth.

Lakers Get Williams

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Association today said Bob Williams, 6-foot, 6-inch Florida A&M basketball star, had been placed on the roster of the Minneapolis Lakers.

The New York Knickerbockers had appealed to the league for permission to sign Williams, but Podoloff's earlier decision giving Williams to the Lakers was upheld, the league president said today.

90,000 To See College All-Stars Battle Detroit Lions

Pros Seek 4th Win In Row At Soldier Field

Collegians Win Six, Lose 12; Tatum May Start Three Terps

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Football's annual "dream game," the college All-Stars vs the Detroit Lions before 90,000 at Soldier Field tomorrow night, looms as one of the most interesting in the 21-year history of the spectacular series.

The clash which will be nationally televised (Dumont) and broadcast (Mutual) beginning at 8:30 p.m. (EST) presumably will find the favored pros somewhat hobbled because they must play under the collegiate limited substitution rule.

The 53 hand-picked collegians of All-Star Coach Jim Tatum of Maryland all played under the one-platoon system last season when college football discarded the free substitution rule.

The National Football League champion Lions, studded with specialists, had to rebuild their offense and defense for the one-night stand against the collegians.

The Lions, despite the switch to a two-way lineup, are favored by about seven points, mainly because they still have plenty of brawn and personnel seasoned by two years of NFL championship performance.

Pros Seek 4th In Row

The Lions won last year's all-star game, 24-10, and will be seeking the fourth straight triumph and 13th victory of the series for the professionals.

Last All-Star triumph was a 17-7 decision over the Philadelphia Eagles in 1950, the sixth for the collegians. Two games ended in ties.

Tatum and his staff have groomed the All-Stars in the split T, although the No. 1 collegiate quarterback, Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia, had to be introduced to the "keep-it" style of quarterbacking required in that formation.

However, sharp-shooting Bratkowski is expected to bombard the pros with his tosses, leaving the ball-carrying to the likes of Johnny Lattner and Neil Worden of Notre Dame, Lamar McHan of Arkansas, Chet Hanulak of Maryland, Paul Cameron of UCLA, and Rick Casares of Florida.

Have Strapping Linemen

The All-Stars have a strapping array of linemen in the collegiate camp, including two possible Maryland tackles starters, 250-pound Stan Jones and 225-pound Bob Morgan, and Notre Dame's bruising tackle, Art Hunter, a 230-pounder.

Probable starting lineups:

Andy's And Hout's Win In Rec League

Bob Williams hit two home runs, one with the bases empty and the other with the hassocks loaded, and Andy's whipped DeMolay, 16-6, yesterday in a High School Rec Softball League game.

Moe Barrett and Bob Andrews also hit for the circuit.

The Houts-Andy's game set for today has been postponed until Sunday at 2 p. m. at Fort Hill.

Hout's Construction defeated Wilson Hardware Company, 8-2.

TOP BASE stealer in the major leagues is Bill Bruton, soph outfielder of the Milwaukee Braves, who already has grabbed 23 sacks to lead both loops by a wide margin. Burkemo Shoots 66; Sam Snead Is Among Seven Posting 68s

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP) — Red-haired Earl Stewart, Jr., of Dallas slammed a 65 and Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., 1953 PGA champion, a 66 today to spearhead a mass assault on Tam O'Shanter's 36-36—72 par in the first round of the $150,000 "World" tournament.

The attack on the rolling 6,900-yard Tam course was so vicious that 54 players shot par 72 or better—one of the biggest par-busting barrages a golf course ever has taken in major tournament competition.

Stewart, shadowed by his 7½-year-old son, Chip, posted his 30-35 early then watched the other money-hounds try to outdo him in the first round of the 72-hole tourney.

Burkemo, who at 35 is two years older than the former Louisiana state national intercollegiate champion, nearly did it.

Fires Pair Of 33s

The affable Franklin pro, runner-up to Chick Harbert in the recent PGA tourney, fired a pair of consistent 33's for his 66.

Grouped at 67 were Johnny Palmer, the 1949 "World" champion; Bob Toski, 127-pounder who at 27 heads the younger pros in contention; and veteran Dutch Harrison.

Seven were jammed into the 68 bracket, including Sam Snead, the 1950 "World" winner, Henry Ransom, Dave Douglas, British Open Champion Peter Thomson, Shelley Mayfield, Claude Harmon and Jim Turnesa.

Patty Sets Pace

Meanwhile, Patty Berg took charge of the $12,000 "World" competition for women pros with a blistering 69, seven under women's standard.

A pair of teenagers, Mickey Wright of San Diego, Stanford University student and recent winner of the All-American, and Jackie Yates, Honolulu high school lassie, paced the women amateurs division. Each shot 77.

Palmer Tops Amateurs

Emerson Upsets Hoad At Newport

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 12 (INS) —Eighteen-year-old Roy Emerson of Australia, scored the upset of the tennis season today when he ousted his Aussie countryman, Lewis Hoad from the 73rd annual Newport Casino Tennis Tournament.

Emerson, unseeded in the foreign division, played perfect tennis in defeating Hoad, who is seeded No. 1 in the tournament, by a score of 3-6, 6-4, 8-6. Hoad made many errors and climaxed the match by double faulting match points in the final set to lose the match.

The defeat of Hoad left the tournament without its two top-seeded players.

Only yesterday, Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., scored the first major upset by eliminating Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, seeded No. 1 in the American division, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Reds Sink Cubs

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12 (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs did it with power again today as three home runs and a triple drove in enough runs to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 8-6, for a sweep of their three-game series. Ted Kluszewski, Jim Greengrass and Wally Post hit homers and Kluszewski smashed a triple.

Although the home runs accounted for the first five Cincinnati runs it was Kluszewski's triple in the seventh which drove in the runs that clinched the triumph. An eighth inning run just added to the margin.

The three circuit blows brought to eight the number hit by the Cincinnatians in the last two games with Kluszewski and Greengrass each getting three of them.

Except for Ernie Banks' two-run homer in the fourth, Bud Podbielan, the Reds' starting hurler, had the Cubs under control until he began to wilt in the seventh. They nicked him for two runs in that inning and then drove him out in the eighth as they scored two more.

All of Cincinnati's first five runs were scored on homers. Kluszewski's 32nd of the year came in the second and Greengrass' 21st was registered in the fourth. Meanwhile Banks had knocked in Chicago's first two runs with his homer.

Then in the sixth Post slugged one over the centerfield wall after Greengrass and Johnny Temple had walked with two out.

Cleveland Hands Detroit Tigers 10-1 Walloping

Rosen Clouts Homer, Lemon Notches 16th

DETROIT, Aug. 12 (AP)—Al Rosen broke out of the worst slump of his major league career today with a three-run home run that helped the Cleveland Indians' Bob Lemon defeat the Detroit Tigers 10-1.

Rosen had collected only two hits in his last 41 times at bat when he faced George Zuverink in the fifth inning. Larry Doby and Vic Wertz were on base with walks. The Cleveland third baseman hit a fly to right field—the wrong field for a right-handed pull hitter—and the wind helped it into the lower deck 360 feet from home plate.

It was his 20th homer of the season, but his first since July 31, and it drove in his first runs since Aug. 1.

Bob Lemon and Don Mossi, who pitched the ninth, limited Detroit to eight hits. Lemon won his seventh game in succession and his 16th against five defeats.

The Tigers spoiled Lemon's shutout on singles by pinch-hitter Jim Delsing, Harvey Kuenn and Bill Tuttle in the eighth inning. Kuenn's single extended his batting streak to 13 games.

Lemon also gave up three hits in the sixth—two singles and a double by Hoot Evers when right fielder Al Smith misjudged his liner—but a double play kept the Tigers from scoring.

He had a no-hitter for the first 3 2-3 innings, until Ray Boone doubled. The other hit was pinch-hitter Walt Droppo's single in the ninth.

Cleveland's first run came on Wertz's seventh home run, leading off in the second inning. But the Indians collected six more off Zuverink, who gave up nine hits in the first six innings, and added three runs and four hits off sore-armed left-hander Ted Gray.

Nats Split With Bosox

Mickey Vernon Gets Four Hits In Opener

BOSTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Jackie Jensen doubled in two runs and scored two more to support Frank Sullivan's effective seven-hit pitching for a 5-0 Boston second game victory over Washington today after the Nationals won the first 9-5.

Sullivan, in becoming the first Red Sox pitcher to reach nine wins, pitched his way out of a ninth inning jam to save the shutout—his third of the season. Three Senator singles filled the bases with none out but the tall rookie righthander got Tom Umphlett to hit into a doubleplay and Ed FitzGerald to ground out.

Mickey Vernon was the slugging star of the first contest as he drove in three runs with four hits including a pair of doubles.

Lefthander Chuck Stobbs, who didn't give up a hit until Jensen belted his 19th homer of the season into the left centerfield screen to open the fifth, went all the way in the opener for his third victory over his ex-teammates. Stobbs ended up with an 8-hitter for his seventh triumph against as many losses.

Yankees Score Double Victory Over Athletics

Belt Four Home Runs For 5-4 And 7-1 Wins

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — The New York Yankees went on a home run binge today, smashing four into the seats as they swept a double-header from the Philadelphia Athletics 5-4 and 7-1 to again trim Cleveland's American League lead to 2½ games.

Veteran southpaw Ed Lopat and righthander Tom Morgan made it four straight route-going performances as the Yankees maintained their dominance over the cellar-dwellers. They have whipped the A's 11 times in 13 engagements and in all eight at Yankee Stadium.

Lopat had rough going in the opener, but was rewarded with his ninth victory of the season and only his second in seven weeks when Mickey Mantle unloaded his 25th home run in the eighth inning to snap a 4-4 tie. The homer came off Arnold Portocarrero, who was charged with his 12th loss despite a six-hit effort.

Irv Noren, Hank Bauer and Jerry Coleman were the other homer hitters. Noren accounted for three of the Yankees' first game runs with a triple that scored two mates in the first inning and his ninth homer of the year in the sixth.

Keyser Kiwanis Will Observe 4th Birthday

Program Planned For September 28

KEYSER — Plans are being made for observance of the fourth anniversary of the Keyser Kiwanis Club on September 28.

Harrison Fuller, past president of the club, was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements at a session held Wednesday evening, following dinner at the Rosemont Restaurant on Armstrong Street. A. K. VanScoy, president, named W. E. Michael, Olin Hawk, John Catlett and James T. Handlan, Jr., on the committee to work with Fuller in selecting a place for the anniversary meeting and other activities.

The speaker for the occasion will be Edward Batten, Welch, West Virginia Kiwanis District governor, who has sent word that he will be present. Kiwanis Ladies will have a part in this special meeting.

Plans are also being made for the observance of charter night to be held on the first Wednesday in November.

Donald Hehr, a member of the club, gave a short and interesting talk on his views of activities in the U. S Senate and House, on a recent visit to the Capitol. He said, that so far as he could see, it was a blank, as there were only a few members of either house in session, and it lacked the lustre that he had expected. He said he realized that there were committee sessions, with members of both houses doing work in committee rooms.

Mineral Co. Tuberculosis Association To Be Revived

KEYSER—Mineral County citizens received letters from H. I. Idleman, president of the Mineral County Tuberculosis Association, asking them to attend a meeting of the association to be held Friday, September 3, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of reorganization.

Idleman said that reorganization is necessary as interest has not been shown to any great extent in the past several years, and that even the board that had previously been elected has not held meetings.

Idleman has served as executive since 1941, but in the last few years it has been impossible to get the board to function, and he believes that a new group may be able to take action that will enable the county to have a representative body that will work.

The president named all to whom he has appealed to attend a meeting for reorganization of the association in this county, where it is needed. Those he named are: Mrs. Lucy Ebert, Burlington; Laurin Swisher, New Creek; Mrs. Mary Willis, Piedmont; Mrs. Jacob Stoutamyer, Mrs. Nan Hott, Ross W. Prysock, Mrs. Henrietta Allen, John Barger and Mrs. Bertha Smith, all of Keyser; Raymond Hudson, Piedmont, Jesse Simmons, Ridgeley, Hubert Norman, Elk Garden, and Guy Adams and William Marker, both of Fort Ashby.

The meeting will be held in the office of the County School Board in the County Court House.

Of that number 25 residents who would be out of the state on election day voted in the circuit clerk's office. Twelve soldiers also voted the absentee ballot and four residents who were confined to their homes or patients in hospitals also voted.

Town House Bid Of $87 Accepted By Westernport

City Will Defer Police Car Purchase

WESTERNPORT—The $87 bid of Cecil Crowe, Kolberg's Hill, for the purchase of the Town House owned by the City on Front Street was accepted Wednesday evening at a special meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and City Commissioners.

Other bids received were from Garland Grove $50, and James W. Darr $36.75.

The city will construct a two-story building after the Town House is razed to be used as a garage and the storing of town equipment and supplies. The work on the project is expected to get underway in the early fall.

The purchase of a siren with a light on either end was authorized for the Potomac Fire Company. The suggestion to the city council was made by William Mayles, chief of the company.

It was decided to delay purchase of the new police car until 1955 models come out. Frostburg Auto Company informed the council by letter it was unable to furnish the town with 1954 model police car but if the city waits until the new models that the company would perform any labor free of charge keeping the town's present car in running condition.

The letter also stated production of 1954 models discontinued two weeks ago and they will go into production in November.

The city clerk was instructed to advise the auto company that the town will accept the offer.

Commissioner Carl McMillen was authorized to purchase a blackboard to be placed in the office of the City building. The four by six feet blackboard is to be purchased from Marcus and Company at $27.50, FOB Chicago.

The recommendation of Mayor Michael that an American flag be purchased to be placed on top of the city building was approved.

The purchase of four fire hydrants were authorized. Three of them that a pumper can be attached and the other one without that attachment.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

PARIS.

When Eurovision linked eight different nations speaking a total of six different languages, problems, naturally, sprouted like weeds. But, at the same time, the very differences among these nations excite interest in a television show. We in America can jump 3,000 miles and nothing changes very much, Red Skelton looking pretty much the same whether he emanates from New York or Hollywood.

Here, a jump of a couple of hundred miles means a drastic change in the scenery, in the people and in the way they do things, and Eurovision plans to exploit these differences. The French have decided that there is very little point in broadcasting to seven different countries something that is not unique to the originating country. The flower show from Switzerland was rather a failure because it didn't look much different from a flower show in France or Great Britain or Pasadena.

On the other hand, Beethoven's Fifth as played by an Italian symphony is quite different from the Fifth played by a London symphony, and the very differences to music lovers are a bridge to understanding between the two nations. Language, which is not so much a problem here as it would be in the states, is still a formidable barrier. Plays, the French believe, cannot be offered to people speaking six different tongues, but opera probably can. Ballet speaks an international language and so does sports. One of the great successes of the first month-long experiment with Eurovision was Le Mans, one of the world's greatest auto races, and the world's championship soccer matches in Switzerland (though some people complained there was too much soccer.)

Television in the eight countries is at wildly different stages of evolution. The British have had it, at least in experimental stages, since 1936. The Swiss have barely got television off the ground. The Danes have been at it only a few months. Naturally, the more experienced nations are better at it than the novices and this eventually will have a healthy effect on all European television. If, for instance, the British come up with a stunningly effective variety show, the French are going to start asking: "Why can't we do it, too?" And so are the Swiss and the Italians and the Germans. Competition has been notoriously absent from European radio and from European television, where monopoly rules. Competition, it is felt, cannot fail to lift standards everywhere.

The very fact that Eurovision once existed is a powerful stimulus of its own. Just the other day "Le Figaro" in Paris grumbled editorially about a state visit made by French President Rene Coty to Holland. The visit was well covered by French radio but where, asked "Figaro," was television? The first stage of Eurovision, the paper said, was a complete success but it must not stop there. The public—what little TV public there is—has found something it likes and it wants more. The commercial interests, too, have found Eurovision a lovely thing. During its month-long trial run the French press was larded with advertisements for TV sets to an unprecedented degree.

A couple of weeks ago, representatives of the eight countries met near Rapallo in Italy to discuss the first performance and chart the next. Practically everyone agreed that live television had the greatest impact and the greatest future. Europeans can see films

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

DUMMY ALSO SQUEEZES

ORDINARILY a squeeze play is thought of as being executed by a card led from the declarer's hand. But the identical mechanism can operate in some deals with the squeezing lead being from the dummy. Usually then it is the player at the right of the declarer who is caught in the toils of an impossible discarding problem, so that anything he does will build the decisive trick for the declarer.

	♠ A K 9 4 3 2 ♥ 10 4 ♦ 10 8 6 4 ♣ 7
♠ 10 ♥ A 3 2 ♦ J 7 ♣ A Q J 9 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ None ♥ J 9 7 5 ♦ Q 9 3 2 ♣ K 10 8 6 5
	♠ Q J 8 7 6 5 ♥ K Q 8 6 ♦ A K 5 ♣ None

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♠	4 ♣
4 NT	5 ♣	5 ♦	Pass

The only valid excuse for such bidding was what impelled South. It was the last rubber of the evening and he wanted to close it out with glory. He did just that.

Upon seeing he could ruff the club A lead, the keen declarer noted that his fate depended on limiting himself to one loser in hearts and none in diamonds—quite a long shot. But that only spurred him to his best. Following the club ruff, he scored the spade Q, J and A, then led the heart 10, which brought the J, K and A. The diamond J came back to the K and he led the spade 7 to the K so he could finesse the heart 8 against the 9.

That finesse was based on a reading stemming from East's discards of four clubs, including the K, to mark West with seven clubs, one spade, at least three hearts to the A-3-2 and probably a low diamond or two. East could well hold the heart 9; if not, the contract probably was doomed.

After the finesse, the heart Q was scored and the spade 8 led to the 9. The spade 4 then squeezed East. Dummy then also held the diamond 10-8 and South the heart 6 and diamond A-5. East couldn't discard the heart 9 without establishing the marked 6, so he threw off the diamond 9. The diamond 8 to the A then killed the Q, making the 5 to the 10 the final trick winner.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q 7 ♥ A 9 7 5 2 ♦ K ♣ A K J 6 5
♠ 4 3 ♥ Q J 8 4 ♦ 10 8 7 ♣ 10 8 7 3	N W E S	♠ 10 9 8 6 ♥ K 6 3 ♦ A Q 9 3 ♣ Q 4
	♠ A K J 5 2 ♥ 10 ♦ J 6 5 4 2 ♣ 9 2

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

What influence can the opening lead have on the way South plays for 4-Spades on this tournament deal?

Keyser Kiwanis Will Observe 4th Birthday

Program Planned For September 28

KEYSER — Plans are being made for observance of the fourth anniversary of the Keyser Kiwanis Club on September 28.

Harrison Fuller, past president of the club, was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements at a session held Wednesday evening, following dinner at the Rosemont Restaurant on Armstrong Street. A. K. VanScoy, president, named W. E. Michael, Olin Hawk, John Catlett and James T. Handlan, Jr., on the committee to work with Fuller in selecting a place for the anniversary meeting and other activities.

The speaker for the occasion will be Edward Batten, Welch, West Virginia Kiwanis District governor, who has sent word that he will be present. Kiwanis Ladies will have a part in this special meeting.

Plans are also being made for the observance of charter night to be held on the first Wednesday in November.

Donald Hehr, a member of the club, gave a short and interesting talk on his views of activities in the U. S Senate and House, on a recent visit to the Capitol. He said, that so far as he could see, it was a blank, as there were only a few members of either house in session, and it lacked the lustre that he had expected. He said he realized that there were committee sessions, with members of both houses doing work in committee rooms.

Mineral Co. Tuberculosis Association To Be Revived

KEYSER—Mineral County citizens received letters from H. I. Idleman, president of the Mineral County Tuberculosis Association, asking them to attend a meeting of the association to be held Friday, September 3, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of reorganization.

Idleman said that reorganization is necessary as interest has not been shown to any great extent in the past several years, and that even the board that had previously been elected has not held meetings.

Idleman has served as executive since 1941, but in the last few years it has been impossible to get the board to function, and he believes that a new group may be able to take action that will enable the county to have a representative body that will work.

The president named all to whom he has appealed to attend a meeting for reorganization of the association in this county, where it is needed. Those he named are: Mrs. Lucy Ebert, Burlington; Laurin Swisher, New Creek; Mrs. Mary Willis, Piedmont; Mrs. Jacob Stoutamyer, Mrs. Nan Hott, Ross W. Prysock, Mrs. Henrietta Allen, John Barger and Mrs. Bertha Smith, all of Keyser; Raymond Hudson, Piedmont, Jesse Simmons, Ridgeley, Hubert Norman, Elk Garden, and Guy Adams and William Marker, both of Fort Ashby.

The meeting will be held in the office of the County School Board in the County Court House.

Town House Bid Of $87 Accepted By Westernport

City Will Defer Police Car Purchase

WESTERNPORT—The $87 bid of Cecil Crowe, Kolberg's Hill, for the purchase of the Town House owned by the City on Front Street was accepted Wednesday evening at a special meeting of Mayor Okey E. Michael and City Commissioners.

Other bids received were from Garland Grove $50, and James W. Darr $36.75.

The city will construct a two-story building after the Town House is razed to be used as a garage and the storing of town equipment and supplies. The work on the project is expected to get underway in the early fall.

The purchase of a siren with a light on either end was authorized for the Potomac Fire Company. The suggestion to the city council was made by William Mayles, chief of the company.

It was decided to delay purchase of the new police car until 1955 models come out. Frostburg Auto Company informed the council by letter it was unable to furnish the town with 1954 model police car but if the city waits until the new models that the company would perform any labor free of charge keeping the town's present car in running condition.

The letter also stated production of 1954 models discontinued two weeks ago and they will go into production in November.

The city clerk was instructed to advise the auto company that the town will accept the offer.

Commissioner Carl McMillen was authorized to purchase a blackboard to be placed in the office of the City building. The four by six feet blackboard is to be purchased from Marcus and Company at $27.50, FOB Chicago.

The recommendation of Mayor Michael that an American flag be purchased to be placed on top of the city building was approved.

The purchase of four fire hydrants were authorized. Three of them that a pumper can be attached and the other one without that attachment.

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband, father, son and brother, Andrew Joseph Bugosh. Especially do we thank the Rev. Francis Montgomery, St. Michael's Church, Frostburg, who conducted the funeral, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, the pallbearers and all others who in any manner rendered assistance.

Radio And Television

PARIS.

When Eurovision linked eight different nations speaking a total of six different languages, problems, naturally, sprouted like weeds. But, at the same time, the very differences among these nations excite interest in a television show. We in America can jump 3,000 miles and nothing changes very much, Red Skelton looking pretty much the same whether he emanates from New York or Hollywood.

Here, a jump of a couple of hundred miles means a drastic change in the scenery, in the people and in the way they do things, and Eurovision plans to exploit these differences. The French have decided that there is very little point in broadcasting to seven different countries something that is not unique to the originating country. The flower show from Switzerland was rather a failure because it didn't look much different from a flower show in France or Great Britain or Pasadena.

On the other hand, Beethoven's Fifth as played by an Italian symphony is quite different from the Fifth played by a London symphony, and the very differences to music lovers are a bridge to understanding between the two nations. Language, which is not so much a problem here as it would be in the states, is still a formidable barrier. Plays, the French believe, cannot be offered to people speaking six different tongues, but opera probably can. Ballet speaks an international language and so does sports. One of the great successes of the first month-long experiment with Eurovision was Le Mans, one of the world's greatest auto races, and the world's championship soccer matches in Switzerland (though some people complained there was too much soccer.)

Television in the eight countries is at wildly different stages of evolution. The British have had it, at least in experimental stages, since 1936. The Swiss have barely got television off the ground. The Danes have been at it only a few months. Naturally, the more experienced nations are better at it than the novices and this eventually will have a healthy effect on all European television. If, for instance, the British come up with a stunningly effective variety show, the French are going to start asking: "Why can't we do it, too?" And so are the Swiss and the Italians and the Germans. Competition has been notoriously absent from European radio and from European television, where monopoly rules. Competition, it is felt, cannot fail to lift standards everywhere.

The very fact that Eurovision once existed is a powerful stimulus of its own. Just the other day "Le Figaro" in Paris grumbled editorially about a state visit made by French President Rene Coty to Holland. The visit was well covered by French radio but where, asked "Figaro," was television? The first stage of Eurovision, the paper said, was a complete success but it must not stop there. The public—what little TV public there is—has found something it likes and it wants more. The commercial interests, too, have found Eurovision a lovely thing. During its month-long trial run the French press was larded with advertisements for TV sets to an unprecedented degree.

A couple of weeks ago, representatives of the eight countries met near Rapallo in Italy to discuss the first performance and chart the next. Practically everyone agreed that live television had the greatest impact and the greatest future. Europeans can see films

by Shepard Barclay

DUMMY ALSO SQUEEZES

ORDINARILY a squeeze play is thought of as being executed by a card led from the declarer's hand. But the identical mechanism can operate in some deals with the squeezing lead being from the dummy. Usually then it is the player at the right of the declarer who is caught in the toils of an impossible discarding problem, so that anything he does will build the decisive trick for the declarer.

	♠ A K 9 4 3 2 ♥ 10 4 ♦ 10 8 6 4 ♣ 7
♠ 10 ♥ A 3 2 ♦ J 7 ♣ A Q J 9 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ None ♥ J 9 7 5 ♦ Q 9 3 2 ♣ K 10 8 6 5
	♠ Q J 8 7 6 5 ♥ K Q 8 6 ♦ A K 5 ♣ None

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♠	4 ♣

The only valid excuse for such bidding was what impelled South. It was the last rubber of the evening and he wanted to close it out with glory. He did just that.

Upon seeing he could ruff the club A lead, the keen declarer noted that his fate depended on limiting himself to one loser in hearts and none in diamonds—quite a long shot. But that only spurred him to his best. Following the club ruff, he scored the spade Q, J and A, then led the heart 10, which brought the J, K and A. The diamond J came back to the K and he led the spade 7 to the K so he could finesse the heart 8 against the 9.

That finesse was based on a reading stemming from East's discards of four clubs, including the K, to mark West with seven clubs, one spade, at least three hearts to the A-3-2 and probably a low diamond or two. East could well hold the heart 9; if not, the contract probably was doomed.

After the finesse, the heart Q was scored and the spade 8 led to the 9. The spade 4 then squeezed East. Dummy then also held the diamond 10-8 and South the heart 6 and diamond A-5. East couldn't discard the heart 9 without establishing the marked 6, so he threw off the diamond 9. The diamond 8 to the A then killed the Q, making the 5 to the 10 the final trick winner.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q 7 ♥ A 9 7 5 2 ♦ K ♣ A K J 6 5
♠ 4 3 ♥ Q J 8 4 ♦ 10 8 7 ♣ 10 8 7 3	N W E S	♠ 10 9 8 6 ♥ K 6 3 ♦ A Q 9 3 ♣ Q 4
	♠ A K J 5 2 ♥ 10 ♦ J 6 5 4 2 ♣ 9 2

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

What influence can the opening lead have on the way South plays for 4-Spades on this tournament deal?

Radio And Television

any time—but a soccer match in progress or the Pope talking to them., live, in five different languages—that was the thing.

In London recently thirteen nations, including Russia, met to discuss a proposed European television network. This conference was sponsored by UNESCO, which has been betting all along that television is a far greater force for harmony than for disharmony among nations.

The next stab at Eurovision will be sometime in the fall, possibly not before December. The Russians indicated at London they wouldn't be ready to get in before 1955. The Russians are understandably concerned because Eurovision has already—in a very small way—pierced the Iron Curtain. East Berliners can see it from transmitters in West Berlin.

It all started back in 1952 when the British and French exchanged programs for one week. In 1953 came the Coronation, certainly the biggest single international event television ever had (and one which the Frenchmen watched with almost as much curiosity, though not so great reverence, as the British.) In 1954: Eurovision. Looming in the future is intercontinental television when the Pope might speak from the Vatican clear to San Francisco.

When that time comes, His Holiness could easily repeat the words he said on Eurovision's first broadcast: "Television is a wonderful medium for humanity. This is a terribly important moment for peace."

Bill Would Admit Italian Actress As U.S. Resident

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Italian movie actress and singer, Anna Maria Alberghetti, 18, would be admitted as a resident under a bill passed by the Senate and sent to the House yesterday.

Four other members of her family, including her mother accompanist, also would be given permanent residential status under the bill.

Miss Alberghetti's temporary permit to stay in this country was scheduled to expire Aug. 18 but introduction of the bill by Sen. McCarran of Nevada, ranking Democrat on the Senate Judiciary Committee, stayed any deportation action.

If she returned to Europe, a Judiciary Committee report said, Miss Alberghetti's earning capacity would be so limited that it would be difficult for her to properly contribute to her parents.

Miss Alberghetti is under contract in Hollywood to Paramount Pictures Corp. Between the period July 23, 1952 and July 7, 1953 she received a salary of $50,000 a year.

Her father, Daniel, 51, received 30 per cent of her earnings from Paramount in payment for his services as her vocal teacher and coach, the committee report said.

Other members of the family who would be admitted are her mother, Vittoria Ricci, 42, her accompanist, and her sister, Carla, 14, and Brother, Paolo, 10. The family lives in Los Angeles.

Congregationalists To Hold Service

FROSTBURG—The Sunday night preaching services which are being held at the Braddock Park, under the sponsorship of the Frostburg Ministerial Association, will continue this Sunday with the service at First Congregational Church.

W. Virginia To Open Section Of Toll Road

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 12 (AP)—The State Turnpike Commission decided at today's special meeting to open the first section of the toll road, between Beckley and Princeton, Sept. 2, a distance of 35 miles.

General Manager Okey L. Patteson said dedication ceremonies are planned for both Beckley and Princeton. The rest of the 88-mile highway should be open within 60 days after that date.

Marcantonio Buried In Religious Exile

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Vito Marcantonio went to a lonely grave in religious exile today, but not until thousands in East Harlem had bade an impressive farewell to their former congressman.

In death as in life, the Communist party took special note of the talented little politician. His funeral was a page one story in this morning's Daily Worker—although Marcantonio insisted he never was a Red.

More than 5,000 persons massed outside a funeral chapel that already held twice its normal capacity of 200. Many wept and one unidentified Negro woman threw herself to the ground, shrieking in grieving frenzy, as Marcantonio's hearse rolled by.

Born and baptized a Roman Catholic, Marcantonio was refused a church burial. The New York archdiocese said he long ago abandoned his church and its sacraments.

So his family buried him from a nonsectarian funeral chapel, with a Methodist minister the only man of the cloth to eulogize him.

Touhy Insists He Was Framed

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP)—Roger (The Terrible) Touhy, shocked by out-again-in-again turns in the tides of his life, went back to prison today.

The 56-year-old prohibition era gangster was returned to the Stateville Penitentiary he left Monday.

He was back for an indefinite stay.

He is serving 99 years for the 1933 abduction of John (Jake The Barber) Factor and 199 years for his part in a 1942 prison break.

Judge John P. Barnes ordered him released Monday on grounds that the kidnaping was a hoax and that the law in the other case is unconstitutional. But the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered Touhy back to prison while an appeal by the state goes through the legal mill.

"Well, you're back," Warden Joseph E. Ragen said as he greeted Touhy at the main gate.

"How are you, warden?" Touhy replied.

Touhy told newsmen:

"I was surprised and shocked when my attorney told me I would have to return. I don't know how long I'll be here but I do know that Judge Barnes is a strict judge and I believe his opinion counts a lot."

He repeated his contention that he was "framed" in the kidnaping case. He said he had no desire for revenge.

Frederick Street Project To Begin By August 26

Contractor Receives Notification From SRC

The State Roads Commission yesterday notified the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, to begin construction on the half-million-dollar Frederick Street improvement project by August 26, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC here.

The notification, post-dated August 16, allows the company 10 calendar days from that date in which to begin operations on the project.

The project, which will cost $517,119, is being financed jointly by the City of Cumberland, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and the SRC. The Mayor and Council on Monday approved payment of $250,000 to the SRC as its share of the construction cost within the city limits.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Potomac Edison Company have been contacted and will begin shortly to remove utilities in the area where the construction will take place. Some poles will have to be moved only several feet while others will be relocated on the opposite side of the street.

Chaires said that work during the first stages of the project will include clearing and "grubbing" of the construction area, and also the removal of trees which are in the way.

Also included in this work will be the installation of a storm sewer, beginning at Linden Street and continuing to the end of the construction area.

It is also expected that some grading will be done by the contractors during 1954.

Chaires stated that no other work on this project has been planned for 1954 because of the late start in getting under way on the project.

Tucker County Reports Three Cases Of Polio

Three mild cases of polio have been reported at Parsons, W. Va., in Tucker County.

The first case of the disease, which occurred this summer in that area, sent a Greenbrier County youth, 16-year-old Cleo Walkup Jr., of Rainelle, W. Va., to Davis Memorial Hospital in Elkins.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Walkup Sr., and had been visiting with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hovatter, of Parsons and his grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Kalar of Hambleton, when he was stricken on Tuesday evening.

The boy was taken to the office of Dr. S. M. Lilenfeld, of Parsons, who diagnosed the ailment as polio. Attaches at the hospital confirmed the ailment as polio.

He is reported in "good" condition. Yesterday about 3:30 p. m. two other teen-age boys, who reside in Parsons, were taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Clarksburg, with mild cases of polio.

Donald Lambert, 14, son of Donald Lambert and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lambert of Parsons, was stricken as well as Keith Wilfong, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blennace Wilfong.

The two boys do not live near one another and no connection between the cases was seen by authorities.

Last summer three persons were stricken with polio in Tucker County and all have recovered from the disease.

Army Reserve Training Set

Six of the units are from Baltimore, one from Frederick, and the local group. They will engage primarily in on-the-job training in their military specialties, become familiar with the latest military techniques an developments, and will participate in field problems and exercises.

Commanding officer of the local unit will be Lt. Col. Aden T. Miller of Lonaconing.

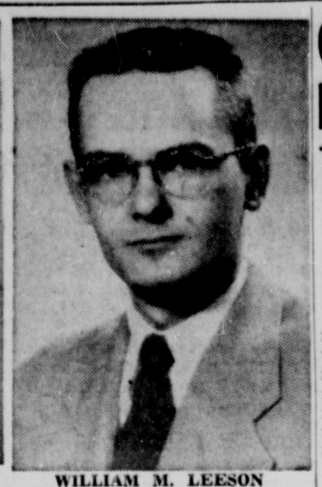
JOHN R. McVICKER



WILLIAM M. LEESON

McVicker Named Assistant Principal At Fort Hill High

John R. McVicker, 417 Louisiana Avenue, general science and physics teacher at Fort Hill High School for the past five years, will move up to the position as assistant principal of the school when classes resume next month, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Filling McVicker's teaching position will be William Morgan Leeson of Morgantown, W.Va.

The assistant principalship was left vacant when M. Scott Moorhead obtained a leave of absence for one year to work toward his doctorate at the University of Pittsburgh.

A high school graduate in Hickory, Pa., McVicker obtained his bachelor of science degree at Wooster College in Ohio. Later he received his master of education degree from the University of Pittsburgh and also has done graduate work at Carnegie Tech.

Before coming to Fort Hill in the fall of 1949, McVicker taught in Venice, Pa.; California, Pa., and Brownsville, Pa. A tenor, McVicker is the director of the First Presbyterian Church choir. Married, he is the father of one son, John Jr., a former star athlete at Fort Hill, who is now a student at the University of Maryland.

A native of Fairmont, W.Va., where he was graduated from East Fairmont High School, Leeson obtained his bachelor of arts and master of science degrees at West Virginia University, where he majored in botany.

He also has done graduate work at both West Virginia and Iowa State University and has taught the past two years at West Virginia (botany and general science). He is married and the father of one child. The Leesons expect to move to Cumberland later this month.

City Tax Office Makes Plans For 1954 Statements

Bills To Be Mailed Late In September

The City Tax Office is working full speed on preliminary steps which will lead, late next month, to the issuance of some 14,000 tax statements, according to Finance Commissioner John J. Long.

He said the staff of George E. Davis, city collector, is ahead of schedule on the work, which includes checking the transcripts of property transfers, changing addresses and the preparation of tax ledgers.

Officials suggested that the tax office be notified of any late property transfers so bills may be properly addressed.

Within another week, the Finance Department will be ready to swing into action as soon as the Mayor and Council sets the tax rate.

Budget talks are to begin next week and the levy must be set by August 25.

The debt service part of the tax levy will be 33 cents, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson reported last week.

The 1953 tax rate, $1.36, included $1.0398 for operating expenses and $.3202 for debt service.

Once the tax rate is set, finance and tax office workers will complete work on the statements, which Commissioner Long said will be mailed between September 25 and 30.

Most of the 14,000 bills which will be issued next month will be to individuals, since corporation tax bills will be sent out throughout the year as assessments are certified by the State Tax Commissioner.

Today Is 13th; Beware Of Black Cats, Ladders

This happens to be Friday the 13th, so make sure you watch your step, especially if a ladder or a black cat happens to be in your path.

But if you're really superstitious you can toss a little salt over your shoulder if such bad omens cross your path.

Anyway, today is the only time that there will be a Friday the 13th this year.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Phyllis Leftwich, a tall, blue eyed brunette from Dundalk, was crowned "Miss Maryland of 1954" tonight, winning over eight other contestants in the annual beauty and talent competition.

Firemen Map Plans For Aug. Events

A calendar of events, sponsored by volunteer firemen of Allegany and Garrett counties, has been released by David E. Kirk, president of the two-county association.

Volunteers of Deer Park are currently holding their annual carnival which comes to a close tomorrow night. The parade was held in that community last night.

Barton Hose Company No. 1 has completed plans for a stag picnic on Sunday. Volunteers at Merrill Bridge, in Garrett County, will also hold a stag picnic that day. The public is invited to both events, Kirk pointed out.

From August 16 to 21 volunteers at Bowling Green will sponsor a carnival in that community with the big parade scheduled for the 20th.

During Fair Week at Fairgo, the volunteers of both counties will have a booth on the grounds with Firemen's Night slated August 24. The Cumberland Fair will be held August 23 through August 28.

Cresaptown firemen will hold their annual carnival August 23 through August 28 with a parade slated on the 27th.

The Frostburg Fire Department and the Arion Band will be co-sponsors of a crab feast in Frostburg August 29 at YMI Park.

From August 30 to September 4 a carnival will be held by McCoole volunteers with the firemen's parade on September 3.

A kiddie parade will be one of the features of the annual carnival at Barton which will be held September 7 to September 11. The children of that community will be in the line of march on opening night.

The following night the firemen's parade will be held and a free dance is also scheduled on firemen's night. The association will meet at Gorman on September 12 at 2 p. m. (EDT).

On September 10, parade night will be held by the Shaft Fire Company.

Distributor Not An Employer, Attorney Argues

Employment Board Appeals Heard Here

Is B. H. Wolford, trading as Niagara of Cumberland, 18 North Liberty Street, the employer of eight men who sell massage equipment for which he is the local distributor?

Associate Judge George Henderson heard several hours of argument on that question yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The case was Wolford's appeal from a State Employment Security Board ruling which said that he was the employer and consequently came within the requirements of the State Unemployment Compensation Act.

Direct Sale

Attorney William H. Geppert, representing Wolford, argued that his client was not the employer of the eight men. He explained that Wolford buys the equipment directly from the factory in Buffalo, N.Y. The salesmen or dealers in turn pay Wolford a slightly higher price for the equipment which they obtain for resale. If the products are not sold they may be returned to Wolford, who reimburses the dealer.

Geppert contended that the men are not under contract of hire to Wolford. They may use his storeroom for demonstrations of the larger equipment but do not make sales there, he added. The attorney said the salesmen are much like Fuller Brush men and he cited a Utah case concerning Fuller Brush salesmen who were ruled not to be employes of the distributor.

Part Time Job

The dealers sell the Niagara products only on a part time job as they have other regular jobs. The irony of the case, for that reason, Geppert asserted, is that the men could not claim unemployment compensation if Wolford did fire them, because of their other jobs.

James N. Phillips, attorney for the State Department of Employment Security, contended in his argument that Judge Henderson should uphold his department. A ruling in favor of Wolford also would serve to benefit such other workers as taxi drivers, ice cream driver-salesmen and barbers who lease their chairs.

Judge Henderson said he would decide the case after studying authorities cited by the two attorneys.

Arguments also were heard yesterday on two other appeals from the Department of Employment Security. The first concerned Betty J. Lafferty of Maryland Avenue who formerly had worked for the Continental Can Company in Baltimore.

Attorney Earl E. Manges argued that Miss Lafferty's case should be remanded to the Employment Security Board for another hearing. He based his argument on the fact that the board had decided that she had left employment voluntarily after the company submitted an affidavit in the case following the public hearing. Judge Henderson gave Manges the opportunity to submit an affidavit for remand.

Judge Henderson also heard the appeal of Eugene T. Gurtler, Shawnee Avenue, who had worked for the Continental Diamond Fibre Company, Newark, Del., for about a month after he had been furloughed at Celanese. The company said that he returned to Cumberland because he expected to be recalled by Celanese and consequently was not entitled to unemployment compensation. Gurtler's attorney yesterday was William L. Wilson. That case also was taken under advisement.

Justice Warren Will Unveil Taney Marker

Chief Justice of the United States Earl Warren will unveil a monument at St. John's Cemetery in Frederick October 24 to Roger Brooke Taney, chief justice during the Civil War.

Arthur F. Young, faithful admiral of the General Assembly of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Cumberland, the sponsoring organization, said the chief justice had agreed to attend.

The plans were announced following a meeting of representatives of Cumberland and Frederick Knights of Columbus with Mayor John Derr of Frederick.

Both Taney and his mother are buried in the cemetery. Taney practiced law in Frederick.

He was Chief Justice when the U.S. Supreme Court handed down the famed Dred Scott decision.

The lettering on the weathered stone at his grave is no longer legible, Young said. The stone will be replaced by the monument.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Pratt, 511 Greenway Avenue, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Llewellyn, RD 3, Bedford, Pa., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl K. Hess, Keyser, a son Wednesday.

Sacred Heart Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morgan, Barton, a daughter yesterday.

CD Officials, Area Volunteer Firemen Map Plans For Radio Network In County

Allegany County Civil Defense officials and volunteer fire companies' representatives are one step closer to the establishment of a CD radio network to be used in the event of enemy air raids.

David E. Kirk, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association, said representatives from Cumberland and 12 volunteer fire companies were present at a meeting Wednesday night presided over by William G. Barger, County CD director.

Plans are under way for the placement of base stations in Cumberland and Frostburg, and also two transmitters, one on Haystack Mountain and the other in the vicinity of Frostburg and Lonaconing.

Ray Sine, communication director for the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company, said he would offer his services to the volunteer companies for the first year after the sets are installed in the trucks.

The individual companies will pay between $210 and $250 for each set they order. The cost of the equipment will be shared by the federal government, state, county, and fire companies.

Chief Virgil A. Parker of the Cumberland Fire Department was present and requested five sets for the city fire companies, including one for the aerial ladder truck.

Requesting two sets each were Midland, Corriganville, Frostburg, Barton, Cresaptown, Flintstone, Bedford Road, District 16 and LaVale. Baltimore Pike requested one set. Bowling Green and Bowman's Addition, represented at the meeting, did not put in requests, although they expressed interest in the program.

Other interested companies are Luke, Westernport, Clarysville and Shaft. Barger gave the companies contracts which will be studied and returned to him at RD 1, Cumberland, by September 1, when the equipment will be ordered.

A low bid of $8,401.60 was submitted recently by General Electric Company for the supplying of 20 mobile transmitter-receiver sets.

Motorola submitted a low bid of $1,925 for two fixed-station transmitters. However, the contracts have not been awarded yet.

CD committee members from the firemen's association present included Cromwell Zewbower, LaVale, chairman; Edward Borgman, Cresaptown and Harry DeHaven, Baltimore Pike.

The equipment, according to Barger, may be used to combat emergencies caused by an attack, for the training of personnel, to combat multiple-alarm fires or to prevent the destruction of important military or defense properties.

Wilbert Paul's Cow Wins Butterfat Title Again

Lady, a grade Holstein owned by Wilbert Paul of Mt. Savage has won the butterfat production honors of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the second successive month with 86 pounds of butterfat in 1,830 pounds of July milk.

Her butterfat figured to 4.7 per cent of the total milk production.

Seven different dairy farmers had cows on the honor roll of top butterfat producers which included 11 cows because of a two-way tie for tenth place.

In second place in July was Runt, a grade Jersey belonging to R. E. Carskadon of Burlington, W.Va., with 81 pounds of butterfat in 1,390 pounds of milk, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors. Other Carskadon cow ranked sixth.

Third in July butterfat production was Carl Howsare's Susie, a grade Holstein from Bedford Valley, Pa., with 77 pounds of butterfat in 1,740 pounds of milk.

Other farmers with cows on the select list included Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W.Va., two grade Guernseys; C. O. and Elizabeth Miller, Midland, one registered Holstein; E. R. Street and R. A. Oster, Bedford Valley, Pa., three grade Holsteins, and Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa., one grade Holstein.

The average for the 849 cows in 27 herds on test during July was 580 pounds of milk, 23.4 pounds of butterfat and 4.02 per cent butterfat.

Both the milk and butterfat averages last month were the lowest in the association so far this year. However, they were higher than the averages for July, 1953, which were 542 pounds of milk and 22 pounds of butterfat.

Radio And Television

any time—but a soccer match in progress or the Pope talking to them,, live, in five different languages—that was the thing.

In London recently thirteen nations, including Russia, met to discuss a proposed European television network. This conference was sponsored by UNESCO, which has been betting all along that television is a far greater force for harmony than for disharmony among nations.

The next stab at Eurovision will be sometime in the fall, possibly not before December. The Russians indicated at London they wouldn't be ready to get in before 1955. The Russians are understandably concerned because Eurovision has already—in a very small way—pierced the Iron Curtain. East Berliners can see it from transmitters in West Berlin.

It all started back in 1952 when the British and French exchanged programs for one week. In 1953 came the Coronation, certainly the biggest single international event television ever had (and one which the Frenchmen watched with almost as much curiosity, though not so great reverence, as the British.) In 1954: Eurovision. Looming in the future is intercontinental television when the Pope might speak from the Vatican clear to San Francisco.

When that time comes, His Holiness could easily repeat the words he said on Eurovision's first broadcast: "Television is a wonderful medium for humanity. This is a terribly important moment for peace."

Bill Would Admit Italian Actress As U.S. Resident

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Italian movie actress and singer, Anna Maria Alberghetti, 18, would be admitted as a resident under a bill passed by the Senate and sent to the House yesterday.

Four other members of her family, including her mother accompanist, also would be given permanent residential status under the bill.

Miss Alberghetti's temporary permit to stay in this country was scheduled to expire Aug. 18 but introduction of the bill by Sen. McCarran of Nevada, ranking Democrat on the Senate Judiciary Committee, stayed any deportation action.

If she returned to Europe, a Judiciary Committee report said, Miss Alberghetti's earning capacity would be so limited that it would be difficult for her to properly contribute to her parents.

Miss Alberghetti is under contract in Hollywood to Paramount Pictures Corp. Between the period July 23, 1952 and July 7, 1953 she received a salary of $50,000 a year.

Her father, Daniel, 51, received 30 per cent of her earnings from Paramount in payment for his services as her vocal teacher and coach, the committee report said.

Other members of the family who would be admitted are her mother, Vittoria Ricci, 42, her accompanist, and her sister, Carla, 14, and Brother, Paolo, 10. The family lives in Los Angeles.

W. Virginia To Open Section Of Toll Road

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 12 (AP)—The State Turnpike Commission decided at today's special meeting to open the first section of the toll road, between Beckley and Princeton, Sept. 2, a distance of 35 miles.

General Manager Okey L. Patteson said dedication ceremonies are planned for both Beckley and Princeton. The rest of the 88-mile highway should be open within 60 days after that date.

Marcantonio Buried In Religious Exile

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Vito Marcantonio went to a lonely grave in religious exile today, but not until thousands in East Harlem had bade an impressive farewell to their former congressman.

In death as in life, the Communist party took special note of the talented little politician. His funeral was a page one story in this morning's Daily Worker—although Marcantonio insisted he never was a Red.

More than 5,000 persons massed outside a funeral chapel that already held twice its normal capacity of 200. Many wept and one unidentified Negro woman threw herself to the ground, shrieking in grieving frenzy, as Marcantonio's hearse rolled by.

Born and baptized a Roman Catholic, Marcantonio was refused a church burial. The New York archdiocese said he long ago abandoned his church and its sacraments.

So his family buried him from a nonsectarian funeral chapel, with a Methodist minister the only man of the cloth to eulogize him.

Market Losses Moderate Despite Some Rough Going

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — The stock market encountered some rough going today but emerged with only moderate losses on reduced volume.

Most of the time prices moved irregularly, and for long stretches it was touch and go whether the market would head higher or lower. It was only in the final stages of trading that prices started to turn down all around.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 50 cents at $133.10 with the industrial component off 40 cents, railroads down 80 cents, and utilities lower by 10 cents.

Volume came to only 2,680,000 shares. That compares with 3,440,000 shares traded yesterday when the market was strong.

Follansbee Steel, which accepted an offer to sell its assets for nine million dollars, was a feature of trading. The stock closed yesterday at 22⅜, hit a high today of 23, a low of 20, and closed at 20¾, off 1⅝.

Among stocks declining were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Grumman Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp., American Telephone, Western Union, Allied Chemical, International Paper, Corn Exchange Bank, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Eastern Air Lines, and Johns-Manville.

Touhy Insists He Was Framed

JOLIET, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP)—Roger (The Terrible) Touhy, shocked by out-again-in-again turns in the tides of his life, went back to prison today.

The 56-year-old prohibition era gangster was returned to the Stateville Penitentiary he left Monday.

He was back for an indefinite stay.

He is serving 99 years for the 1933 abduction of John (Jake The Barber) Factor and 199 years for his part in a 1942 prison break.

Judge John P. Barnes ordered him released Monday on grounds that the kidnaping was a hoax and that the law in the other case is unconstitutional. But the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered Touhy back to prison while an appeal by the state goes through the legal mill.

"Well, you're back," Warden Joseph E. Ragen said as he greeted Touhy at the main gate.

"How are you, warden?" Touhy replied.

Touhy told newsmen:

"I was surprised and shocked when my attorney told me I would have to return. I don't know how long I'll be here but I do know that Judge Barnes is a strict judge and I believe his opinion counts a lot."

He repeated his contention that he was "framed" in the kidnaping case. He said he had no desire for revenge.

Frederick Street Project To Begin By August 26

Contractor Receives Notification From SRC

The State Roads Commission yesterday notified the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, to begin construction on the half-million-dollar Frederick Street improvement project by August 26, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC here.

The notification, post-dated August 16, allows the company 10 calendar days from that date in which to begin operations on the project.

The project, which will cost $517,119, is being financed jointly by the City of Cumberland, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, and the SRC. The Mayor and Council on Monday approved payment of $250,000 to the SRC as its share of the construction cost within the city limits.

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company and the Potomac Edison Company have been contacted and will begin shortly to remove utilities in the area where the construction will take place. Some poles will have to be moved only several feet while others will be relocated on the opposite side of the street.

Chaires said that work during the first stages of the project will include clearing and "grubbing" of the construction area, and also the removal of trees which are in the way.

Also included in this work will be the installation of a storm sewer, beginning at Linden Street and continuing to the end of the construction area.

It is also expected that some grading will be done by the contractors during 1954.

Chaires stated that no other work on this project has been planned for 1954 because of the late start in getting under way on the project.

Tucker County Reports Three Cases Of Polio

Three mild cases of polio have been reported at Parsons, W. Va., in Tucker County.

The first case of the disease, which occurred this summer in that area, sent a Greenbrier County youth, 16-year-old Cleo Walkup Jr., of Rainelle, W. Va., to Davis Memorial Hospital in Elkins.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Walkup Sr., and had been visiting with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hovatter, of Parsons and his grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Kalar of Hambleton, when he was stricken on Tuesday evening.

The boy was taken to the office of Dr. S. M. Lilenfeld, of Parsons, who diagnosed the ailment as polio. Attaches at the hospital confirmed the ailment as polio.

He is reported in "good" condition. Yesterday about 3:30 p. m. two other teen-age boys, who reside in Parsons, were taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Clarksburg, with mild cases of polio.

Donald Lambert, 14, son of Donald Lambert and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lambert of Parsons, was stricken as well as Keith Wilfong, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blennace Wilfong.

The two boys do not live near one another and no connection between the cases was seen by authorities.

Last summer three persons were stricken with polio in Tucker County and all have recovered from the disease.

City Tax Office Makes Plans For 1954 Statements

Bills To Be Mailed Late In September

The City Tax Office is working full speed on preliminary steps which will lead, late next month, to the issuance of some 14,000 tax statements, according to Finance Commissioner John J. Long.

He said the staff of George E. Davis, city collector, is ahead of schedule on the work, which includes checking the transcripts of property transfers, changing addresses and the preparation of tax ledgers.

Officials suggested that the tax office be notified of any late property transfers so bills may be properly addressed.

Within another week, the Finance Department will be ready to swing into action as soon as the Mayor and Council sets the tax rate.

Budget talks are to begin next week and the levy must be set by August 25.

The debt service part of the tax levy will be 33 cents, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson reported last week.

The 1953 tax rate, $1.36, included $1.0398 for operating expenses and $.3202 for debt service.

Once the tax rate is set, finance and tax office workers will complete work on the statements, which Commissioner Long said will be mailed between September 25 and 30.

Most of the 14,000 bills which will be issued next month will be to individuals, since corporation tax bills will be sent out throughout the year as assessments are certified by the State Tax Commissioner.

Wilbert Paul's Cow Wins Butterfat Title Again

Lady, a grade Holstein owned by Wilbert Paul of Mt. Savage has won the butterfat production honors of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the second successive month with 86 pounds of butterfat in 1,830 pounds of July milk.

Her butterfat figured to 4.7 per cent of the total milk production.

Seven different dairy farmers had cows on the honor roll of top butterfat producers which included 11 cows because of a two-way tie for tenth place .

In second place in July was Runt, a grade Jersey belonging to R. E. Carskadon of Burlington, W.Va., with 81 pounds of butterfat in 1,390 pounds of milk, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors. Other Carskadon cow ranked sixth.

Third in July butterfat production was Carl Howsare's Susie, a grade Holstein from Bedford Valley, Pa., with 77 pounds of butterfat in 1,740 pounds of milk.

Other farmers with cows on the select list included Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W.Va., two grade Guernseys; C. O. and Elizabeth Miller, Midland, one registered Holstein; E. R. Street and R. A. Oster, Bedford Valley, Pa., three grade Holsteins, and Lloyd Nave, Bedford Valley, Pa., one grade Holstein.

The average for the 849 cows in 27 herds on test during July was 580 pounds of milk, 23.4 pounds of butterfat and 4.02 per cent butterfat.

Both the milk and butterfat averages last month were the lowest in the association so far this year. However, they were higher than the averages for July, 1953, which were 542 pounds of milk and 22 pounds of butterfat.

CD Officials, Area Volunteer Firemen Map Plans For Radio Network In County

Allegany County Civil Defense officials and volunteer fire companies' representatives are one step closer to the establishment of a CD radio network to be used in the event of enemy air raids.

David E. Kirk, president of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association, said representatives from Cumberland and 12 volunteer fire companies were present at a meeting Wednesday night presided over by William G. Barger, County CD director.

Plans are under way for the placement of base stations in Cumberland and Frostburg, and also two transmitters, one on Haystack Mountain and the other in the vicinity of Frostburg and Lonaconing.

Ray Sine, communication director for the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company, said he would offer his services to the volunteer companies for the first year after the sets are installed in the trucks.

The individual companies will pay between $210 and $250 for each set they order. The cost of the equipment will be shared by the federal government, state, county, and fire companies.

Chief Virgil A. Parker of the Cumberland Fire Department was present and requested five sets for the city fire companies, including one for the aerial ladder truck.

Requesting two sets each were Midland, Corriganville, Frostburg, Barton, Cresaptown, Flintstone, Bedford Road, District 16 and LaVale. Baltimore Pike requested one set. Bowling Green and Bowman's Addition, represented at the meeting, did not put in requests, although they expressed interest in the program.

Other interested companies are Luke, Westernport, Clarysville and Shaft. Barger gave the companies contracts which will be studied and returned to him at RD 1, Cumberland, by September 1, when the equipment will be ordered.

A low bid of $8,401.60 was submitted recently by General Electric Company for the supplying of 20 mobile transmitter-receiver sets.

Motorola submitted a low bid of $1,925 for two fixed-station transmitters. However, the contracts have not been awarded yet.

CD committee members from the firemen's association present included Cromwell Zewbower, LaVale, chairman; Edward Borgman, Cresaptown and Harry DeHaven, Baltimore Pike.

The equipment, according to Barger, may be used to combat emergencies caused by an attack, for the training of personnel, to combat multiple-alarm fires or to prevent the destruction of important military or defense properties.

Distributor Not An Employer, Attorney Argues

Employment Board Appeals Heard Here

Is B. H. Wolford, trading as Niagara of Cumberland, 18 North Liberty Street, the employer of eight men who sell massage equipment for which he is the local distributor?

Associate Judge George Henderson heard several hours of argument on that question yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The case was Wolford's appeal from a State Employment Security Board ruling which said that he was the employer and consequently came within the requirements of the State Unemployment Compensation Act.

Direct Sale

Attorney William H. Geppert, representing Wolford, argued that his client was not the employer of the eight men. He explained that Wolford buys the equipment directly from the factory in Buffalo, N.Y. The salesmen or dealers in turn pay Wolford a slightly higher price for the equipment which they obtain for resale. If the products are not sold they may be returned to Wolford, who reimburses the dealer.

Geppert contended that the men are not under contract of hire to Wolford. They may use his storeroom for demonstrations of the larger equipment but do not make sales there, he added. The attorney said the salesmen are much like Fuller Brush men and he cited a Utah case concerning Fuller Brush salesmen who were ruled not to be employes of the distributor.

Part Time Job

The dealers sell the Niagara products only on a part time job as they have other regular jobs. The irony of the case, for that reason, Geppert asserted, is that the men could not claim unemployment compensation if Wolford did fire them, because of their other jobs.

James N. Phillips, attorney for the State Department of Employment Security, contended in his argument that Judge Henderson should uphold his department. A ruling in favor of Wolford also would serve to benefit such other workers as taxi drivers, ice cream driver-salesmen and barbers who lease their chairs.

Judge Henderson said he would decide the case after studying authorities cited by the two attorneys.

Arguments also were heard yesterday on two other appeals from the Department of Employment Security. The first concerned Betty J. Lafferty of Maryland Avenue who formerly had worked for the Continental Can Company in Baltimore.

Attorney Earl E. Manges argued that Miss Lafferty's case should be remanded to the Employment Security Board for another hearing. He based his argument on the fact that the board had decided that she had left employment voluntarily after the company submitted an affidavit in the case following the public hearing. Judge Henderson gave Manges the opportunity to submit an affidavit for remand.

Judge Henderson also heard the appeal of Eugene T. Gurtler, Shawnee Avenue, who had worked for the Continental Diamond Fibre Company, Newark, Del., for about a month after he had been furloughed at Celanese. The company said that he returned to Cumberland because he expected to be recalled by Celanese and consequently was not entitled to unemployment compensation. Gurtler's attorney yesterday was William L. Wilson. That case also was taken under advisement.

Justice Warren Will Unveil Taney Marker

Chief Justice of the United States Earl Warren will unveil a monument at St. John's Cemetery in Frederick October 24 to Roger Brooke Taney, chief justice during the Civil War.

Arthur F. Young, faithful admiral of the General Assembly of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus of Cumberland, the sponsoring organization, said the chief justice had agreed to attend.

The plans were announced following a meeting of representatives of Cumberland and Frederick Knights of Columbus with Mayor John Derr of Frederick.

Both Taney and his mother are buried in the cemetery. Taney practiced law in Frederick.

He was Chief Justice when the U.S. Supreme Court handed down the famed Dred Scott decision.

The lettering on the weathered stone at his grave is no longer legible, Young said. The stone will be replaced by the monument.
